Zahnbach Farms Prepares For Next Generation

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HOST (Berks Co.) — Robert and Jane Sattazahn have lots of memories of what it is like to be an involved, modern dairy farm family.

A photograph taken in 1973 shows the young couple with their daughter and three sons — an attractive, well-dressed, and groomed family.

The photograph could have been used to illustrate any model family receiving any civic honor. The Sattazahns were the 1973 Berks County farm family, an honor jointly sponsored by the Reading Fair and Grange.

Robert said that night his family was honored, he got to see singer/entertainer Pat Boone. He said he believes Pat was wearing his trademark white shoes.

As the honored farm family, the Sattazahns were treated to a day as guests of the Reading Fair. This was at a time when the fairground was big and there were stands and families and people from all around.

The Sattazahns were driven around in a golf cart and got to ride on the midway rides free. Toward late afternoon, one of the fair

Robert and Jane Sattazahn, owners of Zahnbach Farms, stand with the portable ice cream and milkshake stand that the Berks County Dairy Farmers Association has used for years to raise money for the county dairy princess pageant. Regulations and time have made the stand obsolete, and it isn't economical to retrofit the stand. The fate of the stand is symbolic of what is happening to some dairy farms in this era of rapid change.

Tobacco Blue Mold Found In Pennsylvania

JOHN O. YOCUM
Senior Research Associate
Penn State

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Tobacco blue mold has been confirmed on field plants and in seedbeds in Lancaster and Lebanon Counties. The blue mold was brought into the area on transplants from North Carolina. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Inspection Service and Penn State personnel found blue mold on the tobacco of every farm visited where the North Carolina plants had been transplanted. On two farms, the blue mold had already spread to tobacco seedbeds that were on the same farm.

Hayes Wants To Make PDA Blue Ribbon Agency

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— The new acting Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, Samuel Hayes, Jr., told agriculture leaders Monday that he wants to make the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture a "blue ribbon" agency. "Other color ribbons are OK but not quite good enough," Hayes said. "I want the Department of Agriculture to be as good as the industry it serves. Pennsylvania agriculture is number one, and I would hope that PDA is the number one agency in state government. This is easier said than done, but that's my goal and task."

Hayes spoke at the regular meeting of the Pennsylvania Council of Farm Organizations held in the capitol. Gov. Tom Ridge, named Hayes acting secretary to succeed Charles Brosius who was asked to resign at the end of May with no reason given other than the administration wanted to take the department in a new direction.

While this is not a normal transition, Hayes said he was prepared to grapple with the new mix of problems because Gov. Ridge without question expressed solid support for agriculture, and the legislature offered to be as cooperative as they can be in order to support our num-

Gov. Ridge To Authorize $5 Million For Avian Influenza

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State Gov. Tom Ridge is expected to sign legislation that would authorize the state Department of Agriculture to spend $5 million to fight avian influenza.

In the meantime, no new flocks have been discovered to have tested positive for the contagious virus in or out of the quarantine area in Lancaster County.

The quarantine is in effect to prevent the spread of the disease from flock to flock. The Pennsylvania State Police have been monitoring traffic in and out of the quarantined area.

Unanimously approved by the Senate and House, a general appropriations bill previously passed by the Legislature was being amended in the Legislature when the Gov. Ridge Administration requested the Legislature to provide authorization to spend $5 million to fight the disease.

The Senate and House both signed off on the legislation Wednesday night (the House worked through until about 5 a.m. Thursday before calling it quits for the summer) and it went to the governor's office for his signature.

The general appropriations bill would authorize spending in the

POULTRY ◆ MARKETS

NE Chicken Pts 1&2

JUNE 11, 1997

Trucklot buying activity was mostly of a light and spotty nature. Offerings, in instances, were increasing in their availability and usually at least adequate to cover current needs. Retail and distributive movement was disappointing and generally not expected to improve significantly. The market tone was barely steady on b/s breast, fully steady to firm on wings and generally steady on balance.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES. Balanced Nutrition Is The Key

A properly formulated dry cow program allows the dairyman to "manage" the nutrient intake of the cow. Pennfield offers "4" Dry Cow Conditioner products with high levels of fortification. On farm feedstuffs should be tested for nutrient content and combined with the proper Pennfield product.

60 DAY DRY COW PROGRAM (COW WORK SCHEDULE)

1. Calf Growth - The majority of calf development take place in the last Sixty (60) Days before the calf is born. Sufficient nutrients must be provided for the cow to maintain her body weight PLUS the nutrients for development of 50-60 lbs. of calf body weight. The cow will deplete her body reserve if necessary during this period in order to provide the necessary nutrients for calf development.

2. Build Milk Secretory Cells - The 60 day period gives the cow time to rebuild the number of milk secretory cells in her udder to produce maximum milk during the upcoming lactation.

3. Restore Nutrient Reserves - After meeting body maintenance needs and calf growth, the cow will use available nutrients to restore her body reserves. Body reserves are used to support peak milk production in the next lactation. The majority of body condition should be put on in the latter part of the previous lactation.

4. Exercise And Muscle Tone - The 60 day period should be a time for cows to get out of the milking barn and off concrete. An exercise lot or pasture will help the cow rebuild muscle tone.

5. Drying Cows Off - A good procedure for drying off cows is to discontinue all grain feeding, offer only poor-quality forage and in those producing less than 22 to 24 pounds of milk per day, stop milking abruptly. It may take up to a week to bring production down to this level. Often it helps if cows can be separated from their milking herdmates. Don't allow them to go through the parlor. Keep them out of the milking barn.

When milking is ceased, dry treat all quarters immediately, and teat dip. If possible, continue teat dipping for up to a week.

6. The Length Of Dry Period is ideally 50 to 69 days Fewer than 40 days reduces subsequent milk yields; over 70 days results in reduced milk yields or in increases that don't make up for the added days the cow is dry

The dry period is a good time for trimming feed, worming and other parasite control, and vaccinations that are safe during pregnancy. Vaccines to promote needed antibodies in the colostrum also can be considered at this time.

7. The Body Condition Score of cows should not change appreciably during the dry period. Ideally, cows should calve with the same body condition score they had a drying off. Therefore, the most important time for body condition scoring is about 150 days into lactation. This is the key time to prepare for how a cow will score at drying off. It's easiest and least risky at this point to adjust the cow's condition, if needed.

Rather than try to adjust body condition during the dry period, it is better to feed cows so they are in the right condition at drying off. Then hold them there during the dry period. There are several reasons for this. One is that the cow uses her feed more efficiently while making than when dry, so it is easier and less expensive to put weight on a thin cow. The extra grain also may result in more milk in late lactation.

If a cow is thin at drying off, a 2-month dry period usually is not enough time to put on proper condition. Cows typically can gain only one-fourth to one-half unit of body condition score during the dry period.

On the other extreme, if the cow is too fat at drying off, it usually is not possible to take that fat off and back her down to the proper condition during the dry period. Reversing the process by starvation creates potentially disastrous problems with possible fat deposition in the liver and severe ketosis in early lactation.

8. Pre-fresh Needs - Managing dry cows in a two-tier system (far-off dry cows and transition dry cows) best matches increasing pregnancy requirements and declining intake ability. The early dry cow needs high fiber/low energy density, while the close-up cow needs higher energy density with less fiber. A two-group system results in less metabolic disease, improved dry matter intake after calving, and increased peak milk production.

9. Water Needs - Pregnancy increases the cow's water intake by over one-third. Clean, good quality water

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO,
JUNE 11, 1997

Wheat and corn bids were mixed as traders await the USDA reports due out tomorrow. Soybean bid, however, were sharply higher with some fund buying on the board noted. Wheat mixed. Corn mixed. Sorghum 1 to 2 cents higher. Soybeans 12 to 19 cents higher. Nothing drastic happened on the board today as far as wheat and corn trade. Traders are waiting for the Supply/Demand and crop reports due out tomorrow by USDA. Soybean bids took a giant step forward, however, also in anticipation of tomorrows reports. Fund selling was a factor in beans sharp gains. U.S. Export Sales: Purchaser Commodity Tonnage Del date Nothing new to report. The Old Farmer's Almanac This Week With Almanac

JUNE 16-22, 1997

FULL ROSE MOON, JUNE 20.

SUMMER SOLSTICE

Bend your knee in honor of the summer solstice (June 21) by tending the herb garden or, where there is not one, beginning a small pot or window box of a few kitchen essentials: basil (sweet or opal varieties), thyme, rosemary, parsley, and sage. All have been used medicinally, as well as for kitchen potherbs. Parsley needs a deep pot for its long taproot. Tansy or tall camphor basil growing near your doorstep will repel ants and moths. If you plant tansy, mint, or bee balm, do so by sinking large, well-drained containers in the ground. Otherwise, you may regret their invasive tendencies.

An English summer: two fine days and a thunderstorm.

TIP OF THE WEEK

LAMB KABOBS

1/4 cup olive oil
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1/2 teaspoon crushed rosemary
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup rice vinegar
1/4 cup white grape juice
2 pounds lamb, cubed

Stir together the first 7 ingredients. Add the lamb cubes and marinate for at least an hour. Place meat on skewers and brown over charcoal fire, or under the broiler, turning frequently until cooked through, about 10 minutes total. Meat should be at least 3 inches from the heat.

Makes 6 servings.

The Old Farmer's WEATHER PROVERBS

If clouds be bright, 'twill clear tonight; if clouds be dark, 'twill rain, do you hark?

The higher the clouds, the finer the weather.

A moist, cool summer portends a hard winter.

FFA Makes Many Contributions

Once again the time has come to celebrate national FFA week. This year as a special project the National FFA Foundation has undertaken the coordination of a special Partners for a Safer Community. As a national pilot test of the program's youth safety educational materials, the group launched a two-day training of six community teams from Georgia, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin.

This is a national collaborative effort to promote agricultural youth safety and health through education, community development and youth leadership. To help accomplish this goal, Partners for a Safer Community compiled the instructional package — including adult and student guides, sample educational resources, a resource guide and a CD-ROM — for teaching youth safety to secondary and elementary school students.

For the next four months, participants will conduct local safety programs and will provide evaluation feedback. Program staff will use the pilot test results to strengthen the materials for training workshops in the fall of 1997 and for national distribution of the package of 4,000 communities by the end of 1998.

This is just another way FFA brings good things to our youth and our communities. Like everything else, they can't do it alone. The list of sponsors for this project is long and covers many areas of agriculture and education. But it just gives us one more good reason to say thank you to all the many youth and adults in FFA that contribute to the well-being of our country.

Editor:

It's hard to believe, but it's time now for me to give up my title as Crawford County Dairy Princess. It has been a wonderful year for me and I hope that the next girl to carry this title will have as great of a year as I did.

I have had so many wonderful experiences this year as dairy princess. I have met and worked with a lot of really great people. It has been a very busy, and sometimes exhausting, year though. I have spent my reign promoting the dairy industry for dairy farmers in Crawford County and across all of Pennsylvania. I have done my best to make this a successful year for dairy farmers by doing more than 340 promotions in 340 days, and I still have more promotions scheduled on both the county and state level!

I will consider my reign this year a success if I was able to communicate to the public the importance of agriculture, and especially the dairy industry, in Pennsylvania. Dairy farmers are having a difficult time making a living right now because milk prices are low. We all need to support the dairy farmers of Pennsylvania by buying and consuming real dairy products. If we work together to put dairy products on the table at every meal milk prices will rise, and we will have a healthier America.

The judges this year will have a hard job ahead of them as they have to pick a new dairy princess and alternate from the five girls running in Crawford County this year. I would like to wish all the girls competing at this year's Crawford County Dairy Princess Pageant good luck. Crawford County will be blessed with a great dairy princess, alternate, and dairy maids this year.

Please come out and support the contestants on June 21 for the annual Dairy Princess Pageant. The contest will be held at the Cochrantown Community Church on Route 285 outside of Cochrantown at 8:00 p.m. There is $1.50 admission for those more than 12 years old with an all-you-can-eat ice cream social following. Hope to see you there!

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Teach Safety

Dr. Timothy Elkner, Lancaster County extension horticultural agent, reminds us that safety training is most effective when done in small amounts.

Rather than long, drawn-out monthly safety meetings, consider weekly, short sessions to keep your employees updated on safety concerns. Weekly meetings allow you to address concerns that are related to what employees will be doing that week.

Since your employees could then practice some of the safety procedures discussed, they are more likely to remember them and develop them as habits.

A good safety program needs leadership from a manager or farm owner. It is often best if the information comes from the employees themselves. This helps the employees to be thinking about safety on their own.

Thus, it is important to take some time and review safety at your operation every week. Remember, family members working on the farm are employees and also need weekly safety instruction.

To Involve Employees In Safety Education

Your safety program should have as much employee participation as possible, according to Dr. Timothy Elkner, Lancaster County extension horticultural agent.

This could include having an employee actually make a presentation. Employees may be more convincing to other workers since they are peers. In addition, the person who made the presentation probably learned a lot themselves as they prepared for their talk.

Employees who are in line to make future presentations could be looking for areas in the operation where accidents are likely to occur or where safety precautions could be improved. Having employees identify and talk about safety issues should make them more aware of potential hazards.

For family members working on the farm, consider dedicating one meal a week where you or a family member discuss a safety topic.

To Monitor Aphids On Tobacco

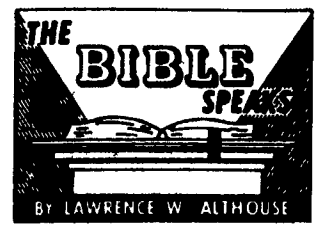
Robert Anderson, Lancaster County extension agronomy agent, reminds us that in most years aphids usually start to appear on tobacco in mid to late June with the major numbers appearing about the fourth of July.

Aphids can build up very rapidly under ideal weather conditions. Heavy infestations of aphids can decrease both yield and quality of the tobacco crop.

To monitor aphids on tobacco, begin looking for them in late June or very early July. When you find 20 percent of the plants with aphids, it is time to begin spraying.

Most labeled products do an excellent job of controlling aphids when spraying starts before a large build up occurs and continues as needed throughout the growing season. When using any pesticide, read the label and always follow the directions for its use and all safety precautions.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "The key to happiness is having dreams. The key to success is making dreams come true."



HAVE YOU READ THE RULES?

June 15, 1997

Background Scripture:
2 Timothy 2:1-13

Devotional Reading:
2 Timothy 2:14-26

As a boy, I always enjoyed board games: "Go to the Head of the Class," "Clue," "Chinese Checkers" and "Monopoly," to name just a few. But, much as I enjoyed playing the games, I didn't like having to read all the rules that went with them. Of course, you've got to know the rules to play the game. As 2 Timothy puts it, "An athlete is not crowned unless he competes according to the rules" (2:5).

It's like that with life, too. It is very important that we familiarize ourselves with the rules of life. How often I used to complain that something or other that I experienced was "not fair!" One day, however, someone stopped me in mid-complaint and asked, "Where did you get the idea that life has to be fair?"

NOT FAIR!

Actually, if I had read the rules, I would have known that fairness is not one of the promises God gives us along with the gift of life. Where is that written? Many places, but especially in the Bible. Granted, I don't recall any passage in which it is specificially stated, "Life is not fair!" But you can't read very far in the scriptures without getting that message. Actually, that's what the cross of Christ is all about — life's injustice. If life is to be fair, it is not something that we will find along the way, but something that we ourselves must bring into being.

Another one of the rules that is often overlooked by Christians is that some suffering is to be expected for all humans and Christians are not exempt. From Genesis to Revelation, the Bible clearly states that suffering is part of the human condition. Christianity is not about avoiding suffering, but in dealing with it victoriously.

The writer of 2 Timothy says: "Take your share of suffering as a good soldier of Christ Jesus" (2:3). The implication here is that Christians might even have to suffer more than others. As hardship goes with soldiering, so it goes with Christian discipleship. As an apostle for Jesus Christ, Paul experienced more, not less suffering. It is for the gospel, he writes, "for which I am suffering and wearing fetters like a criminal" (2:9).

WORST-CASE SCENARIO

What we need to keep in perspective here is that suffering is not the worst thing that can befall us. Being defeated by suffering is the worst thing. Permitting suffering to dissipate or ruin our faith is our greatest danger. Failing to look to Christ in our hour of suffering is the most crucial mistake we can make.

For our strength is not in hiding behind the door when the suffering is passed out, but in experiencing the grace of God. "You then, my son, be strong in the grace that is Christ Jesus" (2:1). That grace — that undeserved love from God — is stronger than any suffering we can endure. Perhaps quoting from an ancient hymn, the writer of 2 Timothy, reminds us:

If we have died with him, we shall also live with him.

If we endure, we shall also reign with him.

As Christ was victorious over all suffering, so can we experience that same kind of victory. We may be fettered — actually or figuratively — "But the word of God is not fettered"! (2:9). No prison, no restraints, no limitations can fetter the gospel of Christ — or us! We're like the little boy whose teacher became exasperated because he was always standing up when he was supposed to be sitting. Pushing him down in his seat, she said, "Now stay there!" To which he replied: "Outside I may be sitting down, but inside I'm still standing!"

And that's in the rules, too!

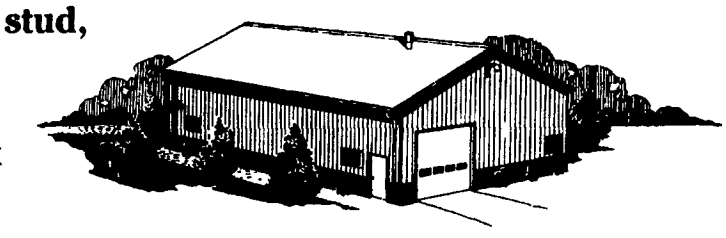
Started by Producers for producers

The Building you want.
The Lease you need.

Whether your new farm or commercial building is of pole, timber column, stud, steel or block construction; choose Telmark lease financing.



Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 30 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider the features:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated write-offs: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings. Could reduce tax liability this year.
- Low upfront costs: Beginning costs may be as little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms start aggressively at five years but may be as long as ten, twelve, or fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules match your cash flow. Payment options include monthly, quarterly, annually, as well as, skip or specially designed seasonal payments.

How do you start leasing a building from Telmark? Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost. And call your Telmark representative:

CSCE Interest Soars; Milk Output Strong

NEW YORK — June 12 — Open interest for the New York Coffee, Sugar, and Cocoa Exchange BFP milk futures appear poised to break, the 1,000-lot mark in the next week. Milk production remains high, which has weighed on futures prices, as school closings have resulted in excess supply.

* * *

US milk production continues to rise seasonally in the Pacific northwest and other still cool portions of the country. Moderate temperatures in California have kept production at or near peak levels, while humid and stormy weather conditions in the southwest have curbed recent production there.

Cheese production has been increasing along with seasonal excessive milk supply, mostly in Midwest plants.

Cream demand is strong as ice cream sales have improved in regions of warming temperatures. Ice cream production is moderate to heavy in the east and Midwest as a result of the weather.

York FSA Accepts Reports

YORK (York Co.) — The York County Farm Service Agency (FSA) is accepting 1997 crop acreage reports.

The 1996 Farm Bill removed the acreage report requirement in most cases for county farmers to remain eligible for USDA benefits. The commodity loan program still requires timely filed acreage reports by those who wish to pledge stored commodities as collateral for these nine-month loans.

Producers interested in reporting must visit the county office, review aerial photographs, and indicate their crops location. The office is open Monday thru Friday 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Appointments are encouraged and reduce the farmer's time in the county office.

Final certification dates are June 15, wheat, barley and oats and July 15, corn, soybeans, fruit, and vegetables.

promotional people arranged to rent a helicopter to fly the Sattazahns back to the farm to do their milking, and then fly them back to the fair for the evening award presentation.

"The helicopter landed in back of the silos," Robert recently recalled.

The Sattazahns were also featured in some now defunct publications and in the Reading Eagle for such things as having the first waste water lagoon built.

The lagoon was built to handle the milkhouse waste water from their double-six herringbone parlor. Measuring 3-feet deep, the rectangular lagoon still exists and was built 138 feet long and 66 feet wide.

It would not fit today's standards for environmental control devices on farms, but, when it was built it was the newest thing, it worked, and people paid attention.

In 1987, there was a proposal from a county U.S Soil Conservation Service worker to build upon the existing lagoon to create a manure storage facility. Robert said that proposal didn't seem to make as much sense, and he didn't feel confident with the plan.

In addition, cost-share funds weren't available to him because the farm is in the Delaware River Basin, not the Chesapeake Bay Watershed (the Susquehanna River Basin) where cost-sharing for manure storage ponds, equipment and facilities was being made available.

Now, with cost-share funds administered by the state Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (DCNR), through the Berks County Conservancy, for water quality improvement devices and practices on the Tulpehocken Creek and its tributaries, the Sattazahns are expecting to very soon see the farm stream's banks fenced from cattle.

The Sattazahns sold the development rights to their 185-acre farm through the state and county Farmland Preservation program.

Robert, a member of the township planning commission for years (to help protect agricultural interests, he said), helped push for establishing an Agricultural Security Area and getting farmland preservation underway.

The value of the farmland and the lack of enough farmland is becoming more and more apparent, according to the Sattazahns. Recently a rumor somehow was spread that the Sattazahns were getting out of farming or selling.

They said they received lots of phone calls from people looking to rent and buy. While the whole incident proved somewhat strange, it also served to reinforce the fact that the demand and value of the farm is high for farming.

The herd has been cut back to 75 cows.

The outer surfaces of the facilities are showing the wear of serving the Sattazahn family for a long time. There are some chores that are starting to get away from the couple.

Robert is 64, Jane, 61. They said they intend to farm for a little while longer, but do intend to retire in several years.

Robert said he still has plans for changes on the farm, but he and Jane readily admit that they are starting to feel their age. There are more aches and pains, and arthritis, etc.

The couple is taking it a little slower these days.

The family business continues, but as with all businesses, especially family businesses, the dynamics of the business depends upon the dynamics of the people involved.

The family has changed, and thus the business has changed. The Zahnbach Farms from an aerial view shows the layout and design of a dairy farm that was leading edge in its heyday and still remains competitive. A lagoon for milkhouse waste water is above the dairy complex. From the silos, an area under roof for preparing and delivering feed parallels a 104-stall freestall (though some of the stalls are not used today) barn, which connects to a double-six herringbone parlor and milkhouse. The old stone bankbarn is used for storage of some equipment and square bales. The long building in the lower right is a bedded pack heifer facility and storage area for large roundbales. A trench silo, fairly empty in the photograph is to the left. Further left, is another outbuilding and corn crib, and left of that is equipment and tractor shed and workshop. The main house, believed to have been built in the 1700s is partially concealed by trees, though the walkway leading to the door can be seen. The main farm lane comes between the house and an old summer house in disrepair. The stream is to fenced off soon on the farm side, and a spring development project is planned.

cycle of life keeps turning.

As the head of a family farm business, Robert said things are a bit different now than when he and Jane had a younger, growing family. It's not bad, just different.

They are not alone.

They are close to the average age of farmers, and they share the same concerns — what is to happen to the farm?

In that question lies many more, and the answers to those other questions may be more deciding about what happens to the farm than what choices the Sattazahns or their children make.

Described by himself and his wife as a "people person," Robert has been involved in many organizations for many years, a habit and interest that started when he was young and was involved as a initial member of the Marion Subordinate Junior Grange. The Marion Subordinate Grange celebrated its 75th year in 1995.

He didn't really disclose a personal philosophy, though it seemed that his actions and involvements over the years tell of a man who has conducted himself with a sense that there are choices to be made and only through effort are the best choices made.

As it is they don't have to make a choice immediately, though they know that time won't be far away. If possible, they said that perhaps one of their sons will want to take over the farm, though they don't want any of them to feel pressured.

The seriousness of the dairy industry situation for the family farmers is not far from Robert's mind, though it is belied by a friendly, casual demeanor.

He is "one of the Sattazahn boys" he said, adding that is true because his father Ray M. Sattazahn, 88, is living at the home farm in Stouchsburg.

The oldest son, Ray R. Sattazahn, is retired from farming though he still does custom corn planting.

Robert's next sibling is brother Clarence C. Sattazahn, who farms on a neihboring farm. His sister Mary is retired after 24 years as a Navy nurse and now heads a nursing staff at a nursing home.

His younger brother Dennis G.

(Turn to Page A36)

Robert and Jane Sattazahn roundup some of the low-production group of cows from an excercise lot. Though difficult to see, an electric wire keeps cows from the conveyor and feed preparation area behind them. Robert said the development of the totally mixed ration is one of the best improvements to dairying that he's seen over the years.

Robert Sattazahn holds an aerial photograph of Zahnbach Farms where, at the peak of operation, he, his wife Jane and their four children operated one of the largest herds in Berks County and milked them three times per day.

Jane Sattazahn was a "city girl" from Myerstown when she met Robert, the son of a dairy farmer, in high school. They married in 1954 and started farming in 1955 in Myerstown. Here, Jane pre-treats the teats on the low group of the 75-cow milking string in the farm's double-six herringbone milking parlor. Built in 1967, the parlor has become a very familiar place.

New Ag Classrooms Prepare Students For Real-World Challenges

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — The "class-to-real-world" journey for a lot of Lancaster County agricultural science students began, in large part, back in the summer of 1994.

A trip organized by Heather Anderson, ag instructor at Manheim Central High School, to two schools in Virginia may have paved the way for the future of many high school ag science graduates and FFA members throughout the region.

Anderson, who used to teach at James Woods' High School, the county high school in Winchester, Va. (one of the schools visited on the trip), was accompanied by several ag teachers. They included Deb Seibert, also of Manheim; Carole Fay of Penn Manor High School in Millersville; Dr. Arba Henry of Solanco High School in Quarryville; Ron Frederick of Twin Valley High School in Elverson; and several others. They visited James Woods in addition to Sherando High School.

Their mission? Look at the ag mechanics and ag science structure and curriculum of the schools and see what made them successful.

The teachers took notes. Then they brought those design ideas back home to Lancaster County.

The conclusion, according to Deb Seibert of Manheim Central, was that those schools have successfully integrated the latest equipment into the classroom. Industry demands that students be prepared: what better way to do it than to have the latest equipment and technology available at students' fingertips?

A feature of the work at Penn Manor was a new greenhouse addition, measuring 16 feet by 60 feet, separated into three zones. Vince Metzler, president of Manor FFA, looks over the plans on the site of the new greenhouse, next to the old classrooms.

As a result, in the past several years, three Lancaster County high schools — Manheim, Solanco, and Penn Manor — have undergone major renovations and construction. Along with new construction has come new ag science laboratories, ag mechanics facilities, high-tech classrooms, and identical equipment being used in many local ag-related industries.

In all cases, before construction began, the high school ag science instructors and FFA advisers provided input and incorporated design decisions in the formation of the laboratories.

Manheim Central

At Manheim Central High School, instructor Deb Seibert pointed to 13 new welding booths in the small engines/welding laboratory. The booths were designed similar to the Virginia schools: booths enclosed with both gas welding and arc technology tools. There's also plasma cutter equipment. Brand new tables include 30 small gas engines and tools.

About 88 members are involved in the Solanco FFA and were responsible for setting up the trophy cases and other displays, in addition to putting the "finishing touches" on some interior work after construction. FFA officers from left are Jim Pelliccio, student adviser; Jim Kerr, county president; and Britina Robinson, second vice president.

Included in the Solanco construction is an ag biology classroom, an ag mechanics classroom, an ag mechanics lab, and office space. Ryan Kreider, a freshman, puts the finishing touches on a sawhorse.

"There's nothing old in here except one table," said Seibert. "Everything else is new."

Schoolwide construction began in Manheim in September 1995. Architects were Foreman and Bashford. Construction by Reynolds Construction Management was finished in April this year at a cost of $20 million. (Ag tech ed casework was completed by Merit Machinery, Inc.)

Along with an approximately $500,000 spent in the ag department, new equipment costs approach about $200,000, according to Seibert. "That's a lot of stuff," said Seibert.

A 30- by 44-foot greenhouse was built with grant money by the department at a cost of $18,000, noted Seibert, separate from the money used on general school construction.

For the laboratories, Seibert said, "I designed the layout and picked the equipment. I knew what was needed to keep the students busy."

One of the most impressive features of the overall new construction and renovation project was the installation of the dust collection system, which is "pretty effective," said Seibert. A special air ventilation/filtering system was installed for paint work in the room next to a classroom used by the ag woodworking lab.

In addition to the woodworking lab and welding room, there is space for two classrooms separated by a movable partition to accommodate meetings of the young farmers and others interested in using the facility.

Essentially, according to Seibert, where there used to be one laboratory and classroom, space has doubled. The space will accommodate about 715 students enrolled in some type of ag science program, in addition to Manheim FFA's 80 members.

One agriculture program Manheim has recently begun is a mandatory freshman class called LEGS, which stands for Life Essential Group of Studies. About 250 students are enrolled in Ag LEGS. Next year, about 170 students are enrolled in ag technology and mechanics classes.

According to Seibert, Lancaster County ag teachers have spent numerous days traveling around the Mid-Atlantic region, visiting educational programs in various schools.

Instructors at Manheim include Charles Ax, Heather Anderson, and Deb Seibert.

Solanco

At Solanco High School in Quarryville, planning also involved input from ag teachers. For Dr. Arba Henry, ag instructor, the challenge was to find information on how to properly plan a new facility.

Henry said he contacted Iowa and Iowa State University, in addition to Penn State, for information about what should go into the design of an ag mechanics and Getting rid of those annoying hang-ups in your operation is easier than ever.

The new SURGE® One Touch™ makes stanchion milking as easy as this. A lightweight, gun-grip design integrates the milk line and pulsation connections into one simple process. Yet it's built incredibly tough to handle the real world demands of the dairy barn.

Most importantly, One Touch brings high-tech automation to stanchion operators with two optional management modules.

The TIMEKEEPER™ II module signals you when the cow finishes milking and displays how long she took to milk...promoting fast, consistent milking that leads to better udder health.

The Milk Yield Module measures individual cow production and milking time, allowing instant analysis of each cow's performance.

By putting today's production information at your fingertips, the SURGE One Touch lets you capture your cow's performance in the palm of your hand.

biotech laboratory. But he couldn't come up with anything.

Instead, he joined the group of teachers that visited Winchester, Va. in 1994 and got a lot of ideas. As a result, a welding area in the mechanics lab was designed with booths. "That was not something we had seen anywhere before," said Henry.

At Solanco, block walls separate 10 separate welding booths.

There are eight gas welding areas and space for electrical welding. In fact, the entire ag mechanics laboratory was designed with the needs of particular areas in mind.

This year, 227 students are enrolled in some type of ag science and technology program. There are 17 different courses ranging from power machinery to advanced animal science and advanced planting science courses. There are also agribusiness and agrimanagement courses.

Construction began in May 1995 for the school at a cost of $22 million, performed by Murray Construction in Lancaster. The old buildings were gutted and an outside shell wall was retained.

New laboratory and classroom space includes about 7,000 square feet.

About 305 students are enrolled in some type of ag science instruction at Solanco. About 88 members are involved in the Solanco FFA and were responsible for setting up the trophy cases and other displays, in addition to putting the "finishing touches" on some interior work after construction.

Construction was completed in November last year. The ag science students and staff moved into the new building on Nov. 4.

Included in the construction is an ag biology classroom, an ag mechanics classroom, an ag mechanics lab, and office space.

The unique feature is that, from the ag office, windows overlook the laboratory. The welding booths are in plain view from both the office and the classroom.

In the ag biology room, equipment includes environmental growth chambers to regulate light, humidity, and temperature; a bio

Ag Progress Days Dates Announces, Activities Planned

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — When you think of high-tech industries, does farming come to mind?

It will, if you attend Penn State's Ag Progress Days, August 12-14.

A new precision agriculture demonstration heads the list of production-related attractions at this year's event, according to Ag Progress Days manager Bob Oberheim.

"Precision agriculture is a hot topic in the farm community right now," Oberheim said. "By using the latest technology in global positioning systems, geographic information systems and on-board computers in combines and tractors, growers can adjust their management practices to become more efficient."

These technologies can help producers to map variations in crop yield within a single field.

"For instance, this information can enable farmers to apply pesticides and fertilizers only where they're needed instead of across an entire field, which saves them money and minimizes environmental impact," Oberheim explained.

Ag Progress Days visitors can attend precision agriculture presentations by Penn State faculty and cooperative extension staff, followed by field demonstrations featuring the technology.

Oberheim said other popular field demonstrations will be back, including no-till vegetable planting, hay mowing, baling, round bale handling and composting.

The focal point of Penn State's Ag Progress Days displays will be the College of Agricultural Sciences Exhibits Building.

The building's theme this year will focus on the changing shape of Pennsylvania agriculture. Visitors will see a series of interactive exhibits that will highlight how agriculture — Pennsylvania's number one industry — is adapting to the global marketplace, consumer trends and other business and environmental issues.

Other exhibits, tours and workshops will feature the latest research and information on crops and soils, dairy and livestock production, integrated pest management, conservation practices and woodlot management.

More than 300 commercial and noncommercial exhibitors also will be on hand to display the newest goods and services.

In addition, a variety of family and consumer-oriented attractions are planned, including a new family living exhibits and demonstrations, storytelling, horse exhibitions, an insect zoo, live animal displays, lawn and garden advice, antique exhibits and SciQ, a TV-style game show.

Penn State's Ag Progress Days features more than 500 acres of educational and commercial exhibits, tours and machinery demonstrations.

It is held at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rock Springs, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, with extended hours of 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesday. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free from July 14 to August 14 or visit the Ag Progress Days site on the World Wide Web at www.cas.psu.edu/docs/AGIS/APD/APD.HTML.

work station; a small laboratory for water testing; a food science center; and other equipment. The same classroom will be set up and ready to work next school year. In addition, according to Henry, the room will include 14 Internet-capable stations for use by the students.

Instructors at Solanco include Carey Kalupson, ag mechanics; Ron Althoff, specialized production and mechanics; and Dr. Arba Henry, ag science.

Penn Manor

Before the end of the school year, Carole Fay of Penn Manor High School in Millersville noted that they had moved students into the classroom recently constructed.

Brand new construction included an ag mechanics laboratory.

The old classroom, gutted out at the time of the interview, was still under construction to accommodate a classroom and office space.

A feature of the work at Penn Manor was a new greenhouse addition, measuring 16 feet by 60 feet, separated into three zones. Work at presstime had not been complete.

The unique features of the greenhouse include controls for environment, lighting, and other factors in growing specialized crops as part of student projects.

Construction at Penn Manor in Millersville began in the fall of 1995 by Wohlsen, Lancaster, at a cost of $28 million. Included is about 7,000 square feet of space for all agriculture classrooms, laboratories, and office. Expected completion of construction is November this year.

The Penn Manor ag science program includes more than 400 students grades nine through 12. Next year, a special greenhouse course, an additional biotech course, and a records and system analysis course will be offered, according to Fay.

At the beginning of the project, Fay noted, "We developed some of the designs and worked with the architect to install several features to meet the needs of students. We were involved in the whole planning."

Instructors at Penn Manor include Mike Burton, ag mechanics teacher; Gus Birchler, department coordinator; Eric Dixon, ag teacher, ag mechanics; and Fay.

Holstein Association USA Awards Rumler Scholarship

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Traci Pierson of Eau Claire, Wis. has been awarded the 1997 Robert H. Rumler Scholarship from the Holstein Association.

The Minnesota native is currently completing requirements to earn a master's degree at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire and currently working as a marketing intern for the Greater Eau Claire Area Chamber of Commerce.

Pierson grew up on a Registered Holstein Farm in Lake City, Minn. She graduated in 1994 from the University of Minnesota with a degree in Agricultural Industries and Marketing.

Upon graduation, she worked as a field representative for the Holstein Association, serving producers in Wisconsin. Prior to that, she completed internships with Associated Milk Producers, Inc., and the Holstein Association, and was a student supervisor for Minnesota DHIA.

Pierson is a member of the Minnesota Holstein Association, Wisconsin Holstein Association and the National Dairy Shrine. She served on the Minnesota Junior Holstein Association board of directors from 1991 to 1994 in a variety of capacities. She also successfully completed the Young Dairy Leaders Institute (YDLI).

Active with Registered Holsteins all her life, she remains in close contact with the home farm as much as possible while completing her studies. Her leadership skills, honed during YDLI, allow her to continue working with youth programs, including dairy judging, quiz bowl, and motivational speaking, in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Pierson said she believes the future in agriculture is bright, "as long as the next generation takes hold and runs with it," adding she intends to take the dairy industry by the horns and continue to enhance it.

"Obviously our greatest assets are the products we produce," she said. "Learning more about how to effectively market them to consumers is a primary way in which I hope my skills will make a difference." After completing her MBA she hopes to attain a position in the dairy industry.

The Rumler Scholarship award is given annually to a recipient who has graduated from an accredited agricultural college or university with a bachelor's degree in dairy production or its equivalent. It may be given to a student at the beginning of their MBA program or who is entering the second year of the program.

Holstein Foundation Hires Intern

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Julie Meadows, of Foxport, Ky. is one of two 1997 junior member communications interns for the Holstein Foundation.

Meadows, who is scheduled to be a sophomore at the University of Kentucky in the fall, is majoring in agricultural communications. She is president of UK's Dairy Club, an ambassador for the College of Agriculture, and an active member of the University's chapter of the Block and Bridle Club.

Julie's responsibilities include preparation for the National Junior Holstein Convention, to be held in Grand Rapids, Mich. in June, development of educational materials for junior members.

NEWS

Holstein USA Works To Make ID EASY

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Electronic identification using the EASY (Electronic Application System) has become even better now that there is a Windows version available for producers, according to Holstein Association USA.

EASY is now available in both DOS and Windows version, allowing producers to Officially Identify their Holsteins with the system that works for them.

EASY allows you to automate the identification process using an on-farm IBM-compatible PC, eliminating paper applications.

Producers using EASY can simply mail the diskette, or modem transfer the necessary information to the Holstein Association. The innovative computer software program also is compatible with all of the ID options: photos, sketches, Tag ID, Tag 'N Tattoo, and Tag N'Freezerbrand.

This software program is capable of reading from other heifer management files, such as PCDART, Dairy Comp 305 and DHIA Plus, to speed up the identification process.

Complete working programs can be downloaded from the Holstein Association USA Internet website at www.holsteinusa.com. Internet users can click on the Performance Products section, then "Download a Demo" to start the process under the section describing EASY. Choose from either Windows or DOS version.

For more information on how to make your animal identification EASY, or to get your free EASY software for Windows or DOS, call a Member Service representative at 800-952-5200.

James Trotter To Be Honored For Distinguished Service

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — The American Guernsey Association is to honor James "Jim" Trotter of Enon Valley, Pennsylvania, for his distinguished service to the Guernsey breed at the 1997 National Guernsey Convention in LaCrosse, Wisconsin, on June 23.

Trotter and wife Mary Lou have three children, Robert, Debra and David, all from Enon Valley. Jim is in partnership with his sons at Trotacre Farm.

Trotter has served as the business manager of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association since 1989. His other dairy activities include serving as a ringman at several national sales and herd dispersals, selecting cattle from Pennsylvania for national sales, managing the Pennsylvania Blue Halter Sale for seven years, and serving on the American Guernsey Association Type Committee.

Trotter is the breeder of All-American cattle, the current number one and number three CPI cows, several homebred excellents, seven young sires currently being sampled, and the 1994 Total Performance Winner at the National Guernsey Show in Harrisburg. The Trotacre herd has a rolling herd average of over 17,000 pounds of milk.

Community activities include elder and trustee of the Westfield Presbyterian Church for several years, past president and chairman of the board for International Trotting and Pacing Association for 27 years, a Masonic Lodge member, a Master Mason, a past 4-H leader, and Extension Board and Fair Board member.

Professional and/or farm organizations include DHIA, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association, American Guernsey Association and Pennsylvania Dairymen Association.

Trotter has successfully sold Guernsey cattle around the world, including to Ecuador. He also organizes and manages a group of junior members representing Pennsylvania at the National Guernsey Show in Lousville, Kentucky, each year.

Patty McMurray, chairperson of the Pennsylvania and American Guernsey Association Youth committees, said that Jim inspires youngsters by working with them, and is always looking for new ways to involve more young people in Guernsey activities.

"The state slogan is 'You've got a friend in Pennsylvania.' The American Guernsey Association and particularly its youth, has a friend in Jim Trotter," she said.

The American Guernsey Association is the national organization for the registration and promotion of Guernsey cattle and is headquartered in Reynoldsburg, Ohio.

In other recognitions, two outstanding young Guernsey farmers will be honored at the 1997 National Guernsey Convention.

D. Randy Knapp is the recipient of the Eugene Harding Memorial Watch Award for being named the 1997 National Outstanding Young Guernsey Farmer.

Knapp said, "I grew up learning to love and care for the Guernseys at my grandfather's farm. There has always been a special place in my heart for Guernseys."

Knapp was raised on his parent's farm in Westby, Wisconsin. In 1984, he entered the University of Wisconsin-River Falls with an emphasis in dairy science. He then went to work at Coulee Crest Farm in Cashton, Wisconsin, for a couple years and later took a position at Fauver Hill Farm in Onalaska, Wisconsin.

Randy and his wife Wanda currently reside in Epworth, Iowa, with their son Austin. Even though Wanda is a full-time registered nurse, she helps out on the farm. They currently own 115 purebred Guernseys and milk 50 cows. Randy's philosophy is that management is crucial to any dairy operation. Herd health is a must, and immunizations are kept up-to-date.

The goal of Knapp's Guernsey Farm is to improve over the next five years as much as they have in the last five years. Since farming on his own, Randy's herd has consistently ranked in the top ten for production. Recently, the Knapp's rolling herd average exceeded 21,000 pounds of milk. He has had two Gold Star Herd Awards and has won Premier Breeder the last two years, and Premier Exhibitor in 1995 at World Dairy Expo. Both Randy and Wanda look forward to improving their herd and hope to do their part in proving that the Guernsey cow is both profitable and efficient for the future.

David Trotter of Enon Valley (James' son) is to be recognized as the first runner-up in the National Outstanding Young Guernsey Farmer contest. He and his wife Jill and their four children, Abby, Bethany, Cara, and Jamie reside on Trotacre Farm.

Trotter states that dairying has always been a part of his life, as his family has had Guernsey since the 1940's. After David graduated from Penn State University with a degree in dairy production, he formed a partnership with his father and older brother. The Guernsey breed was continued because of their love for the cow, disposition and profitability.

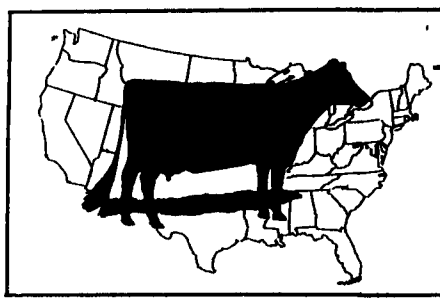
David's responsibilties on Trotacre Farm are manager and herdsman of the dairy cattle. He is responsible for one-third of the business by means of working with the dairy cattle. He makes all of the breeding and mating recommendations and is responsible for the nutrition.

Trotter's outside employment is with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, where he is a state milk inspector. This job is very flexible and assists the business financially and gives him a chance to view different dairy operations and milking facilities.

At Trotacre Farm, future goals include keeping younger generations involved with the Guernsey breed, dairying and the agriculture industry.

"In order to keep family involved on the farm, we need to increase herd size or continue expansion," Trotter said.

One of the areas of expansion is through their embryo transfer program which involves buying recipients and putting in Guernsey embryos. He also stated that labor efficiency items and Guernsey genetics need to be increased which will keep the Guernsey breed competitive in the dairy industry.



In other awards, Dr. Ernie Berousek of Yukon, Oklahoma, has been selected to receive the 1997 American Guernsey Association's Master Breeder Award.

Berousek and his wife, Bea have operated a successful Guernsey breeding program at Lily Lane Guernsey Farm for many years.

Their family consists of daughters Karen Crone of Colorado Springs, Colorado, and Melinda Rushing of Yukon, Oklahoma.

Ernie's ability as a master breeder shows by his cattle generally being sale toppers and the support of young sire programs with many of the bulls carrying the Lily Lane prefix.

Ernie's number one goal was to improve the Guernsey cow and the Guernsey breed. Many of his cows have national class-leading records and are scored Excellent. A cow bred by Berousek was the winner of the first National Guernsey Futurity.

After graduation from college, Berousek worked for various herds such as the Gaylord Herd at Oklahoma City. He was a member of the staff at Oklahoma State and completed his masters while working full-time as a professor.

He went to Missouri obtaining his PHD and served as the head of the dairy department at the University of Rhode Island for several years. He returned to Oklahoma as an agent for a life insurance company. During these years, he and brother Otto had a herd of registered Guernseys.

Berousek is deserving of the Master Breeder Award because of his dedication to the Guernsey cow and the time and effort put forth into breeding better Guernseys. He has been successful in breeding production winners, class leaders and had several bulls on the list of production winners.

Bob Griggs, Seminole, Oklahoma, said, "Let's make Ernie a legend by the American Guernsey Association with a 'brick' that says: Ernie Berousek, Master Breed 1997."

The American Guernsey Association will honor Lee Riggs of Evansville, Indiana, for his distinguished service to the Guernsey breed.

Lee and wife Carol, who live at Green Ridge Farm, have three sons: Todd of Evansville, Mark of Anderson, Indiana, and Brian of Lafayette, Indiana.

Riggs is an active member of the Blue Grass United Methodist Church. He has been a 4-H leader for 25 years, and president for two years of the Vanderburgh County Extension Board.

His professional and/or farm organization memberships include National Education Association,

Top Living Lifetime Producers

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — The living lifetime production awards recognize the leading lifetime producers of the Guernsey breed based on official production credits verified by the American Guernsey Association.

The following awards will be presented at the American Guernsey Association's annual meeting in LaCrosse, Wisconsin.

This year topping the living lifetime list for milk and protein production is Heart O Gold Telestar Emily. "Emily" will receive the Liebers Trophy for her highest living lifetime milk record and the Arnold Knight Award recognizing her as the highest living lifetime protein producer.

"Emily" was born June 19, 1980. She was bred by Michael and Nancy Bingham and Family, Plainfield, Iowa, and is owned by Pamela Walther Arnold of Waverly, Iowa.

A Maurana Wis Telestar daughter, "Emily" has living lifetime production totals of 211,380 pounds of milk, 8,287 pounds of butterfat, and 7,227 pounds of protein. She was appraised Very Good-88 at 12-09.

Level Gold Deacons Elna tops the living lifetime butterfat list and will receive the Valley Set Award recognizing the highest lifetime butterfat producer. "Elna" was born Jan. 8, 1979. She was bred by the late Eugene Jensen, Amery, Wisconsin and is owned by Lyle Jensen of Amery, Wisconsin. "Elna," a Lyrene Wistar Deacon daughter, has living lifetime production totals of 186,990 pounds of milk, 9,676 pounds of butterfat and 6,980 pounds of protein. She was appraised Excellent-91 and 9-08. She also ranks second on the living lifetime production list for pounds of protein.

Berryman Farm D Nell ranks second on the living lifetime production list for pounds of milk. "Nell" has living lifetime production totals of 194,390 pounds of milk, 7,306 pounds of butterfat and 6,247 pounds of protein. This Excellent-90 Berryman Farm Diamond daughter is bred and owned by John Stuart Berryman of Nicholasville, Kentucky.

Up The Creek Extras Alice ranks second for pounds of butterfat on the living lifetime production list. This Excellent-90 Hornback Farm Prince Extra daughter is bred and owned by Glen Anderson of Lester Prairie, Minnesota. "Alice" has living lifetime production totals of 183,930 pounds of milk, 8,373 pounds of butterfat and 6,105 pounds of protein.

To be considered for living lifetime production awards, the cow must be living on Dec. 31 of the preceding year and been in production on official test during a portion of the year.

Top Guernsey Herds

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — The American Guernsey Association is to recognize commercial herds at the National Guernsey Convention in LaCrosse, Wisconsin.

The AGA will recognize the top herd for energy corrected milk that is at least one and one-half times larger than the average size herd on the Total Performance Evaluation (TPE) program. In 1996, the average TPE herd was 40 cows; therefore, to be recognized for the 1996 commercial herd award, there must be at least 60 complete lactations in the herd. This award recognizes both TPE and non-TPE herds of registered Guernseys.

The commercial herd award is sponsored by the New York Guernsey Breeders' Cooperative and began in 1995. The top commercial herd for 1996 is owned by David Vanden Heuvel of Black Creek, Wisconsin. The 61 cows that comprise Spring Flo Guernsey Farm have an average of 18,759 pounds of milk, 880 pounds of butterfat and 642 pounds of protein, with an energy corrected milk average of 22,153 pounds.

The Dennis Nelson herd of Hilmar, California, receives second place honors, with an energy corrected average of 21,006 pounds. The 73 cows on Nells Glow Guernsey Farm had a 1996 lactation average of 18,094 pounds of milk, 816 pounds of butterfat and 628 pounds of protein.

The partnership of Millie Widmann and Axel Linde own the 74 cows that rounds out the top three herds for the 1996 commercial herd award. The Lindenhof herd of Oxford, Pennsylvania, had a lactation average of 18,153 pounds of milk, 811 pounds of butterfat and 624 pounds of protein, and an energy corrected milk average of 20,931 pounds.

The American Guernsey Association is the national organization for the registration and promotion of Guernsey cattle and is headquartered in Reynoldsburg, Ohio.

James Trotter To Be Honored

American Guernsey Association, Indiana Guernsey Breeders' Association, Indiana Livestock Breeders' Association, and Vanderburgh County Farm Bureau.

Honors include Friends of Agriculture Award and Rural-Urban Award. Lee said, "My greatest achievement is that we raised three honest sons who love God, love life, love family, love the Guernsey cow, and appreciate a hard day's work."

Riggs' herd achievements include Green Ridge cows that have been on DHI for 51 years, 100 percent registered herd, TPE herd, and numerous awards at Guernsey shows. He has always been a real promoter of the Guernsey breed and has held every office in the Indiana Guernsey Breeders' Association, as well as, serving on various committees.

At present, he is the president of the Indiana State Dairy Association which maintains the DHI program in Indiana. Robert E. Jones, service coordinator, said that Lee has served on their board for many years and has given excellent service.

Phil Sparks, president of the Indiana Guernsey Breeders' Association said that Lee has always been a true leader, and always promoted the dairy industry, the Guernsey cow and our youth.

Advancing The Way You Harvest... Again.

At GLEANER we never stop looking for ways to improve your bottom line. So we've put our heads together and have come up with new features on the 1997 combines designed to increase your profits, enhance performance and strengthen reliability. So keep reading.

- ADJUSTABLE SEPARATOR GRATE
  This new feature improves performance and efficiency in extreme crop conditions while increasing your profit potential.
- INSULATED EXHAUST PIPE
  A double wall and insulated exhaust pipe reduces the external temperature and the potential for heat build up
- LOWER ACCESS (LEAF SCREEN) DOOR HANDLES
  Handles have been installed on the lower access doors, making it more convenient to close the screens
- FOREIGN OBJECT/STONE TRAP
  The optional foreign object/stone trap gives you a choice in the kind of stone protection you want. The stone trap is a helpful alternative to the thresher concave door and offers two types of protection.
- HEADER DRIVE JACK SHAFT
  The constant speed header drive jack shaft has been redesigned on the grain version combines to give you better performance and greater reliability
- VARIABLE SPEED CORN HEADER DRIVE BELT
  An improved variable speed corn header drive belt increases belt life and improves power transfer and performance.
- REAR FEED DRUM ARMS
  The rear feed drum arms have been redesigned for additional strength and reliability. And the floating drum improves feeding while increasing harvest productivity.
- REAR CONVEYOR FLOOR CROSS MEMBER REDESIGN
  The thickness of the material in the rear conveyor floor cross member has been increased to extend its life and reduce maintenance costs.
- DISTRIBUTION AUGERS AND TROUGHS
  In the grain distribution system of the R62 and R72, we've redesigned the front distribution auger, and the right rear inner trough has been removed to improve distribution. The changes make for improved cleaning capacity and better performance
- SHOCK ABSORBER
  An improved shock absorber improves the reliability of the grain bin unloading auger. The efficient, high-capacity, swivel unloading system provides less grain damage and lower horsepower consumption with fewer moving parts and easy clean out.
- FRONT FEED DRUM EXTENSION (LTM)
  Improves feeding in wheat when using the model 400 rigid grain headers with the lateral tilt mechanism.

To see these new advancements for yourself, contact your nearest GLEANER dealer today. They'll be glad to show you how these new additions can make a significant difference to your bottom line.

Lancaster Holds Holstein Event

The four-year-old class at Spruce-Edge Farm.

A few of the more than 250 dairy farmers that attended the Lancaster County Holstein field day Thursday evening are shown judging the classes. This was the first time the event was held in the evening and a free pig roast sponsored by Powl's Feed Service, Peach Bottom was a big part of the program. Hosts for the evening at Spruce-Edge Farm, were Ed, Arlene, Brian, and Jill Harnish. The winners in the judging contest are: men, Park Ranck Jr., and Rick Wadel; women, Deb Hershey, and Susan Howard; and youth, Justin Risser, and Timothy Erb.

Eleven Year Technician, Downie Returns To Northeast DHIA

ITHACA, N.Y. — As anyone who has ever used any kind of DHIA service can tell you, a good technician makes all the difference. When asked about Jeanne Downie, farmers quickly tell you how happy the are to have Jeanne back and, when asked to describe their Northeast DHIA service, they easily rattle off adjectives such as "accurate," "dependable," and "friendly."

Jeanne Downie had been a Farm Service Technician for Northeast DHIA for eleven years. Leaving to try something new, she returned after about a year. "I really missed the farmers," begins Jeanne. "I think there just isn't a better group of people to work with." Jeanne's dedication is obvious as she talks about re-learning the Dairy Comp 305 software. "I am really working hard to learn the software because I know how valuable it is to them on testday. They used to have to wait but now they can get so much more right away."

Northeast DHIA provides Dairy Comp 305 to all their Farm Service Technicians. On-going training allows Techs to become more familiar with the scope and power of the software which means they are in a better position to provide superior service. The Technicians also have a solid support team in Ithaca to help with any questions or problems. "With Dairy Comp 305 we can get our Action Sheets from Jeanne right on testday. We also get some other customized reports along with the vet check report. We are very happy with both the service we receive from Jeanne, and with Northeast DHIA," notes Rachael Cipperly of Boiling Brook Farm in Hoosick Falls, New York.

If you would like more information about Northeast DHIA records services, or would like to schedule an appointment with Jeanne, please call her at (518) 854-3011, or call 1-800-DHI-COWS (1-800-344-2697), and press 1 for Farm Service.

Northeast DHIA Records Services is a farmer owned cooperative and currently serves over 3600 members in the nine state areas of Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

The Dairy One assured, Northeast DHIA Records Service strives to deliver more substance to the farms it services. Cooperative Dairy One works to get needed change done in the dairy industry.

Directors Appointed To Commodity Boards

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Acting-Secretary Samuel E. Hayes Jr. this week announced appointments to the commodity and research marketing boards that assist in marketing a variety of Pennsylvania's agricultural products.

"The state's commodity boards are vital to the promotion of Pennsylvania's agricultural industry," Hayes said. "Each board member is a proven leader and is ready to address the challenges and responsibilities of his or her respective program."

In the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Program appointed were Kay E. Hollabaugh, Biglerville, Adams County; Gail McPherson, New Park, York County; and Lee Showalter, Chambersburg, Franklin County.

To the Pennsylvania Peach and Nectarine Research Program, appointed were Calvin Beekman, Boyertown, Berks County; David Kuhn, Orrtanna, Adams County; Paul J. Lerew, York Springs, Adams County; and Thomas Rosazza, Avondale, Chester County.

In the Pennsylvania Potato Research Program, appointed were David A. Bender, Chambersburg, Franklin County; Seth Ballog, Union City, Erie County; and James W. Ringler, Berlin, Somerset County.

In the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program, appointed were Robert Constantine, Smock, Fayette County; James Hoopes, Ulysses, Potter County; Robert Kilgore, Broque, York County; and Robert Trax, Finleyville, Washington County.

Board members serve a maximum term of three years, and are appointed by the agriculture secretary upon recommendations made by industry leaders, the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, the Pennsylvania Farmers Union and the Pennsylvania State Grange.

For more information on commodity marketing and research boards, please contact Mike Varner at (717) 787-6901.

Tobacco Blue Mold

Blue mold is spread by airborne spores that are released when you see the blue-gray mold on the underside of the leaf.

The blue mold on the North Carolina transplants are suspected to be RIDOMIL insensitive since the grower in North Carolina had used RIDOMIL on his plant beds. At the present time (except for the two plant beds), the blue mold was observed only on the North Carolina transplants. For this reason, we are recommending that the transplants that came from North Carolina be destroyed so that the amount of blue mold inoculum will be reduced.

Every grower should start spraying their tobacco (beds and field) with a protective fungicide. We still recommend that you use RIDOMIL preplant, but then spray the field transplants with a protective fungicide. At the present time, the only labeled material we have as a protectant is DITHANE DF (State label). DITHANE DF should be sprayed at 1.5 lbs per acre (small plants) 2 lbs per acre (larger plants). You should apply this protectant spray every 5 to 10 days, or reapply after a heavy rain. DITHANE DF is a protectant so spray coverage of the entire plant is extremely important. It is also important for every grower to protect their plant beds. Spray the plant beds with 10 level tablespoons of CARBAMATE WDG (ferbam) in one gallon of water for a seedbed 6 x 50 ft. Again this is a protectant, so coverage is important. Seedbeds should be sprayed every 5 days or after every watering.

Since we are so early in the tobacco production season and since the North Carolina transplants have been spread over the tobacco producing area (Lancaster, Lebanon, Centre and Union Counties), all Pennsylvania tobacco is at risk for serious damage from blue mold disease. It is extremely important for all growers to follow the recommendation to protect the Pa. tobacco crop.

Senate Ag Committee Promotes Milk

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Members of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee recently joined to promote Dairy Month in Pennsylvania by sporting "milk mustaches" like those worn in the popular advertising campaign.

Participating in the promotion were Sen. Noah Wenger (R-36), committee chairman Sen. Daniel S. Delp (R-28), Sen. Patrick Stapleton (D-41), Sen. John Wozniak (D-35), and former Agriculture Secretary Charles Brosius.

"On June 3, the Senate approved a resolution recognizing June as Dairy Month in the state," Wenger said. "Those of us on the Agriculture Committee got together with the dairy producers and processors and decided to celebrate the month and promote the industry by wearing the 'Got Milk' advertising campaign's mustaches. It's a fun way to make a serious point."

Wenger explained that the dairy business is crucial to Pennsylvania's economy because it makes up the largest part of the Commonwealth's number-one industry — agriculture.

He said the dairy industry accounts for $1.5 billion in farm income each year, or 38 percent of Pennsylvania's agricultural income. In addition, Pennsylvania's dairy industry makes up nearly 7 percent of the total milk production in the United States. Wenger added that there are 11,000 dairy farms, 39 manufacturers of dairy products, 33 fluid milk processors, and 26 milk producer dealers who make up the industry in Pennsylvania.

"Wearing the 'milk mustache' is a great way to promote a great Pennsylvania product," said Wenger.

In addition, the senator said, Pennsylvanians each year drink more than 250 million gallons of milk — the state's "official beverage."

"Drinking milk is a healthy habit that also supports our local economy," Wenger said.

Members of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee recently joined to promote dairy month in Pennsylvania by sporting "milk mustaches" and "Got Milk?" hats. Participating in the take-off on the two popular advertising campaigns paid for by dairy farmers are, from the left, Sen. John Wozniak, Sen. Patrick Stapleton, former Agriculture Secretary Charles Brosius, Senate Ag Committee Chairman Sen. Dan Delp, and Sen. Noah Wenger.

Northeast DHIA Recognizes Outstanding Quality Milk Award Winners

ITHACA, N.Y. — This year, through the Somatic Cell Program, Northeast DHIA is recognizing its members whose herds maintained an overall average of 175,000 cells or less by presenting them with the Outstanding Quality Milk Award.

Somatic cells are white blood cells and milk secreting cells normally found in milk. However, the healthier the herd's udders are, the lower the average cell count will be.

Careful milking procedures, good milking equipment maintenance and excellent herd management all contribute to a herd's low somatic count. Not only does a herd with a low somatic cell count include healthier cows and therefore produce more milk, but they set a standard of excellence for the entire dairy industry. Milk with lower somatic cell counts has a longer shelf like, and results in higher yields of cultured products.

Winners are presented with a barn sign and a year sticker the first year that they win the award and those who have won previous years are given a year sticker to add to that sign indicating another year of excellence.

Out of the approximately 3,900 members that Northeast DHIA serves, 291 were honored with the Outstanding Quality Milk award. Northeast DHIA congratulates them and wishes them continued success for 1997.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Corn, No.2y — 3.11 bu., 5.56 cwt.

Wheat, No. 2 — 3.71 bu., 6.19 cwt.

Barley, No. 3 — 2.76 bu., 5.90 cwt.

Oats, No. 2 — 2.15 bu., 6.72 cwt.

Soybeans, No. 1 — 8.54 bu., 14.27 cwt.

Ear Corn — 87.00 ton, 4.35 cwt.

Alfalfa Hay — 118.00 ton, 5.9 cwt.

Mixed Hay — 123.00 ton, 6.15 cwt.

Timothy Hay — 123.75 ton, 6.19 cwt.

Entries For Pot O'Gold Contest Due

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — Entries are due July 1 for the 1997 Pot O'Gold Production Contest.

Juniors between the ages of seven and 19 enter the Pot O'Gold Production Contest by purchasing one of the animals consigned to either the Western National Pot O'Gold Sale in Puyallup, Washington, or the All American Pot O'Gold Sale in Louisville, Ky.

Animals eligible for the 1997 contest would have been purcahsed in 1994. Funding for the contest equals 17 percent of the gross of the two sales.

The records completed by heifers purchased in these sales must be submitted to the American Jersey Cattle Association no later than July 1 to be eligible for competition.

The heifer must calve before reaching 30 months of age. The actual first lactation production is adjusted to the mature equivalent (305-day, 2x milking, age and month of calving). Adjusted records are then ranked according to the mature equivalent protein to determine the placings in the contest.

All heifers must be tested in a DHI or DHIR herd owned by the purchaser or the purchaser's parents or legal guardian. In the event this is not possible, a written request must be made to the All American Executive Committee by Dec. 31 of the year the heifer is purchased. The heifer can not be tested in the herd in which she is bred or consigned.

Juniors, related or un-related, may form a partnership to purchase animals in the Pot O'Gold sales as long as all other requirements are met.

Silo Unloader Technology Takes a Giant Leap Forward!

BIG JIM. Quantum™ SYSTEM

TOWER SILOS REALLY MEASURE UP!

Measure for measure, nothing beats a tower silo for storing forage. Just compare them to bunkers which have up to 45% storage loss, lower capacity, increased labor and lots of inconvenience.

Towers lose just 3% to 7% because of gravity, feed weight and a good unloader like the Big Jim QUANTUM System.

QUANTUM can be installed in any type of 20' to 30' forage silo. . . conventional or oxygen limited and will make your tower silo even better!

Hayes

ber one industry.

"We are in midstream at the moment," Hayes said. "We can't go back to the bank where we were. We have two choices. We can tread water as long as we have energy and then sink and drown, or we can move on to the next bank and go on straight ahead. Most of you know me and my inclination is not to tread water or to drink a lot of it. My inclination is to get to the next bank and start working on behalf of agriculture in renewed spirit, vigor, stick with the good ideas we have, and develop new ones."

Hayes was the representative from the 81st District of Huntindon and Blair Counties for more than 20 years, including the top leadership roles.

"This is not a one person show," Hayes said. "It was not my style in the legislature, and it is not going to be my style in the department of agriculture. It will take you and I working together. I believe progress in our society is measured by how healthy, excited, vibrant, and high-spirited the private sector is. The well-spring of our society is the private sector. The public sector is to enhance, promote, advocate, facilitate, and make possible. But the private sector, the men and women who professionally are agriculturalists in all the various segments of agriculture, is the well-spring. So I look forward to working with you as a team."

Later in the week Hayes was scheduled to appear before the Senate Ag Committee with the likely vote of confirmation coming next week.

Sattazahn is 63 and works at the home farm, with Ray.

"My father started his sons all out in farming," Ray said. "When we started on, a fellow (with a farm coming up for sale) came and aksed if any of the boys were interested in farming. We (Robert and Jane) were the only ones married," he said.

His father helped get them started dairying.

They started in Myerstown in 1954 with 24 cows and Delaval milkers (the kind that are set down along side the cow, not the kind that were suspended beneath the udder from an adjustable strap slung over the cow's back).

Like many others at the time, the coule lugged the buckets of milk to the cooler.

In 1955 or 1956 — he couldn't recall exactly — the electricity in Myerstown went off for a week and he had to borrow some different milkers and rig up a generator.

That experience led them to eventually find a dependable back-up electric power system. They went through several — including an Army surplus monster — before finding one at the state Farm Show.

After nine years in Myerstown area, they moved to the current farm — one Bob's father purchased and sold to Robert and Jane — in 1967.

The invested in building a modern operation that would provide the family with a future, as well as challenges.

They built new facilities. They had the herringbone parlor and 104-stall freestall barn and a 125-cow mostly registered Holstein herd.

For the time, it was much advanced technology.

The Sattazahns were among the first to use hutches, after seeing them at the state Farm Show.

In fact, Robert said he bought some other major items through Farm Show exhibits — three different Allis Chalmers/Deutz Allis tractors that had been displayed at the Farm Show, and a generator capable of running dependably off of a tractor (PTO) and providing enough juice to provide the electric needs for the entire farm and household, with everything turned on.

That's what Robert said they did when the salesman showed up with the model to provide a demonstration. They turned on all the electric to provide a full load test of the generator. It passed the muster.

The hills in the Host area of Berks County can get a little steep compared to relatively flat and rolling hills of the more central Lebanon Valley.

Robert said that when they were first at the farm, while some of them were working on a corn crib, his father told the others to go work on a certain field. "When we got to the hill, we didn't know what to do," Robert said, laughing. They stopped the tractor and looked at it.

While he and his brothers were very familiar driving tractor, they weren't familiar with significant slopes that can pose a challenge to keeping the center of gravity between the wheels.

The farm really is a small valley — the fields and woodlands are spread out from the farm house and barn and stream like a deal of cards held in a hand.

Fields are contoured and grass waterways prevent erosion. The flood plain of the stream is partially pastured, but mostly appears to be managed for erosion control.

The farm is isolated, though the din of traffic from Rt. 419 filters its way up the valley.

With all the children out on their own, last year the Sattazahns stopped milking three times per day. But they had milked three times per day for 35 years, starting back when they were farming in Myerstown.

It is perhaps quieter now that their herd has been reduced and the children are out on their own.

Their youngest son Mark, 31, lives on his own and works for Agway, but still manages to go to his parents' farm to help with feeding and other work.

Their oldest child is their daughter Rebecca "Becky" Harakel, who is secretary at a company, but who with her husband operates a side business of custom-printing T-shirts. The couple is printing T-shirts to sell to members of the Pennsylvania State Grange, which is celebrating its 125th annual meeting this year.

In fact, Robert and Jane said that at a Pomona (a county meeting involving the 12 subordinate Granges in Berks County) meeting June 7 that featured a visit by state Grange Master Bill Steel, about 100 members wore their T-shirts in a show of support.

Their two other sons are involved in the dairy industry.

The oldest son Nick, 38, worked for a Jersey herd for 10 years, and now works for Mill-Joy Dairy Farm where he is mostly responsible for crops and his wife milks one time per day.

Another son, George, 36, and his wife Robin, work for LynnAcres.

Both of the dairy herds are about 250 animals, Robert said.

Most of the Sattazahns' children have started their own families. The grandchildren visit. A wooden children's play structure with seat swings, overhead rungs, climbing ladders, and a rope swing is in the front yard of the old, thick-walled stone farm house.

The trees behind and around the house are old and seem perfectly mated to the house.

This is the older Berks County agricultural area. It is a remnant of the Pennsylvania German era in a way — isolated, thick, green and lush. Like many other farmers in the area, Robert speaks Pennsylvania German.

Involved in the Grange locally, at the county level and at the state level for years, Robert is one of three members of the Pennsylvania State Grange Dairy Committee. He started serving on the committee when Charlie Wisner was state master. The members serve to collect and prepare dairy policy for the Grange.

He has also served on the state Good of the Order Committee.

He has served various offices, such as county master, overseer, treasurer, etc.

The list is long.

In 1969, Robert and Jane were the first Pennsylvania State Grange Young Couple of the Year. They got to go to Florida for five days to compete in the national contest. It was their one and only trip to Florida.

But through the Grange bus trips they have seen a good bit of the United States and some of Canada.

This year they are headed for Wisconsin.

Robert was a leader for the Stouchsburg 4-H Community and then Dairy Club.

He has honorary FFA chapter and state degrees — three different chapters presented him with honorary degrees.

He has served as president of the Tulpehocken Young Farmers Association, actually helping to get it started.

Robert also recently received his 40-year membership pin from the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, served on the board of the Reading Fair, and president of the president of the Berks County Dairy Farmers Association, as well as a director on the Pa. State Grange Service Corporation, treasurer of the Southeast Pennsylvania District 4-H dairy show, and on the consistory of a nearby Trinity United Church of Christ, as well as being the current farmer representative on the state board to the Underground Storage Tank Indemnity Fund.

He is also involved with the county Pomona Consignment Sale Committee, which is scheduled to hold its 29th such sale starting 8:30 a.m., August 23 at the Leesport Auction.

There's more.

But he said he has had to cut back on some of his involvement also, now that they are on their own.

Nevertheless, that hasn't diminished his interest in what lies ahead for the dairy farm family.

He said he thinks federal orders are good and necessary, though he looks foward to the consolidation; he said sometime in the future membership in the Northeast Dairy Compact could be beneficial for Pennsylvania; he is a strong supporter of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board; and he thinks that the nation's desire for cheap food won't allow the dairy farm family to become extinct.

He noted that while the dairy farm family may be a generational tradition, or may be started by a young couple with no previous family involvement, it offers cheaper food, because it offers cheaper labor, and labor is still necessary to the production of food and fiber.

While a coroporate setting may be able to produce things cheaper due to reduction of labor, it still has higher labor costs.

Like all families, the dairy farm family is perhaps supposed to have its own life cycle — times for beginnings and endings.

But Sattazahn still worries about what is to become of the farm, his and those of others.

"It scares me, for a young farmer to get started with the costs increasing and the milk prices dropping," he said.

"There's a farmer I know. He's still farming. He's older than I am. He made money in his day, we did too.

"But he says, "The pile keeps getting littler and littler."

"The 'pile' is his money," Robert explained.

"Basically, the only way (for young people to enter dairy farming) is with the help of their parents."

PFB Supports State Ag Nominations

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB) is urging prompt Senate confirmation of Governor Ridge's nominees for Secretary of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (PMMB). The governor has nominated Samuel Hayes Jr. of Warriors Mark, Huntingdon County to the Agriculture Secretary's post and Luke Brubaker of Mt. Joy, Lancaster County to serve on the three-member PMMB.

In a recent letter to Sen. Dan Delp, chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, PFB president Guy Donaldson said, "Mr. Hayes has a distinguished career, both as a legislator and as an advocate for agriculture." Hayes retired from the state House in 1992 after serving 22 years, including 16 years in leadership positions. "While in the General Assembly, (Hayes) shepherded numerous agricultural legislative initiatives," Donaldson said, "and was instrumental in the adoption of Pennsylvania's farmland preservation program."

Hayes was the recipient of PFB's "Barn Raiser" award in 1992 in recognition of being a "tireless advocate for agriculture" during his years in the General Assembly. PFB has presented the award only seven times in its 46-year history.

"Mr. Hayes has strong qualifications for the position of Secretary of Agriculture," Donaldson wrote. "We are confident of his ability to lead the Department and to chart a positive course for the Commonwealth's number one industry in the future."

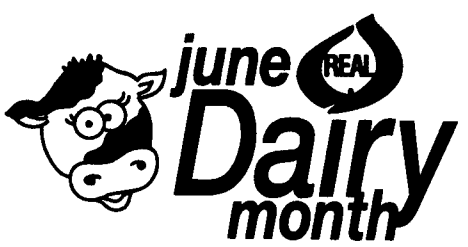
Luke Brubaker is the owner and operator of a 450-cow dairy farm in Lancaster County and is the manager of an 800-acre dairy agribusiness partnership. He has been nominated to a six-year term on the PMMB which regulates the dairy industry in Pennsylvania.

"Mr. Brubaker has proven himself to have substantial knowledge and understanding of the dairy industry and dairy marketing principles," Donaldson stated in a letter to Sen. Robert Mellow, the Senate Minority Leader. Brubaker is a member of the Mt. Joy Farmers Cooperative and received the Pennsylvania Dairy of Distinction award in 1995.

"(Brubaker) has also shown himself to be a capable leader both inside and outside of dairy circles," said Donaldson. "He currently serves as Chairman of the East Donegal Township Board of Supervisors, Chairman of the Farm Service Agency county committee, and is chairman of PFB's Poultry Meat Advisory Committee . . . We strongly encourage your support for Mr. Brubaker and prompt confirmation by the Senate of Pennsylvania."

Both nominations have already been approved by the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee. Confirmation for both will require two-thirds approval by the state Senate.

PFB is a voluntary, statewide organization representing 26,625 farm and rural families.



BEFORE YOU SIDEDRESS YOUR CORN WITH NITROGEN...

You have worked hard to get what you have
Before you spend $25 00 to $30 00 an acre to sidedress Nitrogen on your corn, spend just about $2 00 an acre to make sure you need it Many fields that have manure on them do not need sidedressed with Nitrogen A Pre-Sidedress Nitrogen Test will make sure
I will come to your farm, sample your fields and return in 3 to 5 days with the answer you need.

Pa. State Grange Praises Dairy Farmers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The leader of the Pennsylvania State Grange said the organization is proud to recognize the accomplishments of dairy farmers, as the Grange continues to work to increase producer profitability.

"With June being recognized as national and state dairy month, the Pennsylvania State Grange congratulates dairy farmers and their families for providing nutritious foods while pumping over $1.5 billion into the state's economy," William Steel, Grange master (president) said recently.

"The Pennsylvania State Grange reaffirms its commitment to be a voice for the dairy industry in legislative affairs," he said.

As an advocate for rural Pennsylvania, the Grange is a leading force in agricultural and rural issues. The Grange with more than 31,000 members in 66 counties, is a rural, agricultural and community service organization dedicated to improving the lives of rural Pennsylvanians through legislative action, offering member service and participating in community affairs.

In the face of falling milk prices during the last quarter of 1996, the Grange successfully petitioned the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board to continue the 80-cent over-order premium through April 1998. The over-order premium is the mandated price paid, above the federal price for milk.

The Grange also helped change the milk pricing formula after calling for an investigation for potential manipulation of the pricing system under the now-defunct National Cheese Exchange. Milk prices are now determined by a United State Department of Agriculutre national survey of cheese manufacturers.

"This is a better system because it automatically negates one manufacturer or company from artificially setting the price," said Brenda Shambaugh, State Grange legislative director. "This change a good starting point."

The Pennsylvania State and National Grange have both urged the United States Congress to establish a new federal order minimum price that is near the cost of production, which reflects actual market conditions, and one that is adjusted annually for inflation.

"A severe problem for dairy farmers is market volatility," Shambaugh said. "We believe that incorporating this type of pricing mechanism would lessen the instability we have seen throughout the industry in recent months."

Shambaugh said the Grange backs the reforms of the federal marketing order system, mandated under the provisions of the Federal Agriculture Improvements and Reform (FAIR) Act, as long as producers are given adequate time to transition from federal programs to international market forces governed by supply and demand.

"As we make the transition from production decisions governed by federal program parameters, and toward decisions based on the market's underlying supply and demand forces, it is imperative that United States dairy farmers are ready to compete in a world marketplace," Shambaugh said.

According to Shambaugh, the Grange supports reducing the number of orders in the program and other changes that are to have a positive impact on dairy farmers.

The Grange has called for reducing the number of federal orders from 32 to between 10 and 12.

Dairy Farm Profitability Can Have Many Different Management Styles

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) - In a summary of Northeast dairy farm profitability, Jonas Kauffman from the Pennsylvania Farm Credit Financial Partners, told a group of ag leaders Thursday morning that for a dairy farm to be profitable, a combination, rather than a single factor, is needed.

Speaking to the Ag Issues Forum, Kauffman based his comments on the new compilation of data that shows how dairy farmers, different in management style, can still be profitable. In the breakdown of various management styles in the Farm Credit records keeping system, Kauffmen listed these categories:

Good with cows.
Labor efficient.
Superior milk price.
Low cost.
Generalist.

The farmers that are good with cows spend more time and money on cow production. Average milk sold of 23,923 pounds per cow is the highest among the five styles.This high production allowed these farmers to achieve cost of production of $13.83 with the third highest net earnings per cow.

The efficient labor farmers managed the second highest herd average that resulted in milk sold per worker of over one million pounds. Farms in this management style averaged 54 cows per worker, well above average.

Superior milk price came from certain locations or from the colored breeds. Most farmers don't have much control over the price of milk they receive, but quality premiums, protein or specialty markets contributed to the profitability of these farms.

The low production cost group had a cost of $11.49 per cwt. Although milk per cow and milk per worker are below the top profit group, these farmers have implemented tight cost control to achieve their profits.

The generalist farmer is a good all-round manager, and although profits are somewhat less than the other styles of management, these farmers are able to respond quickly to adverse situations in their business. Many of the smaller farms are in this category.

There was a significant increase in dairy farm earnings in 1996, giving the highest net earnings since 1979. Still, many farms were not profitable with a good management needed. At the same time while earnings volatility continues, some dairy farmers consistently achieve superior results.

Like any other business, the profitability picture is dependent on keeping good records and knowing how to use them to better manage the farm.

Potato Diversion Program

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) has announced plans to pay potato growers to divert 1996 crop fresh Irish potatoes to charitable institutions and livestock feed.

The program applied to all types of Irish potatoes except sweet potatoes.

The USDA Farm Service Agency offices across the nation have application forms and are the agency accepting them. Contact a local FSA office (in the blue pages of a phone book) for an application form and more information.

The entire program is to run 60 days and acceptance based on the number of requests and the availability of funds.

However, the deadline for submitting applications to sell potatoes in the higher-paying charitable foods diversion is past — it was June 11.

The program application window for that diversion opened May 29, though the USDA announcement was made with short notice. The program paid $1.50 per hundred pounds of potatoes that were graded as U.S. No.2 (fairly clean). For those the USDA arranged and paid for transportation of the potatoes to charitable institutions.

The application deadline for the program diverting potatoes for use as livestock feed is July 28.

The price paid for those potatoes is 75 cents per hundred pounds of U.S. No.2 processing grade potatoes.

All potatoes must meet applicable grade requirements and be inspected and certified by federal, state, or USDA inspectors.

The program is national in scope and all growers are eligible to apply.

$5 Million For Avian Influenza

1997-98 fiscal year, which doesn't start until July 1. The amendments authorize the immediate ability to access that $5 million, while maintaining the rest of the spending to be held off until the next fiscal year.

The legislation specifically calls for the allocation of "$5 million for the eradication of avian influenza in this commonwealth. These funds are to pay for indemnification and as a depopulation incentive for live birds and poultry products destroyed during depopulation procedures, for manpower, equipment, and supplies, needed to destroy and dispose of infected poultry, and to clean and disinfect affected premises and other preventative and control measures and other necesssary expenses incurred by the (PDA) due to the avain influenza outbreak."

The $5 million is to be available through June 30, 1998.

In related actions, the Senate approved a resolution that directs the state Department of Agriculture to make a report to the Senate Ag and Rural Affairs Committee on the avain flu within 90 days.

The report is to be done in consultation with the poultry industry and a final report is to be issued within nine months.

The final report is to "... contain a plan to improve control and regulation of the 'live market' industry; a plan to establish an insurance, or an 'insurance-like' program, to deal with possible future outbreaks of this disease, or others of similar character; the rigorous enforcement of (state laws) particularly those provisions requiring the reporting of animal disease and those provisions relating to penalties; and...

"... That the final report contain a long-range risk reduction plan that includes specific research plans, biosecurity regulations for the poultry industry and the framework for destruction of flocks should an outbreak occur in the future."

In other action in Harrisburg, the Senate Ag and Rural Affairs Committee on Tuesday approved the nomination of Acting Secretary of Agriculture Sam Hayes to be secretary, as well as the nomination of Luke Brubaker, owner/operator of a 450-cow dairy farm in Lancaster, to serve on the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board.

More action is expected in Harrisburg regarding these issues this coming week.

Farmers' Market Nutrition Program Distributes Funds

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — On behalf of Gov. Tom Ridge, Acting Agriculture Secretary Samuel E. Hayes Jr. this week announced that over $1.34 million will be distributed to Pennsylvania's women and children enrolled in the Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (FMNP) during July and August.

"This innovative program encourages the habit of eating fresh fruits and vegetables to nutritionally-at-risk pregnant mothers, nursing mothers and children ages three and four," said Hayes.

"Low-income families have been found to be deficient in vitamin A, vitamin C and fiber — nutrients provided by fruits and vegetables.

"This program is a wonderful opportunity to promote better health and increase support for Pennsylvania's 300 farm markets that support the Farmers' Market Nutrition Program."

Expectant mothers, nursing mothers, and children ages three and four, enrolled in the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) are encouraged to apply.

Eligible individuals should contact their local WIC office or call 1-800-WIC-WINS (1-800-942-9467) for more information.

DAIRY WEEK

DAIRY MARKET PRICE COMMENTARY

According to the USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service, butter production was 117.0 million pounds in April, 7% above April 1996 and 12% above March 1997. American type cheese production totaled 280.9 million pounds, 1% above April 1996 but 1% below March 1997.

Total cheese output was 598.3 million pounds, 1% below April 1996 and 6% below March 1997.

Nonfat dry milk production, for human food, totaled 120.3 million pounds, 3% above April 1996 and 10% above March 1997.

Milk production is often lower in the southern regions where temperatures are hot, but it is increasing in the Northwest, Mountain States, Upper Midwest and Northeast.

FUTURES AND CASH PRICES

The amount of milk in inventory following the peak of the flush season has continued to weigh on dairy futures prices of raw milk and BFP. Cheese prices are expected to be pressured as surplus milk goes to cheese production in the Midwest, traders said.

At the New York Coffee, Sugar, and Cocoa Exchange, raw milk futures were slightly lower on the heels of increasing milk production in the country. June raw milk futures were down 17c at $11.48, while Aug. also fell 17c to $13.33.

BFP milk futures were mixed, June rose 2c to $10.95, while July fell 5c to $11.50.

CSCE's nonfat dry milk futures were unchanged on Wednesday. June settled at 104.50c, while Aug. remained at 108.20c Cheese futures were also unchanged with June at 116.00c and Aug. at 129.50c.

On Wednesday, CSCE cheddar cheese futures open interest was steady at 36 lots, raw milk futures volume was steady at 92 lots, nonfat dry milk was steady at 94 lots and butter futures were steady at 196 lots.

Open interest in the CSCE BFP milk futures market was up another 4 lots Wednesday at a large 946 lots. Traders said with more players, the market is increasing in volatility.

At the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, Grade AA cash butter decreased on Friday 1/4c to $1.1275. Grades A and B were both unchanged at $1.0500.

On Wednesday, CME BFP milk open interest was still at 1 lot, with virtually no trade activity in that market. CME butter futures, however, were up 5 lots of open interest at 337 on 42 lots of volume Wednesday.

CME Aug. BFP milk futures were settled at $12.32/cwt. Butter futures were up sharply on Thursday. June was up 1.8c at 111c, while July rose 1.25c to settle at 112c .

FEED GRAINS

This morning's USDA report raised Kansas' wheat production estimate from 342.4 million bushels to 363.8 million. Overall, the report likely will combine with other market factors, such as rain and the Wheat Quality Council's recently completed soft red winter wheat tour, to pus US cash prices 3-5c lower for soybeans, 1-5c lower for wheat and 1-2c lower for corn, merchants said.

Needed rain in portions of Nebraska and western Iowa is weighing on cash prices.

The report also raised its 1996-97 soybean ending stocks projection which caused the market to soar in early trading.

Forecasters said rain is likely the next few days in the southwest Midwest and Ohio River Valley, where farmers already have fields with water standing in them.

More rain probably will lead to more serious consideration of replanting corn and soybeans, especially in southern Indiana, merchants said. But many think it might be too late to replant corn in some areas.

The Dairy Products Committee met last week to discuss recent changes made to the standard of the butter futures contract at the CME. The Committee decided to rescind its changes, which had already been approved by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission and were set to be adopted June 23.

Local Parts Manager Wins Pick-Up

RICHLAND (Lebanon Co.) — It's official. Leon Stauffer, parts manager for Lebanon Valley Implement Company, was no fool when he entered his name in the AGCO parts division "Gearing Up in 1996" dealer incentive sweepstakes program. It was lights, camera, and action recently as Leon was surprised in his office by Andy Wolfe, AGCO parts sales manager, and the AGCO parts marketing team, announcing that he was this years' grand prize winner of a 1997 Dodge RAM 1500 4x4 pick-up truck. Leon couldn't help but smile as his wife Dolores, who was summoned by co-workers, stood by his side as he accepted the prize.

The "Gearing Up in 1996" sweepstakes program, sponsored by AGCO parts division, which supplies parts for Massey Ferguson equipment, AGCO and White tractors, and 11 other popular brands of farm equipment sold by AGCO Corporation, was designed to increase consumer traffic and parts sales in the local AGCO/ Massey Ferguson dealerships. With each promotional order placed, dealerships had an increasing opportunity to enter the sweepstakes. After selling promotional orders, Leon took the time to fill out and enter what turned out to be the grand prize winning game card.

In on the secret was Leon's employer, John Zimmerman. Leon thanked his employer and fellow employees for their support in promoting the AGCO sweepstakes program.

Charles Good of Lancaster was an innovator in 1972 when he bought the first of the family's many Harvestore® structures. Like his father, John is also a progressive farmer and recently had Penn Jersey install a new state-of-the-art Alliance™ unloader. John's sons Steve and Phil encouraged their dad to make the purchase because they wanted reliable, quality equipment.

Len-Lyn Farms Switch From Holsteins To Bedding

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

STEVENS (Lancaster Co.) — For four generations the red and white striped barns on the edge of Stevens have been more than an eye-catcher for passerbys.

The striped barns housed the show winning Len-Lyn Holsteins of the Crouse family. Embryo transplants were commonplace. But in January of this year, the registered dairy herd was sold.

It was no easy decision for Phil Crouse who took over the dairy in 1992. At that time, his dad Galen wanted more time to concentrate on his trucking business.

When Phil wasn't milking or doing the field work, he helped out his dad by delivering wood shavings to local dairy and poultry farmers. Trucking and farming seemed compatible.

In the last few years, the trucking business, which also delivers mulch, boomed while dairy prices have spiraled downward.

Crouse sold the 80 milking cows but continues to raise 50 heifers and 50 dairy bulls and crop farm 130-acres with corn, soybeans, and alfalfa.

Phil his brother Neil, and dad Galen formed a partnership to operate the trucking business called Len-Lyn Farms.

Many of the barns are now filled with sawdust, which Crouse said farmers often prefer to use for bedding because it works well with liquid manure systems.

"It's cheaper than straw, easier to work with, and absorbs better than other bedding," Crouse said.

The partnership picks up shavings from logging businesses and stores the shavings on two sheds on the farm.

About nine years ago, the Crouses built a home on the land bordering the farm. To tend to the young stock, Crouse takes a short hike from his yard through a field to the farm buildings.

The Crouse children, Adriane, 8, and Lane, 11, attend Lititz Area Mennonite School.

With the upcoming benefit auction held for the school every year, the Crouse family wanted to help.

The give-what-you-have concept inspired Crouse to donate baled shavings and mulch from the Len-Lyn Farms.

The benefit auction will cover budgeted operating expenses. The auction is an annual event, but for Phil and Gail, raising school funds is an ongoing responsibility. Both serve on the school finance committee, which is overseeing a building expansion.

"Groundbreaking for the $500,000 LAMS addition is scheduled for spring of 1998 if we have 80 percent of the projected cost on hand at that point," Gail said.

That means $400,000 is needed. Presently about $270,063 has been received or pledged. To help in the fund raising, Gail designed a brochure for the building project.

Because the community needs soccer fields, the Lititz Soccer Club has donated to the fundraiser for the opportunity to use the fields during off-school hours.

Since the Crouse no longer have the daily responsibility of milking cows, they have more time to volunteer for causes they believe in. In January, the Crouses went on a 10-day mission trip to Western Africa. With a group of 27 from the Lancaster Christian Missionary Alliance Church, they put a roof on the African church and helped with school and community outreaches. Gail sang with a musical group. People live in open huts in the tropical hot and humid area, but the real surprise to the Crouses was that the villagers did not drink milk or use any dairy products.

"They said Americans smell like spoiled milk," Gail said.

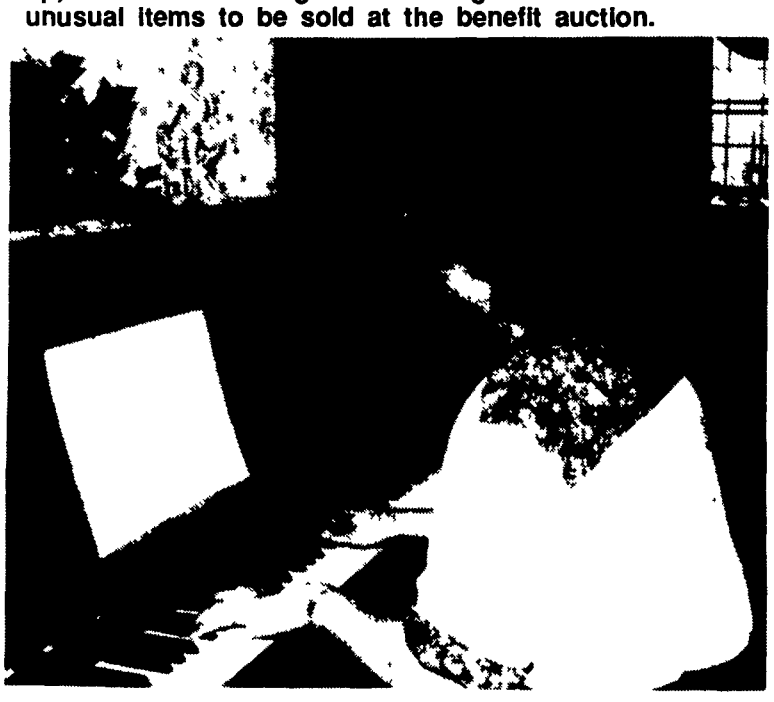
She agreed that the villagers do indeed emit a different odor than Americans.

Goats and water buffalo were prevalent for meat. The village women seem to do all the manual labor while the men sat around in the market place and sewed.

Music plays a large role in Gail's life. She teaches piano lessons, and

(Turn to Page B3)

Adriane and Lane enjoy playing in the wood shavings. The wood shavings will be baled and sold at the Lititz Area Mennonite School Auction held June 27-28. Innovative ideas for raising money for organizations continue to crop up, but baled shavings for bedding is one of the more unusual items to be sold at the benefit auction.



Music plays a big role in Gail's life. She teaches piano and assists in school and church musical programs.

For many years the red and white striped barns housed Len-Lyn Holsteins, known for show cattle and embryo transplanting. Now many of the buildings are storage for wood shavings that the Crouse family delivers to farmers to use for livestock bedding.

Phil Crouse loads some mulch for delivery that is in demand this season.

Phil and Gail Crouse with children, Adiane, 8, and Lane Crouse raises about 50 head of heifers and bull calves on the farm.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Lititz Area Mennonite School To Hold Auction

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Lititz Area Mennonite School's 20th Annual Benefit Auction will be held Friday, June 27, and Saturday, June 28.

Festivities will begin on Friday with a chicken barbecue to be held from 3:00 to 7:00 p.m. Eat-in will be available on drive-thru take outs to make pick ups easier for the hungry patron. The $4.75 dinner will include a roll, chicken, baked potato, cole slaw, apple sauce and drink. For the smaller appetite, chicken only can be purchased.

Displaying some of the items to be sold at the Lititz Area Mennonite School Auction are Bonnie Hoover and Carolyn Hurst holding the quilt with students Becky Barnhart, 13, and Joel Martin, 14.

Friday's auction will begin at 6:00 p.m. with crafts, flowers, and certificates being auctioned. The popular Winross truck and collectible toy sale will begin at 8:00 p.m. Friday night. As always, the many beautiful quilts and artwork to be auctioned on Saturday will be on display in the school for prospective buyers to peruse. Also on Friday evening, "Monkey Business," a Christ-centered puppet ministry will be on hand to entertain the children.

Saturday's events will begin bright and early with a Country Style "All You Can Eat" Buffet Breakfast served from 6:30 to 9:30 a.m. The auction begins Saturday at 9:00 a.m. with gift certificates to be auctioned at 10:30 a.m.

For the sports enthusiast, there will be autographed sports cards, and an autographed photo of Roberto Alomar. This year's artwork, auctioned at noon, includes two handcrafted 3-D pictures made by Aaron K. Zook, titled "Barn Raising" and a 14"x14" picture "Thrashing."

Prints by artists Barbara Mock, Janet Kruskamp, Laurie Korsgarden, Mark Arian, Robert Duncan, and T.C. Chic, and a limited edition print by John Akers will be auctioned. Original watercolors, "Millway Road" by Rosene Hollinger and "Untitled" by Rosanne Burkholder, both artists from the school's patron body will also be auctioned.

The ever popular quilt auction begins at 1:00 p.m.

Throughout the auction, there will be sand art, train rides, face painting, fish/ball toss, a Treasure store, miniature golf, and the ever popular Moon Walk to entertain the children.

New for the children to enjoy will be a petting zoo provided by Hammercreek Exotic Zoo.

The school is located at 1050 East Newport Road, Lititz, Pa. Take 501 North through Lititz to Newport Road, turn right and go approximately 2 miles to the school on the right. For more information call the school at (717) 626-9551.

plays piano for the church worship team, and has directed several church musical dramas. Gail volunteers at school such as accompanying the field trips and choir.

Adriane plays piano and Lane plays the soprano saxaphone. The children participate in the school spring concert and in providing musical programs for two nursing homes.

Both children love soccer. Lane also plays ice hockey.

"It's in the Crouse blood," Phil said of his family's reputation for hockey competition played on the farm pond.

While the purposes of the red and white barns have changed, farming continues to be a way of life for the Crouse family.

"It's important to get the alfalfa cut early in the bud stage," said Phil, who places his field work above trucking responsibilities.

Canning Updates

It's that time of year again to consider what you are going to do with your garden excess. You can eat it now, give the extra to everyone you know or process it for use this winter. Canning is one of three options for processing, the others are freezing and dehydrating. In today's column we will look at the latest information using the canning option. Grandmother's method of heating the food and placing it into sterilized jars (open kettle canning) is not an acceptable method even for jams and jellies. All canned foods need to be processed after the food is placed in jars.

The two safe methods for home canning preservation are the boiling water bath and the pressure canner method. The method is determined by the food you are preserving. All low-acid foods (vegetables and meats) must be processed in a pressure canner. High acid foods (fruits and tomatoes), high sugar foods (jams and jellies) and pickled foods can be canned using the hot water bath.

What you need when canning:

•Start with top quality food; canning doesn't improve the quality of the food.

•Use only standard, modern canning jars.

• Check the rim of the jars for any nicks, even a very minor imperfection can cause seal failure.

•Use the two piece lid consisting of a metal screw band and lid with sealing compound around the circumerfence. Purchase new lids each year as the sealing compound may be damaged during storage. The metal bands are reusable as long as they are in good condition.

•Use the correct method and canner for the type of food you are processing.

There are two methods for preparing food for the jars — raw (cold) pack and hot pack. Raw pack is the fastest method as you pack the raw food into the jar and cover with boiling liquid (water or sugar syrup). An advantage of the hot pack method is that you can get more food in the jars. Use the liquid that you cook the food in as the liquid in the jar. The hot pack also reduces the air in the food and keeps the foods from "floating."

Using a plastic or wooden spoon, run along the inside of the jar to remove trapped air. Don't use a metal knife as it might make scratches on the jar which will weaken the jar and could cause breakage during the canning process. Be sure to allow the recommended "head space" (space allowed at the top of the jar without liquid) listed in the recipe. The head space will vary depending on the method — pressure canning using the raw pack requires the largest amount of head space. Failure to follow recipe recommendations can result in broken jars and failed seals if liquid or food is forced out of the jar during the processing. Clean the rim of the jar with a damp paper towel to remove liquid or food particles before placing a hot lid on the top of the jar. Turn on the screw band till tight; don't over tighten or leave too loose.

Steps for boiling water bath used for high acid foods, jams and jellies and pickled foods.

•Fill canner half-full of water and heat to warm for raw packed food or hot packed foods.

•Place jars in canner in a rack that allows water to circulate around the jars.

•Add boiling water if needed so jars are covered with at least one inch of water over the jars.

•Turn heat to high and bring water to a boil. Start counting the processing time when the water starts to boil. The heat can be reduced but be sure it continues to boil all the time; dropping below the boiling point interrups the processing.

•When the jars have been processed the required time, turn off the heat and remove the jars to a cooling rack.

It takes about 20 to 30 minutes for the water in a canner of jars to come to a boil. You then have to allow the correct time for the food you are processing. You can remove the jars immediately when the time is completed.

Steps for using the pressure canner for low acid foods — vegetables and meats. There are two types of pressure canners — the dial gauge or the weighted gauge. The dials needs to be checked for accuracy each year. Call your local Cooperative Extension office to arrange to have our gauge checked. If the gauge reads too low you will be overprocessing your food but if the gauge reads too high you will be underprocessing the food and your product will not be safe to use.

•Place two to three inches of hot water in the canner and place filled jars in the jar rack. Fasten the canner lid securely.

•Leave the weight off or the petcock open until steam escapes for 10 minutes. This is a very important step. Air that is not forced out of the canner during this process lowers the temperature reached at 5, 10 or 15 pounds of pressure resulting in underprocessing.

•After steam has escaped for 10 minutes close the petcock or place the weigh on the canner. Watch the gauge and bring the pressure to the recipe recommendation.

•Start timing the process when the pressure reading on the dial reaches the recommendation or the weighted gauge begins to jiggle.

•Regulate the heat to maintain a steady pressure. Quick and/or large pressure variations during processing may cause unnecessary liquid losses from jars.

•When processing time is completed, turn off the heat and remove canner from heat. Do not force-cool the canner. Cooling the canner with cold running water or opening the vent before the canner is fully depressurized will cause loss of liquid from jars, seal failures and may cause jars to break.

•When the vent lock drops to the normal position you can open the lid and remove the jars to a cooling rack.

The pressure canner method requires 12 to 15 minutes of heating before it begins to vent; another 10 minutes to vent the canner and about 5 minutes to pressurize the canner. The processing time is started at this point. The cooling period varies from 20 to 60 minues depending on jar size, jar numbers and the product being processed. Remember to cool jars from either process in a draft free area and separate jars from each other so air can circulate around them.

Canning is an exact science and it's essential that you use up-to-date recommendations and follow the recipes exactly. Each approved recipe is tested using the specific ingredient and the specified amount of the ingredient. Changing the ingredients or adjusting the amount of an ingredient in a recipe will alter the acidity of the recipe making the processing time invalid.

Canning is a time consuming process and there really aren't any shortcuts. Each season, methods surface claiming there are faster ways to preserve your food, none of these are safe. Do not use your oven, microwave or dishwasher as a canner. The steam canner method that is not pressurized is also unsafe. Adding aspirin to food is sometimes recommended as a substitute for processing, this is an unsafe practice since there isn't any heat to force the air out of the jar to achieve a vacuum seal.

Be sure to follow canning recipes and recommendations exactly to ensure a safe food product. You can purchase the USDA canning book from your Cooperative Extension office for $6.50. You can also have your pressure canner gauge checked, just make an appointment with your local office. If you have questions about recipes you have used for years, call the extension office to check if it follows the latest recommendations.

ONCE A DAY DOES PAY

More than 30 million Americans consume milk just once a day (mainly at breakfast or dinner), but they drive nearly 20% of total fluid milk volume, or 1.2 billion gallons.

Slow. Slow as molasses in January.

That was a familiar saying of my family's, used to describe something or someone that took way more time than necessary to accomplish a particular task. If you've ever tried to pour molasses in cold weather — molasses stored in the unheated pantries of an earlier era — the phrase is self-explanatary.

And it certainly describes the state of our strawberries this June. We were beginning to wonder if the strawberries would be ripe by Independence Day. Fact is, trying to get to the berry harvest has been a battle all season.

This is the first year of bearing for our rejuvenated little patch of strawberry plants, re-done last summer after the old planting had worn out. Strawberry plantings, like the alfalfa hay stands most of us area dairy producers raise to feed our "girls," generally have only few years of really productive life in our southcentral Pennsylvania climate, then need to be replanted. Our patch pretty much gave out two years ago, supplemented by a more reliable supply of berries from nearby "U-pick" plantings.

For the last several weeks, we had watched the development of the new patch. And wondered if we would harvest any at all strawberries this year. One early May morning brought the surprising and disappointing revelation that the first blooms were opening with black centers - death by unexpected frost. Apparently the temperatures had dropped even further than we'd been aware earlier that week; a layer of floating row cover went over the plants during the next chilly stretch.

Then, the unreasonable lack of moisture threatened to greatly curtail the remaining berry yield. I lamented to The Farmer about mid-May that, if the berries didn't soon have a good watering, we could kiss goodbye the possibility of another year's harvest of ice-cream topping and jam material. Timely, welcome rains — even a downpour or two — came to the rescue and the languishing little green berries swelled and grew fat.

Gradually, a berry or two along the edge began to take on a pinkish-orange hue. We made almost daily checks on their progress. Then one day, the earliest visible berry, about two-thirds red-ripe, had a gigantic bite taken out of the red part.

Expected culprits lurked all over the yard. Robins. And our gregarious, noisy mockingbirds. While we enjoy having both these friendly species of birds around, their taste for berries points them right at the strawberries, raspberries and one surviving blueberry bush. They love our strawberries. There's a limit to friendship and tolerance. Gobbling up our small supply of carefully-watched strawberries crosses that line.

Having already battled frost and escaped berry-patch drought, I instituted the next safeguard — lenghts of discarded hay net-wrap. When the round baler monitor registers that a bale has reached the proper size, it goes into a beeping mode for the machine to be activated to wrap lenghts of the nylon netting around the roll of hay. The netting keeps the bale tightly wrapped and helps it shed water if stored outside. It's similar to the material available in garden centers for the express purpose of covering fruit crops from hungry feathered friends. We just happen to have oodles of it available as a crop discard.

Birds tend to avoid the netting because of an instinctive sense of entanglement. Its effectiveness was demonstrated to me again a few weeks ago, when I found one of our noisy barnyard roosters with his feet firmly wrapped into a piece of the stuff. He screeched, squawked, and flopped me; you'd have thought I planned to attack his neck rather than free his feet. I finally more or less had to sit on him to cut the net-wrap loose with a sharp scissors.

Smarter then the squawky rooster, the berry-loving birds have learned to tip-toe alongside the edge of the patch and take a peck of any berry not totally enveloped in the netting. Plus, something is busy under the netting — something that lives in holes in the ground and had taken bites out of about two dozen berries found while picking the other day.

If we confirm that it's a rat, as suspected, there will be a side-dish offered with the strawberries.

And ... it won't be ice cream.

Button-Size Batteries Hazard

The National Button Battery Ingestion Hot Line (202-625-3333) is available 24 hours a day to advise parents if they suspect a child has swallowed a button-size battery. Immediate medical attention is necessary and in most cases an X-ray is required.

Parents are advised not to permit babies and toddlers to play with toys powered by button-size batteries. For older children's toys, secure the battery compartment with tape.

Dispose of used batteries immediately and keep replacement batteries locked up where young children cannot handle them.

Dairy Recipes Galore From Cow Mania Contest

As dairy products become more diversified, more and more recipes are flooding the market. With new and improved products ranging from no-fat to whole milk with extra cream, to a wide variety of yogurts and ice creams, cheese and spreads, the possibility for new tastes show up in the recipes from our readers.

This is the second installment of recipes from our readers who sent in dairy recipes for the cow mania drawing. Two more weeks of the contest recipes will be printed. The June 28th issue will include the names of the persons who win the cow mania prizes. Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Angela Werley will select the winning names.

Don't forget to clip these recipes for a winning meal made with real dairy products.

DOROTHY'S CORN BREAD

¾ cup sugar
⅓ cup butter
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup sour cream
½ cup sour milk
¾ cup corn meal
1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspon baking powder

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Cream together sugar and butter, beat in eggs, sour milk, and sour cream. Add dry ingredients and mix. Pour into greased 8x8-inch pan. Bake 20 minutes until golden brown.

BLUEBERRY COBBLER

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups blueberries
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup milk
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites

Melt butter in 8x8-inch pan. Sprinkle on top. Beat egg yolks. Add sugar, beat, add and beat in milk, flour, baking powder, and salt. In another bowl, beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter. Pour batter over blueberries and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until done. This is good to eat warm with milk or ice cream.

SOUR CREAM COOKIES

1½ cups sugar
½ cup shortening
1 cup sour cream
2 eggs
3½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
Lemon or vanilla flavoring

Cream sugar and shortening, add sour cream and eggs. Add remaining ingredients while mixing. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar mixture when on a cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees. Makes 3 dozen.

My name is Jalesha Hess.

I'm seven weeks old and we live in Gettysburg. My daddy John works on a dairy farm with his family.

My parents are big dairy product eaters and I'm sure I will be someday too. I can't cook or bake yet, but this is a recipe my mommy Jaylene likes.

I would also like to wish the greatest daddy a Happy First Father's Day. I love you, Daddy.

Turkey, Veggie & Cheese Wrap requires minimal ingredients and effort. Start with a tortilla and cover it with juicy tomato wedges, green pepper strips, and shredded lettuce tossed in ranch dressing. Add sliced turkey and for a burst of flavor, sprinkle a handful of shredded cheddar cheese over the top top.

GRANDMA'S FUDGE SAUCE

½ cup milk
2 tablespoons buter
1 ounce baking chocolate
1 cup sugar

Boil everything together for 2 minutes. Serve hot over vanilla ice cream.

My family likes this thin, easy fudge sauce best!

Wraps. High-rollers. Gourmet burritos. Whatever you call them, these tasty combinations are rolling full force onto menus at America's favorite delis and restaurants.

Loosely defined, a wrap is any combination of your favorite foods—including cheese, meat, and vegetables—tucked into a tortilla, pita, or any flat bread then rolled up. Best of all, they take so little time to prepare and their design makes them virtually spill-proof. Sandwich lovers will no longer grieve for that slice of tomato that fell out the other side.

The recipes for wraps are enedless and easy enough for even the biggest culinary novice to concoct. One of the most versatile wrap ingredients is cheese because it is conveniently available in a variety of great-tasting shreds—all the better for speedy preparation.

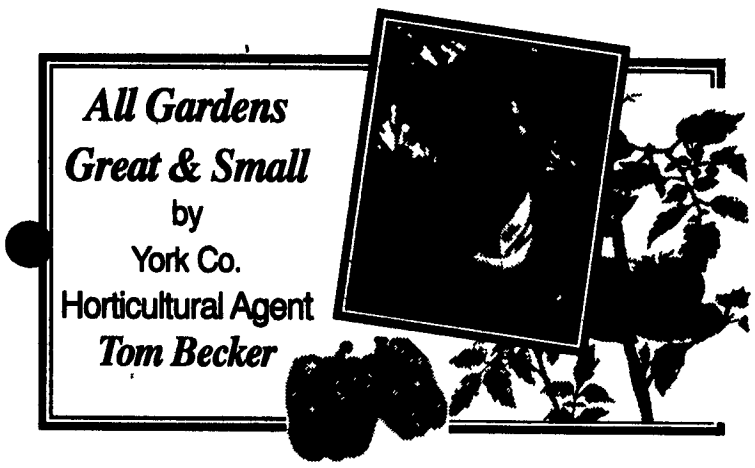
Here is a recipe from the American Dairy Association. For a free copy of additional wraps, call 1-800-778-MILK for a Float, Wrap & Roll brochure.

TURKEY, VEGGIE & CHEESE WRAP

4 ounces turkey breast (slices or cubes)
1 cup shredded iceberg lettuce
1 large tomato, cut in thin wedges
1 large green pepper, cut into short strips
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
⅓ cup low-fat ranch dressing
4 8-inch flour tortillas

Place turkey breast across the center of each flour tortilla. Combine tomatoes, green pepper strips, and shredded lettuce and toss with ranch dressing. Place vegetables on top of turkey and add Cheddar cheese. Roll up tortillas and serve.

Makes 4 wraps.



Disease Resistant Apples

Apple scab showed up on my apple trees this month. Is there a non-chemical solution?

Delicious and York Imperial are Pennsylvania's two leading apples in commercial orchards. In the backyard, disease resistant cultivars, new strains and varieties make growing apples even more attractive. Look for apples with names like Williams Pride, Redfree, Freedom and NovaMac.

First buy a dwarf apple tree that takes up little space in the yard. They can be trained to a fence or stand on their own. You can prune them, pick them, and spray them without leaving the ground.

Many newer apple varieties have resistance to the most serious disease that plagues apple growers. That disease is apple scab. Apple scabs starts when the first buds break in the spring and continues to disfigure leaves and fruit all year-long. Apple scab makes corky spots on the fruit, makes leaves drop prematurely and really discourages the backyard orchardist.

Repeated fungicide spraying can control apple scab, but even this often fails to prevent scab from getting on apples.

Several fine apple varieties don't need a fungicide sprayed for scab. In fact, most of these varieties also resist fire blight, powdery mildew and cedar apple rust as well. You'll still have to combat a few insect problems, but with the major diseases out of the way, growing apples becomes much easier.

Many of these varieties have familiar parents like McIntosh so you can buy them with the confidence that they'll taste good. Many mail order nurseries or garden centers now carry these disease-resistant apple trees. Look for the fruit at farmer's markets and roadside stands

•Dayton: fruit is large and glossy red. Tree is vigorous with upright growing habit.

•Enterprise: produces red to orangish fruit on a high-vigor tree. Fruit is large and lop-sided with a cream-colored flesh. It is the latest-maturing scab-resistant apple.

•Freedom: fruit are large and red but ripens unevenly. Does not store well. Ripens in late September.

•Gold Rush: a late-maturing, scab-resistant Golden delicious-type apple. Fruit is medium size with a rich, spicy flavor.

•Jona Free: resembles Jonathan in size, shape and color. Flesh is pale yellow and hard. Good dessert quality. Ripen in early October.

•Liberty: a good late summer of fall dessert apple; also for sauce or juice. Medium sized dark red fruit with bright red stripe.

•Nova Mac: Tastes and looks like a McIntosh. Fruit is firm, crisp, and juicy. Ripen in early October.

•Prima: Good to fair fruit quality; juicy white flesh. Ripen in September.

•Priscilla: Good to fair fruit quality; medium sized, conical apple with bright red blush over yellow background. Ripens in early October.

•Redfree: early ripening; medium sized bright red apple; ripens in late August. Tree wood is very brittle and weak.

•Sir Prize: a yellow, golden apple with very good flavor, extremely susceptible to bruising due to thin skin.

Tonight Is Lancaster County Dairy Princess Pageant

LANCASTER (Lanc. Co.) — The Lancaster County Dairy Princess Pageant will be held Saturday evening, June 14 at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center. The event includes a reception at 7:00 p.m., followed by the pageant at 7:30 p.m.

Two young ladies will be vying for the crown: Elizabeth Anna Smith, daughter of Thomas and Dale Smith of Denver, and Megan Good, daughter of Leon and Linda Good of Marietta. Elizabeth is studying communications at the Penn State Berks Campus. Megan attends Donegal High School and aspires to major in zoology.

Elizabeth Smith

Each contestant will present a short promotional skit and respond to impromptu questions. They will be judged on their personality, their knowledge of dairy and their ability to express themselves on their feet. Throughout the year, the dairy princess and alternate will represent the county's dairy industry at various functions and promotional events as well as informing youth about the merits of eating a balanced diet.

The evening will conclude with the recognition of this year's Dairies of Distinction.

FLY & ODOR CONTROL

BIG PERFORMANCE...SMALL PRICE

SIMPLE PROCEDURE: the aerator works directly into the bed of material, forming its own windrow. Windrows can be formed from piles of nearly any size. Alleyways are not required when using the Brown aerator, so there is a great reduction in space requirements. The aerator's reverse rotation works the material from the bottom up and to the side, assuring complete mixing and agitation. LOW MAINTENANCE: the aerator is a simple design, the principle as a material mover has been proven with over 30 years experience in practical application. The aerator is hydraulically driven and equipped with patented wearplates or paddles, both of which are easily replaced.

ANSWER — A Wysox reader wanted a recipe for Heath bars. Thanks to Howard Pensack, Belvidere, NJ, for sending a recipe.

Heath Bars

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Line cookie sheet with foil. Put saltines (about 40) close together. Boil: 1 stick butter, 1 stick margarine, and ¾ cup brown sugar (3 minutes) after boiling starts.

Pour over crackers. Spread and cover completely.

Bake 5 minutes (no longer).

After baking time is done, spread chocolate bits (12-ounce package or less) spreading evenly. Wait a few minutes for the chocolate bits to melt and frost. Add 1 cup chopped, toasted nuts evenly and separate them quickly. Place in refrigerator.

Howard uses unsalted Saltines.

ANSWER — Mildred Schonely, Boyertown, wanted a recipe for Italian bread to use in a bread machine. Thanks to Debbie Button, Jarrettsville, MD, for sending a recipe.

French/Italian Bread
Bread Machine

Add ingredients in the order listed. All ingredients must be at room temperature:

9-ounces water
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons granulated sugar
3 cups bread flour
2 teaspoons active dry yeast

Choose dough settings on bread machine. Remove dough from the bread machine to prepare for hand shaping, rising, and baking. Place dough on lightly floured surface. Let dough rest for 5 minutes. Roll dough into a long rope and place on greased cookie sheet (sprinkled with corn meal). Slash 5 times diagonally with a very sharp knife. Cover with a clean, lint-free towel. Place in a warm, draft-free spot to rise until doubled in size, about 45 to 60 minutes. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 25-30 minutes, until deep brown.

Here is a recipe from T.C. Wills, Frederick, to make and bake a medium-sized loaf in a bread machine.

Italian Bread

⅔ cup water
¾ teaspoon salt
⅔ teaspoon sugar
2 cups bread flour
1½ teaspoon yeast

Make according to your bread machine directions.

ANSWER — Donald Love, Somerset, wanted recipes for making corned beef. Thanks to Janice Searer, York, for sending a recipe.

Corned Beef

Fresh killed beef
1½ pounds fine salt
½ pound brown sugar
½ -ounce saltpeter

Scrub a good oak barrel thoroughly. Put as much beef as desired in a barrel and cover with cold water. Have the water 2 inches above meat. Let stand for 48 hours. Drain off the water and measure before discarding. Measure the same amount of cold water (spring water if possible) to every gallon of water formerly used, add the above portions of salt, sugar, and saltpeter. Boil for 15 minutes and skim. When cold, pour over the beef. Place a heavy weight on meat to keep it under the brine. Store in a cold cellar. The corned beef will be ready to use after 10 days.

Boiled Corned Beef

6 pounds corned beef
1 carrot
1 onion
Vinegar
Butter

Cover meat with cold water and let stand one hour. Drain and put into kettle with carrot and onion and enough cold water to cover. Add 1 teaspoon vinegar for each quart water. Simmer until tender, 30 to 40 minutes for each pound. Let stand in the liquid 20 minutes, then drain and rub butter over the meat just before serving if desired. Serves 12.

ANSWER — For the strawberry season, here are two recipes from Berks County Dairy Princess Erica Davis. Sine this is June Dairy Month, Erica wants you to know that osteoporosis usually begins during the teen years and develops slowly due to the loss of large amounts of bone mass.

Osteoporosis is a slowly developing disease where the bones become weak and brittle caused by a lack of calcium and exercise. A person may not know if they have this disease until a sudden bump or fall breaks a bone.

Osteoporosis has no cure, only prevention. Bones develop and grow more dense from birth until the mid-30s. It is necessary to consume the recommended daily allowance for calcium throughout the life cycles to prevent bone loss. The following recipes are nutritious, fun, and delicious.

Strawberry Daiquiri

2 cups whole or 2% milk
1 teaspoons find granulated sugar
2 cups strawberries
5 ice cubes

Combine ingredients in blender until frothy. Serves 3.

Strawberry Cheese Pie

9-inch baked pastry shell or graham cracker crumb crust
8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
⅓ cup lemon juice concentrate
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 quart fresh strawberries, cleaned, hulled
16-ounce package prepared strawberry glaze (chilled)

In large mixer bowl, beat cheese until fluffy. Gradually beat in Eagle Brand sweetened condensed milk until smooth. Stir in lemon and vanilla. Pour into prepared crust. Chill 3 hours or until set. Top with strawberries and desired amount of glaze.

RHUBARB DESSERT

Crust:

¾ cup butter
1½ cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar

Cut together and press into a 9x13-inch pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 25 minutes. Cool.

Filling:

1 can condensed milk
8-ounces cream cheese
⅓ cup lemon juice

Mix together and beat well. Spread on cooled crust.

Topping:

3 cups cold water
1½ cups sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
6-ounces strawberry Jell-O
8 cups rhubarb*

Cook rhubarb, sugar, and water until rhubarb is at soft stage. In a separate bowl, mix cornstarch, and part of the cold water until smooth. Add to rhubarb mixture and stir well. Add Jell-O and stir until mixed well. Cool and pour on top of filling mixture. Refrigerate for 2 hours and enjoy.

*May substitute pineapple chunks instead of rhubarb.

We have a dairy operation and farm 160-acres of corn in Washinton County, Hagerstown, Md. We have four children and five grandchildren. We like to snowmobile in Canada.

STRAWBERRY CREAM TAPIOCA

1 quart berries, fresh or frozen
¼ cup minute tapioca
2 cups water
¾ cup sugar

When using frozen berries thaw, drain, and use the juice to make 2 cups water. Bring the water, juice, and sugar to a boil. Add ¼ cup tapioca. Cook stirring constantly for 15 minutes. Pour over berries and cool.

1 quart milk
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup tapioca
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine milk, sugar, egg yolks, tapioca, and salt. Let set 10 minutes. Put over medium heat and cook stirring constantly until thick.

Remove from heat. Add beaten egg whites and vanilla. Cool. To serve, alternate layers in a big dish.

I hope you are enjoying this nice summer weather.

I have two sisters and four brothers. We live on a farm near Shippensburg. Each summer my mother plants a big garden. We are starting to pick strawberries in our garden.

DAIRY COUNCIL SCHOOL ASSEMBLY MAKES NUTRITION ENTERTAINING

The Marvelous Machine theatrical program delights over 67,000 students with messages for healthy eating

RHEEMS (Lancaster County) – On a recent spring afternoon, students at Rheems Elementary School saw firsthand what The Marvelous Machine can do. The Marvelous Machine is, of course, the human body, which is able to do amazing things when given the proper fuel. Sponsored by Dairy Council, Inc., The Marvelous Machine school assembly is an interactive and creative learning experience that intertwines education and entertainment into a theatrical production teaching elementary students about the benefits of milk and good nutrition.

To date, this program has reached more than 67,200 students in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware with positive dairy messages. For the second year in a row, Dairy Council received a grant from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, enabling Dairy Council to bring the assembly to some low income school districts in Pennsylvania for free.

Dairy Council is currently conducting research to determine how The Marvelous Machine impacts students who watch the performance. The study, conducted by a nationally recognized researcher, is evaluating knowledge gained by the students and their intention to make changes in food choices. Teachers are also being surveyed to evaluate the overall educational value of the assembly.

"Dairy Council programs must meet the highest standards, and we continually measure the effectiveness of programs such as The Marvelous Machine," says Jan Stanton, Executive Director of Dairy Council. "Part of that accountability is ensuring not only that the assembly is fun, but also that the important messages are delivered to the students," she adds.

The impact of the assembly does not end once the curtain comes down at the conclusion of the performance. Teachers are able to integrate the program, and the classroom materials that Dairy Council provides with it, into their existing curriculum. In addition, The Marvelous Machine posters are provided for the school cafeteria, extending the assembly's message into the place where children are making food choices.

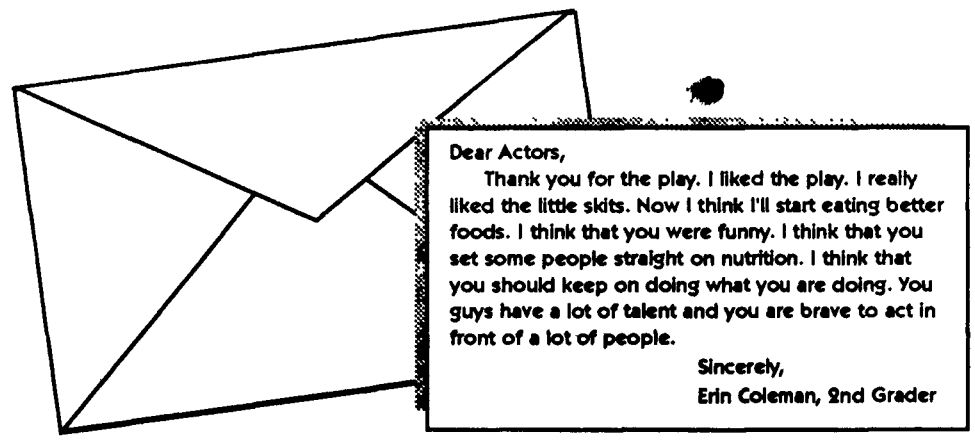
Mary Beth Will, a 2nd grade teacher at Rheems Elementary School, is having her students plan daily menus with balanced meals, including dairy products. She emphasizes the value of the program and the lessons it teaches the students.

"I loved it... The Marvelous Machine taught the importance of taking care of your body and showed us how to do it through proper nutrition," Will says.

While teachers like the assembly and the way it builds onto what they are teaching in the classroom, it is the students who are most motivated by what they have learned from The Marvelous Machine.

"The Marvelous Machine made me think about the five food groups and how I am a machine," says Chris Jewell, a 3rd grader.

"To be healthier, I want to exercise more and eat nutritious foods," adds Matt Whipple, also a 3rd grader.



Dear Actors,

Thank you for the play. I liked the play. I really liked the little skits. Now I think I'll start eating better foods. I think that you were funny. I think that you set some people straight on nutrition. I think that you should keep on doing what you are doing. You guys have a lot of talent and you are brave to act in front of a lot of people.

Sincerely,
Erin Coleman, 2nd Grader

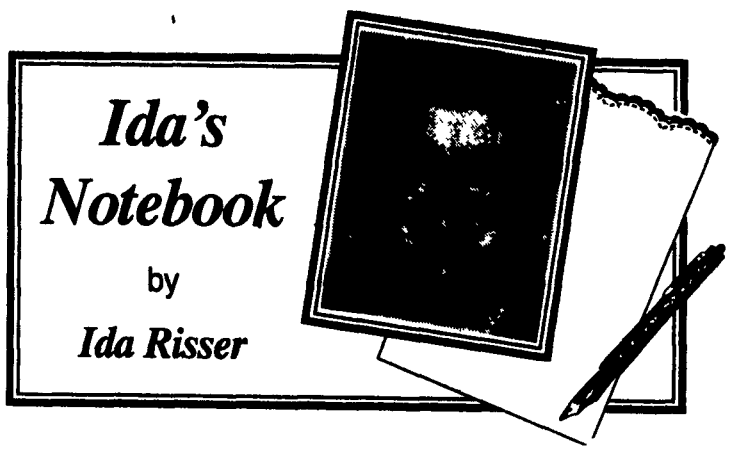
THE NUTRITION EDUCATION PEOPLE

Dairy Council, Inc. is a non-profit nutrition education organization funded by local dairy farmers.



Some people like to cut down trees. They remove a long row that divides one farm field from a neighbor's field. The reason being that now a few more plants will grow. A neighbor recently removed a row of locust trees along the road and now the house is more visible. I like to plant trees and watch them grow.

Different trees in my life bring back various memories. One was a black cherry tree behind our barn. My sister did not mind climbing it to pick the fruit, but I clung to the ladder. Another memory concerns another cherry tree behind our house. This one dropped many cherries, which the bees liked. The problem with this was that we children had bare feet and we got stung as our swing was on a lower branch.

Storms often took down fruit trees in our front yard. And, when one fell, we invariably got out the camera and took a family photo. One is of an apple and another of a pear tree.

Many years ago I kept a hemlock tree in a tin can on the windowsill for several years. By doing this, I may have dwarfed it as it is now a short, stocky tree near our garden. We have many black walnuts in our meadow, and when I was a youngster, I had to pick up the nuts. I picked up a big bagful for my father from the wrong tree and had to start over again.

One tree that I will always remember was growing in a lower meadowland. It was a small willow that I came upon one spring day long ago. The remarkable thing about his tree was the fact that it was covered with a hundred tiny, yellow American goldfinch. They sang and swayed in the breeze. Something to remember forever.

Liza Haas Reigns As Penn State Dairy Princess

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Liza Haas, the 1997-98 Penn State Dairy Princess, is the daughter of Gary and Lucinda Haas. The family lives on a dairy farm and milks 65 Holstein cows outside of Millerstown. Liza has two sisters, Trisha and Gretchen, and one brother, Joseph.

Liza will be a junior this fall majoring in dairy and animal science at Penn State University Park. she is a member of the Dairy Science Club, Block and Bridle Club, Coaly Society, and Alpha Zeta.

After graduating, Liza plans to run for Perry County and Pennsylvania Dairy Princess. Eventually, she plans to return to the family dairy farm.

Liza said, "Summer is on its way and many people are buying milk, cheese, yogurt, ice cream, etc. As a result these dairy products will supply them with adequate amounts of calcium, the main building material of bones and teeth. Your body has 206 bones, almost half of which are in your hands and feet."

Here are a few dairy facts from Liza: In 1611, the first cow arrived in America. Today, there are more than 10,000,000 dairy cows in the U.S. A cow can produce 80 glasses of milk in 1 day. 80 glasses of milk will make about 80 containers of yogurt or 4 pounds of cheese. Try this incredible dessert.

Cheese Cake Squares

2 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
1 cup ricotta cheese
1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
¼ cup butter, melted and cooled
3 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon vanilla extract
2 cups (16 ounces) sour cream
Seasonal fresh fruit, optional

In a mixing bowl, beat cream cheese, ricotta and sugar until smooth. Add the eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Add butter, cornstarch, flour and vanilla; beat until smooth. Fold in sour cream. Pour into a greased 13"x9"x12" baking pan. Bake, uncovered, at 325° for 1 hour. Do not open oven door. Turn oven off. Let cheesecake stand in closed oven for 2 hours. Cool completely on a wire rack. Chill several hours or overnight. Top each square with fuit if desired. Yield: 20 servings.

Tessa Silfco, Berlin, sites by a flower bed planted in a tree stump in the Berlin Community Grove. In July, as a delegate for the International 4-H/Japanese Exchange, she will fly to Japan.

International 4-H Exchange Delegate Nervous But Excited About Trip To Japan

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

BERLIN (Somerset Co.) — "I'm excited, nervous, anxious — afraid of the plane ride," admitted 14-year old Tessa Silfco who, while spending the summer in Japan, will celebrate her 15th birthday.

The daughter of Edward and Stephanie Slifco, Tessa, a delegate, was accepted for the International 4-H/Japanese Exchange by the Pennsylvania State University. On July 14, she will depart from Pennsylvania, returning on August 12.

Her acceptance finds Tessa a significant figure in Somerset County 4-H, considering — besides being the only county representative in the 1997 exchange — the teenager breaks a 30-year gap wherein no local 4-H representative has gone to Japan. In fact, 10 years have elapsed since the county has had an international exchange representative.

History, culture, mastery of chopsticks, accepting for a few weeks, new culture and a new family as her own, are thoughts that send Tessa's tummy into a topsy-turvy state.

Her mother, however, says that being an only child has turned her daughter into a people person who absolutely thrives with the bigger families of her friends.

Tessa, therefore, believes her host family — parents and three children — promises to be a pretty super group.

Tessa's own chopsticks — a gift from the Japanese girl she hosted last summer — she is taking along, certain that, with practice, she will learn to consume an entire meal with them and so satisfy her hunger.

"I wouldn't say I have mastered chopsticks," she said with an impish grin.

The parents in her host family are a systems engineer and a school teacher, a fact that surprised Tessa's family. They later contemplated whether two professionals in one household is the usual thing in Japan.

Another exciting tidbit Tessa was delighted to learn, is that her host sister loves the same things she does — sports, singing, and listening to music.

At Berlin-Brothersvalley High School, Tessa, a sophomore, plays varsity softball and volleyball. A whip, also, in academics, she manages to retain a position high on her school's honor roll.

Besides the forensics team and representing at states the Future Business Leaders of America, outside of school Tessa plays in community softball and volleyball leagues, the Somerset County Community Band, and actively supports St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church in MacDonaldton.

In the Valley 4-H she has competed in bowling, volleyball, public speaking, food and fashion revues, and demonstration contests. She has square danced at the farm show, a popular event enjoyed by many of her fellow county 4-Hers.

Marge Jano, Tessa's grandmother, isn't about to neglect the exciting plans necessary for her granddaughter's cross-continental experience.

Already, the former airline reservationist, who once worked at a Cleveland, Ohio, airport and knows the woes that can beset travelers, has thought ahead to Tessa surviving the O'Hare International Airport maze in Chicago.

Mrs. Jano, weeks ago, contacted a relative who lives in the airport's proximity. She will be there when Tessa's flight arrives from Pittsburgh and will send her on to San Francisco.

And, with the quick-wits God gave to most grandma's, Mrs. Jano, while shopping at her favorite Wal-Mart store, espied matching tee shirts bedecked on the front with a circle of International flag replicas, which she instantly purchased for Tess, and the 16-year old host sister.

Although, Tessa's mom says it's nigh to unbelievable that Tessa prefers only butter on her pancakes and not maple syrup, Tessa plans to take Somerset County pure maple syrup as a gift for her hosts.

The menu for the meal that she, herself will cook for them, Tessa said, isn't complete, however it's bound to feature the sweet amber commodity from home.

"We are urged to try everything they give us," Tessa said, quoting information from her recent orientation. They also should acknowledge when they don't like a food they have tried.

"Don't pretend to like it if you don't," she said.

Otherwise, if the hosts believe you like it, it will be served many times.

Apparently, it won't be in the shower where Tessa will shampoo her hair, as at home, but probably at a sink. So while the long tresses that reached mid-back had to be sacrificed, Tessa judiciously opted for a practical, above-the-shoulders, haircut for her sojourn in the Orient.

"One thing I am a little worried about," she added, "is where I am there, they (the Japanese people) will be remembering the bombing of Hiroshima."

Tessa will give a personal gift to each of her hosts, including the 13-year-old boy, 8-year-old girl, and parents.

CREAM PUFFS

½ cup butter
1 cup water
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
4 eggs

Put butter and water in 2-quart saucepan on high. When mixture boils, add flour; cook until thick, stirring constantly. When mixture gathers into a mass, remove from heat. Place mixture in a bowl of electric mixer. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, mixing thoroughly after each addition. Place in mounds on greased cookie sheet about 1½ inches apart. Bake in preheated electric oven at 400 degrees for 40 minutes or with an oven meal at 350-375 degrees for 1 hour.

Allow puffs to dry in oven several minutes after current is turned off. Fill with Cream Puff Filling or with ice cream. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar or frost with thin icing (chocolate or white). Yields 8-10 large puffs.

Filling:
⅔ cup sugar
5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup cold milk
3 egg yolks, well beaten
1½ cup milk, scalded
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites, beaten

Mix sugar, flour, and salt together with cold milk. Then add beaten egg yolks, blending together. Gradually add scalded milk to egg mixture. Cook on low heat, stirring while cooking until mixture is thick. Add flavoring. Cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and spoon into centers of cream puffs.

My family loves the cream puffs and they're not difficult to make.

As for my family, we will be married 37 years on June 4 and have three children. Lori Ann Spatz is married to Allen Spatz. She is a life skills teacher in the Daniel Boone School District. Her husband, Allen, is employed by Hershey Food Corp. in the Reading Branch known as Luden's. My son Tom and my husband Lee are self-employed well drillers. My other son Todd is employed by the Governor Mifflin School District as a business education teacher. He is married to Tara (Roth) for two years and they are expecting their first child (could be twins — we don't know for sure until June). She is employed at the Kutztown School District.

My husband and I love our grandchildren, Stephanie, 4 and her brother Christoper, 6. My routine day is putting Christopher on the bus and picking him up every day from Rockland Elementary School. I have Stephanie three days a week. It's a lot of running but I enjoy being with them.

We also live on a 69-acre farm in Richmond Township and farm various crops. We all chip in on the chores and gardening to get the crops harvested. I love the recipe section of Lancaster Farming and I have tried many of them. They were excellent.

I am active in my church. I have been the church secretary for 35 years and I also took a training course to do volunteer visiting at the Lutheran Home in Topton. Let me suggest that anyone who would like to volunteer should try this anywhere — these older folks love the company volunteers provide.

BAKED HONEY CUSTARD

6 eggs
½ cup honey
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
4 cups milk

Beat eggs in a bowl, add honey, vanilla, and salt; beat again. Heat milk in microwave. Add milk to egg mixture, stirring to blend well. Pour into custard cups. Place cups in pan of hot water, one inch depth. Bake in 325 degree oven for 40 minutes or until a wet knife comes out clean when inserted in custard. Chill and refrigerate.

Variations: add to custard cups before pouring in custard, coconut, raisins, blueberries, black raspberries or diced peaches. 10 servings.

We have been dairy farmers for a long time. I like to use milk in my cooking to assure us of an adequate supply of calcium, especially in the summer when we drink less milk.

We especially like puddings and I find baked custard is so easy, no stirring. Each time you make it you can vary it with a fruit in season. They make a wonderful snack or dessert.

APRICOT SALAD

1 medium can crushed pineapple, drained
1 large jar junior apricot baby food
1 large box apricot Jell-O
8-ounces cream cheese
¾ cup sugar
9-ounces whipped cream topping

Heat pineapple juice and enough water to make 2 cups. Bring to a boil with electric mixer. Blend Jell-O, cream cheese, sugar until smooth. Add pineapple and let set slightly. Fold in baby food and whipped cream. Pour into 9x13-inch pan. Sprinkle with chopped nuts on top.

Low Sugar Version

1 can pineapple in pineapple juice
1 jar apricot baby food
1 large box peach Jell-O sugar-free
8-ounces light cream cheese
5½ teaspoons Equal Measure or sugar substitute
9-ounce container lite whipped topping

Follow same directions but add sugar substitute with pineapple.

SCRAMBLED EGG CASSEROLE

½ cup butter, divided
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1 cup shredded process American cheese
1 cup cubed fully cooked ham
¼ cup sliced green onions
12 eggs, beaten
4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
Additional sliced green onions

In a medium saucepan, melt 2 tablespoons butter. Add flour, salt and pepper; cook and stir until mixture begins to bubble. Gradually stir in milk; cook until thickened and bubbly, stirring constantly. Remove from the heat. Add cheese; mix well and set aside. In a large skillet, saute ham and onions in 3 tablespoons butter until onions are tender. Add eggs; cook and stir until they begin to set. Add the mushrooms and cheese sauce; mix well. Pour into greased 11x7x2-inch baking dish. Melt remaining butter; toss with bread crumbs. Sprinkle over top of casserole. Cover and refrigerate for 2-3 hours or overnight. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until top is golden brown. Sprinkle with onions if desired. Yield: 6-8 servings.

This breakfast dish is a family favorite. Although we live on a turkey farm, we still use lots of dairy products. I enjoy the B-section of the Lancaster Farming.

Hello from Leola!

My husband Phares and I live on the outskirts of Leola with our children. Martina got married on March 15, 1997 to Nathan Moser, not pictured. So our family is still increasing!

Gary, 5, is our youngest, and is anticipating entering first grade this fall. Marilyn, 12, just completed 6th grade and enjoys mowing the lawn, sewing, etc. Mary Kay, 14, has completed 8th grade and enjoys housework, cooking, and baking. Glendon, 19, is a landscaper and Galen, 22, is a carpenter who sets up pole barns.

Phares, no longer farming, sells commercial seeds to farmers in Lancaster County. You could say he is still a farmer at heart! We have five acres and he enjoys planting corn and wheat plots for customers to check on field day.

I enjoy cooking and baking and gardening for the family. The many recipes in Lancaster Farming add to my collection. Thanks to all the contributors. I look forward to reading "Home On The Range" each week. Happy cooking!

HAPENINGS

Susquehanna County
4-H News

Recently, 50 members of the 4-H dairy program in Susquehanna County visited Penn State University.

The group of 4-H'ers toured several sites on campus. Included in those sites were the newly constructed dairy facilities, the Dairy Breeding Research Center, the annual Dairy Exposition, and the annual Blue & White game.

The dairy facilities offered many advancements in dairy technology. The research projects that were under way at the facilities had many members amazed, as many questions were asked.

They then visited the Dairy Exposition, which was held at the Ag Arena. The Dairy Exposition is a showmanship and fitting competition for college students. It is sponsored by the Dairy Science Club. There, everyone enjoyed lunch, which was provided by the Block an Bridle Club. As the members were eating lunch on the balcony of the Ag Arena, they watched as college students demonstrated their talents in the Expo. Some participants of the contest were fellow 4-H members of the county. This provided excitment and encouragement from the younger members.

They next proceeded to Beaver Stadium where the annual Blue & White game was about to kickoff. Before kickoff, the kids had the opportunity to meet with the players of the Penn State football team. The players were offering autographs to excited fans. A record crowd of 62,000 people was on hand.

Hoofs In Clover
Horse And Pony Club

The club held a meeting recently at the Elk Lake School. Megan Wescott did a demonstration on the hoof. Kailey Place talked about the USA Pony Club.

Lindsay Place did a demonstration on poisonous plants. The members talked about the personal ponies program and the ponies which are trained for disabled children. Upcoming events were also discussed.

DES Dairy Club

The DES 4-H club met at the Elk Lake Fire Hall for its April meeting. Members received the papers they need to keep records during the year.

They discussed fundraisers, and will be having a Bike-a-thon to raise money for St. Jude's Children's Hospital.

The members also discussed their schedule for the year.

Paws And Tails
Dog Obedience Club

A meeting was held on Monday, April 28. Members started out the class by doing some heeling, then went into sits and about turns. The class then started trying sit stays. Renee Coy made a billboard concerning dog shows and other places the group may want to go. It also has other information the class would like to look at.

At the May 5 meeting, the members and their dogs reviewed "sit," "stay," "heel," and learned "down." There will be a short program called "Blessing of the Animals" with a ring of dogs and different animals on May 18 at 2 p.m on The Green in Montrose. Members may bring their dogs and work them in the ring.

Baconeers
Swine Club

A meeting was held at the Claverack Building in Montrose on April 27. After the secretary's report was given, the members discussed a fundraiser.

Progressive Clovers
4-H Club

The May meeting of the Progressive Clovers 4-H Club was held at Baust Parish House in Tyrone, Md.

The meeting was opened by the President Amy Miller, followed by the 4-H Pledge led by Stephen Bowers.

Members participating in the Poultry Bowl were Matt Carman, Lauren and Heather Harris, Jason and Amy Ridinger, Vicky and Valerie Robertson, Amanda Watson, and Steven Haines, as the narrator.

Members that participated in the County Dairy Bowl were Senior Team: Josh Sanders and Brett Haines. Junior Team members were Jon Sanders and Ryan Haines.

Matt Carman was a junior member on the Horse Bowl Team.

Progressive Clovers 4-H Club placed 4th in the county with the candy bar sale. The club will be visiting Brookfield Manor on June 19 at 10 a.m. The club picnic will be held on July 13 at the Taneytown Rod & Gun Club.

Amy Ridinger was the winner of the 100th Anniversary Carroll County Fair Catalog Cover Contest. All Carroll County 4-H Fair entries are due at the 4-H Office by June 20. This year there will be special Alumni Classes at this 100th Anniversary Fair. All Alumni are encouraged to enter by June 30 at the 4-H office.

Those participating in the small pet show were Ashley Bowers, cat; Theresa Brown, guinea pig; Matt Carman, guinea pig; Kim Holland, dog; Jason Ridinger, rabbit; Amy Ridinger, rabbit; Vicky Robertson, hamster; Valerie Robertson, hamster; Kelly Swartzbaugh, rabbit; and Amanda Watson, poultry (chicks).

The club participated in the Union Bridge Memorial Day Parade and the Union Bridge Fireman's Parade.

Franklin Hill
Community Club

The second meeting of the club was held at Mrs. Booth's home on Friday, April 25, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. The meeting was officiated by former president, Jessica Canfield.

4-H members in attendance were Autumn and Alisha Austin, Kim and Jason Goss, Jessica Canfield, Jessica and John Paul Grigalunas, Frank and Mark Perera and Justin Froehlich.

Election of officers was held and elected as follows: president, Frank Perera; vice president, Jessica Canfield; secretary, Autumn Austin; treasurer, Mark Perera; song and game leader, Jason Goss; news reporter, Jessica Grigalunas.

North Jackson
Ag And Community Club

The club held its second meeting at Joe and Sandy Pavelski's home. The meeting was called to order by President Matt Pavelski. Roll was called by Secretary Heather Pease and the treasurer's report was given. Next, the president asked what business needed to be discussed and the question of where to have a club fun-day was mentioned. Matt Pavelski gave the placings of the members of the club who went to the Penn State Dairy Judging Contest in March. It was decided who would give demonstrations at the next meeting.

Volunteers were Matt Pavelski, Matt Pease, Kendal Miller, Katie Onyon, Aaron Jones, and Heather Pease. Project books were handed out by leader Diane Miller and parent Sue Pipitone.

Lancaster
Red Rose Beef

The May meeting of the Lancaster County Red Rose 4-H Beef Club was held Wednesday, May 7, at the home of one Delvin Kropf. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jill Hoffines, after which the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Linford Hershey, and the 4-H Pledge was led by Loren Hershey.

The program for the evening covered the topics of showmanship, breeding projects, and health papers. The program was presented by leaders Bob Hess and Fritz Frey.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, June 18, at 6:30 p.m., at the Farm and Home Center, for an ice cream social with the Woolies and Swine Clubs.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Hans Herr FFA

Five seniors, members of Lancaster Mennonite High School's Hans Herr Chapter of the FFA, received top honors at the annual FFA banquet held this spring at the school.

Recognized for outstanding leadership, participation in FFA activities, and scholarship, they are:

•1997 Star Chapter Farmer — Steve Harnish, son of John and Judy Harnish, Washington Boro.

•Chapter Star in Agribusiness — Keith Weaver, son of Earl and Marilyn Weaver, New Holland.

•Hans Herr FFA Scholarship — Jonathan Hess, son of Karl and Elma Hess, New Danville, and Darren Martin, son of Gerald and Carolyn Martin, Ephrata.

Three freshmen also received special awards at the banquet. Kim Landis, daughter of Jay and Sharon Landis, Lititz, was selected as outstanding junior leader, Justin Weaver, son of Jeffrey and Louann Weaver, Mt. Joy, was named chapter Star Greenhand; and Jared Garber, son of Kenneth and Nancy Garber, Elizabethtown, was named Star Greenhands for placement.

Twelve students received trophies for their project record books:

•Silver — Jared Garber, dairy; Michael Minnich, crops; and Justin Weaver, dairy.

•Bronze — James Eby, poultry; Philip Eby, crops; Denise Hoover, swine; Darren Martin, dairy; Jason Nissley, crops; and Beth Wenrich, dairy.

The following students were recognized for chapter proficiencies: Andre Beiler, prepared public speaking; Angie Breneman, food science and technology; Tim Charles, forest management; James Eby, poultry production; Philip Eby, cereal grain production; Andy Engle, forage crop production; Jared Garber, placement in ag production; Andrew Harnish, feed grain production; Joel Harnish, ag communications; Steve Harnish, technical systems; Jonathan Hess, agriscience; Mike Hess, beef production; Denise Hoover, swine production; Chad Hurst, feed crop production; Kerwin King, diversified crop production; Kim Landis, diversified livestock; Darren Martin, dairy production; Eric Martin, emerging ag technologies; Kurt Martin, outdoor recreation; Jared Miller, dairy production; Mike Minnich, vegetable production; Laura Nafziger, home improvement; Jason Nissley, poultry production; Jeff Nissley, feed grain production; Erica Petersheim, equine science; Geoff Rohrer, diversified crop production; Scott Rohrer, farmstead improvement; Mitch Shellenberger, oil crop production; Jonathan Shue, vegetable crop production; David Smoker, speciality crop production; Dayna Weinhold, public speaking; Andrew Weaver, emerging ag technologies; Justin Weaver, cereal grain production; Keith Weaver, beef production; Kent Weaver, specialty crop production; Beth Wenrich, food science technology; Susan Wenrich, home improvement; and Kyle Yerkes, turf and landscape management.

Former Hans Herr member Rodney Mast, who died in January after a long battle with leukemia, was also recognized and remembered during the banquet.

DIRT CAKE

[illegible]ounces Oreo cookies, broken in [illegible]f
8-ounce package cream cheese
½ cup butter
1 can confectioners' sugar
8-ounces frozen whipped topping
2 small packages instant vanilla pudding mix
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Gummy worms

Position knife blade in food processor bowl; add half of the cookies. Process until cookies are fine crumbs. Place crumbs in a 9x13-inch pan. Process remaining cookies. Set cookie crumbs aside. Mix cream cheese and butter until sm[illegible]th with a mixer. Fold in powde[illegible] sugar and then the whipped topping. In a separate bowl, mix pudding, milk, and vanilla. Fold cream cheese mixture and pudding mixture together and pour over crumbs in pan. Sprinkle remaining crumbs over the top. Cover and chill at least three hours. Place gummy worms around dirt before serving. Yield: 20 to 22 servings.

I live on a farm in McGaheysville, Va. with my husband Lucius and son Jody. McGaheysville is a good place to live. Besides being a 4-H leader, I am active in our church. I enjoy raising rare breed chickens.

This recipe made a big hit at our recent 4-H fishing day.

COUNTRY APPLE DESSERT

1 package yellow cake mix
½ cup softened butter
[illegible]gg
20-ounce can apple pie filling
½ cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup sour cream
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, combine cake mix, butter, and one egg at low speed until crumbly. Press into ungreased 9 by 13-inch pan. Spread with pie filling. Combine brown sugar, nuts, and cinnamon. Sprinkle over apples.

In small bowl, blend sour cream, egg, and vanilla. Pour over sugar mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 40-50 minutes or until topping is golden. Serve warm or cool. R[illegible]erate any leftovers. Serves 12.

SCALLOPED CORN

2 cans creamed corn
2 cans regular corn
1 cup milk
1 beaten egg
4 ounces cracker crumbs
1 small onion, chopped (optional)
3 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix together all ingredients and pour into a greased baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 60-75 minutes or until golden brown.

[illegible] husband David of 28 years a[illegible] have four children, 2 girls and 2 boys, and 4 grandchildren, all boys. Son Dan is at home.

I love to cook, my favorites are the old family recipes that my late mother passed onto me.

I enjoy this paper so much and never throw away the B section. It has great country cooking recipes in it. Thanks for a great paper!

BLUEBERRY BUCKLE

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups flour
⅔ cup milk

Cream butter and sugar together and add eggs. Beat together, then add the rest of the ingredients. Spread batter in a buttered 9 by 12-inch cake pan. Cover with three cups fresh or frozen blueberries. Top with the following crumb mixture:

1 cup flour
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup butter, softened
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Mix together for crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Serve warm with milk.

I hope you enjoy this dish as much as our family does. It is an easy recipe for young cooks to try as well as busy mothers. Being a mother of five children, I know how fast food can disappear, which makes cooking enjoyable.

FOUR LAYER DESSERT

1 cup flour
1 cup nuts, chopped
½ cup butter

Mix together and press in ungreased 7½ x11½ -inch cake pan. Bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Let stand until cold.

Mix together:
1 cup whipped cream topping
8-ounces cream cheese
1 cup confectioners' sugar

Cream together and spread over layer.

2 boxes chocolate instant pudding
3 cups milk

Beat chocolate pudding and milk until thick, spread over cheese layer.

Top with remaining whipped cream. Chill until serving.

We are a farm family, past and present. Bill, assistant bank manager, and Betty, school nurse, grew up on farms; Mike is a farmer and Anna is a florist. BLUEBERRY SUPREME GRAHAM CRACKER CRUST

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
4-ounces butter
¼ cup granulated sugar

Mix well, set aside 1 cup for topping. Pat remaining crumbs into 9x13-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool.

Filling:
2 cups whipped cream topping
8-ounces cream cheese
½ cup confectioners' sugar
21-ounces blueberry or cherry pie filling

Mix together whipped cream, cream cheese, and sugar; blend well. Spread on top of cooled crust and chill 5 minutes. Spread the pie filling over this. Sprinkle the remaining crumbs over the top of filling. Refrigerate. Serves 6 to 8 people.

We live in Huntingdon County. My family consists of my husband James, Joey, 14, and Josh, 3.

We are dairy farmers. We live on the lower farm where the dry cows, young calves, and heifers are. The other farm is the dairy farm where we're milking an average of 70 head.

I do like to bake, cook, and try out new things. I'm a 4-H leader with Hungtingdon County Dairy Beef Club. I like to work in the garden and my flower garden. In my sparetime, I do artwork like sawblades, signs, and crafts. I also like to do flower arranging. This pretty much is what I like to do.

This recipe goes well anywhere we go.

MAPLE MILKSHAKE

1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 quart cold milk
½ cup maple syrup

Allow the ice cream to stand in the room until soft. Put it into a mixing bowl with a mixer or egg beater until it is frothy. Pour into glasses and serve ice cold.

For banana milkshakes, take a very ripe banana and mash it. Mix it with the ice cream and milk, instead of maple syrup. Honey may also be used instead of maple syrup.

CREAM OF HAMBURGER SOUP

1 cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped green peppers
1 pound ground beef
2 cups tomato sauce or juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups sliced carrots
2 cups diced potatoes
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
⅓ cup flour
1 quart milk

Brown ground beef, onions, and pepper. Drain off fat. In large kettle, cook vegetables, tomato sauce, and seasonings until vegetables are tender.

Make a thickening of ⅓ cup flour and 1 cup milk. Add to hot soup, stirring well. Add remaining milk. Heat thoroughly.

Our family lives in the town of Danville. Our connections to the dairy industry are through my husband Phil's employment at Penn State Cooperative Extension as the dairy agent in the five-county region of Snyder, Union, Montour, Northumerland, and Columbia.

Our 10-year-old son Wesley also leases a 4-H calf. Nine-year-old Katelyn is in a 4-H club, too. I am a substitute school nurse and homemaker.

HOMEMADE ICE CREAM

Beat together until light and thick, about 10 minutes.

2 cups granulated sugar
4 eggs

Add:
2 tablespoons vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups heavy cream
1 cup light cream or evaporated milk for part of the cream

Pour into ice cream freezer. Add milk until can is about two-thirds full.

Layer crushed ice and salt around can in freezer. Don't skimp on salt. Churn until frozen.

This makes a delicious ice cream that will go good with strawberries.

Vivian Heffner's sent this picture of family members Dave, Tana, and Allison Barkhymer with Casey the dog.

BEEF AND SOUR CREAM NOODLE BAKE

First part:
- 1 pound lean ground beef
- 3 teaspoons butter
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Pepper to taste
- ½ teaspoon garlic powder
- 8-ounces tomato sauce

Second part:
- 8-ounces Kluski noodles, cooked
- 8-ounces cream cheese
- 8-ounces sour cream
- 1 small onion, chopped fine
- 8-ounces shredded Veveeta cheese

Brown meat in butter. Add salt, pepper, garlic powder, and tomato sauce. Simmer 5 minutes. Set aside. Combine cream cheese, sour cream, onion, and noodles. Put noodle mixture in a 2-quart casserole sprayed with vegetables spray. Layer the meat mixture on top of the noodles. Top with cheese.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until the cheese is bubbly and light brown. Serves 6.

This is a recipe my whole family enjoys. I cut out a good many delicious dishes from your cooking section. Many of them I send to our daughter and family in Minnesota. Since we just recently became grandpa and grandma, I am sending their family picture to use with my recipe.

DATE BALLS

- ½ cup butter
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 8-ounces chopped dates
- 1 cup coconut
- 1 cup nuts

mix in saucepan and boil six minutes on low heat. Remove from heat, and mix 2 cups crushed rice crispy cereal. Cool. Form into balls, roll in powdered sugar.

This recipe is very simple, but so delicious. It's great for picnics or church socials. Enjoy!

GRAPE NUTS

- 1 quart dark molasses
- 1 quart buttermilk
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 4 quarts graham flour
- 1 tablespoon baking soda

Mix together molasses, brown sugar, baking soda, and half the flour. Add the buttermilk and remaining flour. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or longer.

This is one of our favorite breakfast foods. We dry them and break them into small pieces and eat them with milk. They're really good that way.

THE MOST UNUSUAL APPLE PIE

- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ cup sugar
- Pinch salt
- ½ cup butter
- ¼ -½ cup milk
- 1 beaten egg
- 4-5 apples, peeled and sliced

Mix together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Add melted or softened butter and stir in beaten egg. Add enough milk to make a nice batter. Slice apples into a greased 10-inch pie plate. Pour batter over apples and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Bake at 350 degrees for 30-40 minutes or until done.

Our family likes this made with peaches. It never seems to last long at our house.

Our cows came home two months ago to our new dairy barn. We milked them for five years at my husband's home place. It sure is nice to do the chores at our own farm instead of running back and forth.

My husband, Llewellyn, and I have four children: Linnea, 9; Kayla, 6; Sharita, 4; and Weldon, 2½ .

We always enjoy reading all the interesting entries in June.

RICE PUDDING

- 1½ cups cooked rice
- 2 cups milk, divided
- ⅓ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg, beaten
- ⅔ cup golden raisins
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
- Dash nutmeg or cinnamon

Combine rice, 1½ cups milk, sugar, and salt in a heavy saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally until thick and creamy, 15-20 minutes. Blend remaining ½ cup milk and egg. Stir into rice mixture. Add raisins. Cook 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Add butter and vanilla. Spoon into serving dishes. Sprinkle nutmeg or cinnamon. Makes 4 servings.

Hi! I farm in central New Jersey with my dad and brother. I raise Lineback cattle. They are very beautiful animals, friendly and easy to handle. I also raise all types of poultry, rabbits, a herd of goats, and a flock of sheep.

I give lots of tours to families who love the farm like I do. We are busy baling hay now. I grow a garden and this week my tomatoes flowered. I guess spring has finally arrived. Happy farming!

OVEN-SCRAMBLED EGGS

(Serves 100)
- 2 cups butter, melted
- 100 eggs, beaten
- 3 tablespoons salt
- 2½ quarts milk

Divide butter among four 9 by 13-inch baking dishes. Combine eggs and salt; mix well. Gradually stir in milk. Pour evenly into dishes. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Stir. Bake 10-15 minutes more or until eggs are set. Optional: top with slices of cheese. Serve immediately.

Our family consists of one daughter, Renae, 15, and two sons, Ryan, 13 and Reuben, 10. My husband Roy works with another family on a dairy farm. We milk approximately 125 cows and farm a couple hundred acres.

The children are a great help in doing anything that needs work at. I go to market one day a week and work at a lawn furniture business, water sealing furniture when needed. I also do sewing for others and a lot of gardening.

God has been good and blessed us in so many ways. Thanks for your recipe pages. I always read over them.

CHERRY CHEESE PIE

- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 1 cup sugar
- 8 ounces whipped topping
- 1 can cherry topping
- 1 cooked 9-inch pie shell

Mix cream cheese, sugar, and whipped topping in a large bowl until creamy. Pour into pie shell. Top with cherries. Chill.

My name is Adam Gilbert. I am 10 years old and live on a dairy farm in Lehighton with my parents, my older brother and sister, and my uncle. We raise Jerseys and Holsteins but also raise some chickens and guinea fowl.

I am in the fourth grade at Mahoning Elementary School and enjoy fishing, playing sports, snowmobiling, gardening, and helping on the farm.

I am sending the recipe for Cherry Cheese Pie. My mom makes this pie a lot and everyone in my family likes it!

CROCK POT LASAGNA

- 1½ -2 pounds ground beef
- 1 box lasagna noodles
- 1 jar spaghetti sauce
- 1 stick butter
- 1 small box Velveeta cheese
- 1 bag shredded mozarello cheese

Brown ground beef. Cook noodles for 15 minutes and drain. Add butter, stir until melted. Layer in crockpot, starting with sauce, meat, noodles, and cheese. Turn crockpot on low for four hours.

I'm seven years old. I have one brother and two sisters, Earl, 5, Norma, 3, and Mary Ann, 1. We live on a dairy farm.

Until fall, I will be in second grade at Middle Creek School. So now, I'm enjoying my summer vacation.

PEACH STREUSEL CUSTARD

- 1 quart canned peaches, drained
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 cup sour cream
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ cup butter
- ¾ cup flour
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Slice peaches and arrange on the bottom of an ungreased 8x8-inch pan. Peaches should cover the bottom of the pan. Blend ¼ cup flour, sugar, sour cream, eggs, and vanilla until smooth and pour over peaches. Cut butter into the remaining flour, brown sugar, and cinnamon until crumbly. Sprinkle over the sour cream mixture. Bake for 40-50 minutes. May be served warm or cold. Best served warm with ice cream.

I live on Bar Z Farms with my husband Craig and our 2-year-old daughter Catrina. Bar Z Farm is a very diversified crop and livestock farm owned by John Zechmany, my father. I have lived on the farm most of my life and I hope my daughter will enjoy growing up on the farm as much as I did.

Craig grew up in the country but not on a farm. He never lived on a farm or did much farm work until he married me. He is quick to learn and can handle whatever needs to be done. He has grown to love the farm as much as I do.

As with any typical farm family, we are constantly busy. Usually, at this time of the year, the last place to find anyone is in the house. There is always something to do at the barn or in the chickenhouse. The best places to be are in the fields or in the garden and working with our newly acquired registered Angus cattle.

FUDGE RIBBON CAKE

2 tablespoons butter
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream all the above ingredients in a small bowl, beat until creamy, set aside.

½ cup butter
2 eggs
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
4 envelopes choco-bake or 4 squares melted unsweetened chocolate
2 cups sugar

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs and vanilla. Add remaining ingredients and beat well until thick and creamy.

Pour batter into greased 9x13-inch cake pan. Drop spoonfuls of cream cheese mixture on top of cake batter in pan. Swirl slightly with a knife, just enough to connect each drop of cream cheese with another. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until cake tests done.

Cool. Frost with any chocolate frosting.

I love chocolate! This is a dessert for a sweet tooth! Also, [illegible]e horses, reading, and walking in the woods.

COCONUT CREAM PIE

2½ cups milk, scalded
5 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup Baker's coconut
9-inch pastry shell (preferably in a glass plate)

Meringue:

3 egg whites (room temperature)
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons granulated sugar

Scald 2½ cups milk. Mix cornstarch, sugar, salt with ½ cup milk; stir until there are no lumps. Gradually add to scalded milk. Cook until thick and boiling for 2 minutes; stir constantly. Remove from heat and add small amount to egg yolks; mix well. Add yolk mixture to hot pudding, mix well and return to heat for one minute. Stir constantly. Mixture should plop from a spoon. Remove from heat. Add butter, vanilla, and coconut. Pour immediately into baked pastry shell.

Meringue: Beat egg whites until slightly foamy. Add sugar and cream of tartar. Beat until stiff and holds a peak. Spread over coconut cream. Sprinkle with coconut on top of meringue. Bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes.

POTATO CHEESE SOUP

2 large potatoes, peeled and diced
1 small onion, chopped
2 tablespoons chicken bouillon
1 can cream of celery soup
2 quarts milk
2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper to taste
½ pound Velveeta cheese, cubed

Cook potatoes, onion, and bouillon until soft in enough water to cover. Do not drain. Slightly mash some of the potatoes. Add the remaining ingredients and heat until cheese is melted, stirring often. Serves 6.

I am proud to represent the Juniata County dairy farmers as the 1997-98 Juniata County Dairy Princess. I reside on our 95-acre Orchard-Dew Registered Holstein farm with my supportive parents, Ray and Linda, and my brother, Dan, the Pa. FFA state chaplain. I own eight registered dairy animals that I enjoy working with and showing. SPANISH CREAM

3 tablespoons Knox gelatin
1 cup cold milk
6 egg yolks
1 cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 cups scalded milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
6 egg whites

Add gelatin to cold milk. Let stand five minutes. Mix egg yolks, sugar, and salt. Add to scalded milk and heat. Add gelatin to scalded mixture. Add vanilla. Cool. Fold stiffly beaten egg whites into mixture. Chill.

My two adult brothers, sister, and I all live on our 127-acre farm in Cumberland County. We moved here in 1930. We grow wheat, oats, corn, and hay for the cattle and layers. NOODLE PUDDING

8-ounces wide noodles, cooked and drained
16-ounces sour cream
16-ounces cottage cheese
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup milk
6 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream ingredients and then add the cooked noodles and put in a 9x13-inch buttered pan.

On top, sprinkle the following mixture:

½ cup cornflake crumbs
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until browned.

Serve it hot or at room temperature. You may make it the day before and then refrigerate it until you are ready to bake.

GOBS

Cakes:
2 cups sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
4 cups flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup cocoa
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 cup sour milk (add 2 tablespoons vinegar to cup and fill with milk to make 1 cup)
1 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix all ingredients together, batter will be thick, you may add more water if needed. Drop by teaspoon on an ungreased 9x13-inch cookie sheet. Bake for 5 minutes at 375 degrees.

Filling:
5 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk

Cook until thick, cool completely and add the following:
½ cup shortening
½ cup butter
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Put icing between two cakes and enjoy. This makes approximately 2 dozen put together cakes. Any left over icing can be frozen. I put double icing between the cakes, so I make a double batch of icing. Enjoy.

I am a city girl who had only been on a farm a few times. Here is my story:

I first met my fiance Nathan Hawbaker in the fall of 1993 on a bowling league, and we became friends. We started dating in June 1996, and in September, we set a wedding date for Nov. 1, 1997.

When I first started going to the farm, I was only feeding the calves. I had even named the calves. That ended quickly, to make calves to remember. I have since learned how to milk, which was at first a challenge, but has quickly become one of my favorite pastimes. I regret that I am only able to milk on weekends.

I have started to decorate our future home. In my kitchen the color scheme is black and white. I have found wallpaper border that yes, has cows on it. I have quite a collection of cows in my home mugs, salt and pepper shakers, knick knacks, and even a statue (a Christmas gift) of a cow that is very life-like.

I have learned a great deal from the farm and I love it. I wish that I would have learned sooner.

BAKED HAM SANDWICHES

16-20 slices bread

Place half of the slices in a greased 9x13-inch pan.

1 pound Coopers sharp cheese
1 pound chipped ham

Place cheese and ham on bread and cover with remaining bread. Beat together:

6 eggs
3 cups milk

Pour mixture over sandwiches and refrigerate overnight. Combine:

½ cup butter, melted
2 cups cornflake crumbs

Sprinkle crumbs on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 45-60 minutes. Cut into squares.

This recipe is a treat for our family. It is great for those breakfasts on weekends we are at a cabin in the mountains. Although we don't live on a farm, we do enjoy the benefits of living in the country. Our "livestock" includes a dog named Pete and three pygmy kids named Taffy, Lucy, and Frances.

OATMEAL PANCAKES

2 cups oatmeal
2 cups milk or buttermilk
1 cup flour
2 eggs
3 teaspoons baking powder

Fry in hot skillet.

The whole family likes these pancakes. We are more interested in whole wheat and oatmeal recipes, since our children have an intestine problem called Hirshprunger Disease. A part of the intestine or colon is not working and needs to be taken out, and it happened that three of them needed that operation this winter. It's a relief to see them eat better and be healthy again. All three needed some extra care yet but we are just thankful how well they are.

Our newborn daughter Linda, 2½ months old, needed the operation the first week. Her case was worse than the others. Jonathan, 5, had 6 inches removed. Susie Elaine, 2, had needed a side opening for 3 months, so she got her second surgery and still has a lot of problems. She had 18 inches taken out and will take a bit longer to get back in shape.

Marie, 7, was in first grade this year and Alvin, 4, both are healthy and enjoy helping feed the calves and do other chores that go along with the dairy.

We enjoy Lancaster Farming. I'm anxious to see the June recipes.

CHOCOLATE STREUSEL BARS

1¼ cups unsifted flour
1½ cups confectioners' sugar
½ cup unsweetened cocoa
1 cup butter
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk (not evaporated milk)
1 egg
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
½ cup chopped nuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, and cocoa. Cut in butter until crumbly (mixture will be dry).

Setting aside 2 cups crumb mixture, press remainder firmly on bottom of 9 by 13-inch baking pan. Bake 15 minutes. In large mixer bowl, beat cheese until fluffy. Gradually beat in sweetened condensed milk until smooth. Add egg and vanilla; mix well. Pour over prepared crust. Combine nuts with reserved crumb mixture; sprinkle over cheese mixture. Bake 25 minutes or until bubbly. Cool. Chill. Cut into bars. Store covered in refrigerator.

BLACK AND WHITE CHEESECAKE BITES

Crust:
12 ounces semisweet chocolate chips
½ cup butter
2 cups graham cracker crumbs

Filling:
8 ounces cream cheese
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Preheat oven to 325 degrees.

Crust:

In medium saucepan over very low heat, melt chocolate chips and butter, stirring until smooth. Stir in graham cracker crumbs. Remove ¼ cup mixture for later use. Press remaining graham cracker mixture evenly in a 9 by 13-inch baking pan.

Filling:

In a large bowl with an electric mixture, beat cream cheese until smooth. Gradually beat in condensed milk, then egg and vanilla. Pour over prepared crust. Sprinkle with reserved ¼ cup crumb mixture. Bake until set, 25-30 minutes. Cool. Refrigerate until cold, about 2 hours or longer. Cut into 24 squares. Makes 24 pieces.

CREAM OF POTATO SOUP

2 cups milk
2 tablespoons flour
1 can evaporated milk
2 tablespoons parsley flakes
5 pounds potatoes, diced
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons chicken bouillon
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery

Cover potatoes with water. Add 1 teaspoon salt. Boil until done (Do not drain potatoes.)

Saute onion and celery lightly in butter (do not brown). Stir in flour to make a paste. Turn heat very low and add milk slowly until smooth and thickened. Add cooked potatoes and the water in which they were boiled to the flour mixture. Add evaporated milk, chicken bouillon, parsley flakes, and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer on very low heat.

My husband and I read Lancaster Farming each week. I especially enjoy the submissions of your readers to the cooking section.

We have three children, ages 14, 18, and 19. Cream of potato soup with variations is a recipe which has been passed along in our family and we all seem to enjoy it.

STRAWBERRY CREAM TAPIOCA

1 quart strawberries
¼ cup tapioca (minute type)
2 cups water
¾ cup sugar
1 quart milk
½ cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup tapioca
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

If you are using frozen strawberries, drain them and include that juice in the two cups water. Bring the water and sugar to a boil. Add tapioca and cook, stirring constantly for 15 minutes. Pour over strawberries and cool.

Combine milk, sugar, egg yolk, tapioca, and salt. Let set for 10 minutes. Put on medium heat and cook, stirring constantly until thickened, about 10-15 minutes. Remove from heat and add stiffly beaten egg whites and vanilla. Cool.

To serve, alternate layers of cream and fruit mixtures in large serving dish or individual serving dishes.

Note: I like to double the strawberry portion of the recipe for plenty of fruit layer, since my family loves strawberries.

Our family lives on a 123-acre farm near Manheim. We moved here in January and are taking care of the 88,000-bird broiler operation for the owner of the farm.

My husband Joseph also works at White Oak Mills in Elizabethtown as swine production manager and dispatcher.

The Lord has blessed us with five children: James, 13; Laura, 8½ ; Joanna, 7; Nathan, 4½ ; and David, 2.

We are a homeschooling family and we also love country life. I think my family's favorite seasons are spring and summer, when we can be gardening, running barefoot, picnicking down by the stream, and enjoying the flowers and beauty of God's creation.

Each week I look forward to the B section of Lancaster Farming, especially "Home On The Range."

RUTH'S EXTRA RICH OYSTER STEW

½ cup sweet cream butter
¼ cup margarine
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 pint oysters
1 quart half and half cream
2 teaspoons paprika
1 teaspoon black pepper
1 tablespoon wye river seasoning (black or red)

Using a heavy two-quart or larger pan, melt the butter with the margarine over low heat, when fully melted, add the Worcestershire and oysters swishing often until the edges of the oysters start to curl. Add the half & half, paprika, pepper and wye river seasoning. Stir together well over low heat. Do not boil. Simmer for about 20 minutes, serve with oyster crackers or saltines.

My husband loves this stew warmed up the next day (if any is left) as he feels it is even richer. We live on the family farm of 94 acres even though we don't work it ourselves, we lease the ground to a farmer near us who plants crops for his animals.

My husband Kenny and I have been married for more than six years and have two sons, Kenneth Jr. and Arthur Edward, known by everyone as Buster and Dukie.

My husband is a car wholesaler and loves to go to farm and junk sales and auctions. We both work for ourselves and I have a trash removal service with my brother. I handle the office he takes care of the dirty work.

My husband borrowed a copy of your paper from a friend over two years ago and needless to say, we became subscribers and avid readers from that point on.

VANILLA ICE CREAM

2 eggs
2 cups milk
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy whipping cream

Separate the eggs and make a soft custard of the milk, egg yolks, and sugar. Beat the egg whites stiff and pour over them the hot custard; mix thoroughly. Add the vanilla and salt and, when cold, the whipped cream. Freeze and enjoy!

Variations:

1. Add ½ cup chopped dates and 1 cup chopped walnuts
2. Add 1 small bottle maraschino cherries and run through the food chopper with about half the liquid.
3. Carmelize to golden brown about half the sugar used in making the custard and add to the hot milk before adding the egg yolks.
4. Add 1 cup any well-mashed fruit.
5. Add 1 cup grape nut cereal.
6. Add 1 cup Oreo Cookie crumbs.
7. Add 2 squares melted chocolate to the custard.
8. Add instant coffee (to taste).

This recipe is for a two-quart freezer.

TEXAS BROWNIES

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
½ cup butter
½ cup shortening
1 cup strong brewed coffee
¼ cup cocoa
½ cup buttermilk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon vanilla

Frosting:
½ cup butter
2 tablespoons cocoa
¼ cup milk
3½ cups confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

In a large bowl, combine the flour and sugar. In a heavy saucepan, combine butter, shortening, coffee, and cocoa. Stir and heat until boiling. Pour boiling mixture over flour and sugar in the bowl. Add buttermilk, eggs, baking soda, and vanilla. Mix well. Pour into 11 by 17½ -inch jelly roll pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes or until done.

While brownies bake, prepare frosting. In saucepan combine butter, cocoa, and milk. Stir and heat to boiling. Mix in confectioners' sugar and vanilla until smooth. Pour warm frosting over brownies as soon as you take them out of the oven. Cool.

SNICKER CAKE

1 package German chocolate cake mix
14-ounces caramels
½ cup butter
⅓ cup milk
¾ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 cup pecans, chopped

Prepare cake mix as directed on package. Pour half the batter into a greased and floured 9x13-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Combine caramels, butter and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring often, until caramels are melted. Remove cake from oven. Pour caramel mixture over cake evenly. Top with chocolate chips and nuts. Dot with remaining batter. Bake at 250 degrees for 20 minutes, then at 350 degrees for 10-15 minutes or until well done.

I live on a dairy farm in Juniata County with my parents, 5 sisters, and 4 brothers. I just recently got back home again after being in Illinois for almost six months. I had been teaching school in Illinois. I enjoyed it out there but it sure is great to be home with my family again.

Also, I'm ready to get back to country living again. I'm looking forword to helping unload hay loads and working in the garden and flower beds. I hope you all have a wonderul summer!

SOUR CREAM APPLE CAKE

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup sour cream
3 apples, sliced

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs and vanilla. Combine flour, baking powder, baking soda. Add to creamed mixture, alternating with sour cream. Spread in greased pan. Top with apple slices. Sprinkle top with ½ cup sugar. Combine with ½ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees in a 9x13-inch pan.

My family loves this cake. It's so easy to make and tastes great every time. I hope you enjoy it.

SPUMONI ICE CREAM CAKE

2 boxes strawberry ice cream
1 quart spumoni ice cream or your favorite nut ice cream with other goodies
8-ounces jar strawberry jam
¼ cup slivered almonds
1 cup whole strawberries
1 pint whipping cream, whipped and sweetened

Soften ice cream; pat each quart into 8-inch round cake pan, which has been lined with plastic wrap. Freeze until hard. Spread half strawberry jam on each layer. Stack together with spumoni layer in center. Frost with whipped cream. Garnish outside with almonds. Arrange strawberries on top; freeze overnight. Yield: 12 servings.

I am 15 and live on a dairy farm. I help in the field and I help with the milking, I like to work outside and plant flowers.

FRUIT DELIGHT

2 cups flour
1 cup butter
2 tablespoons sugar

Soften butter and mix with other ingredients. Spread evenly in a 10½ by 15½ by 1½ -inch deep baking sheet. Bake 10-18 minutes at 350 degrees, being careful to not get the mixture too brown. (It should show only tinges of browning.) Cool.

Second layer:

8-ounce package of cream cheese (room temperature)
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 pint whipped cream, whipped

Using electric mixer, combine these ingredients and spread on cooled baked crust.

Third layer:

At this point, top with your favorite pie filling and refrigerate. You can also make your own topping using a package of frozen sliced strawberries thickened with a small amount of clear gel mixed with sugar and a touch of lemon juice. To this add about ¾ quart of fresh strawberries, halved. Carefully layer on top of the cream cheese mixture and refrigerate until set.

This recipe not only looks good but tastes equally as good as it looks.

My husband and I live on a 200-acre dairy farm. We also rent another 300 acres. My husband is semi-retired and works for our only son, who now runs the farm. Our son has 225 head of Holstein cows and employs another full-time helper plus six high school boys, as needed. I keep the books for our son so everything is up to date on a daily basis.

Neither of us would exchange life on the farm for anything. However, we do like to travel with our local bus company that arranges multiday tours. In fact we just returned from a four-day tour to Parkersburg, West Virginia, where we explored Blennerhasset Island. This is a five-mile-long island in the middle of the Ohio River.

As great as it is to get away, it is equally as great to return home to the farm.

GRAPE-NUT PUDDING

1 quart milk
½ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream
¾ cup sugar
2 egg yolks
2 teaspoons vanilla
¾ cup grape nut cereal

Add enough milk to flour to make a smooth, thin paste.

Add eggs and salt to paste. Beat. Heat remaining milk and sugar until almost scalding and stir in paste mixture. Stir constantly until thickened. Cool; fold in vanilla. Add cream (whipped) and grape nuts just before serving.

We have two girls and three boys ages 2-9. We are produce farmers with a broiler house, a bike shop, and soil-grown greenhouse tomatoes — which keeps us busy all summer.

BROCCOLI AND RICE CASSEROLE

Saute:
½ cup butter
½ cup onion
1 cup diced celery
Add:
1 cup milk
1 cup water
1 can any cream soup
Add:
½ pound velveeta cheese (stir until melted)

Pour over 1 cup dry minute rice and one 10-ounce package of frozen broccoli. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 50 minutes.

My husband and I own a dairy farm in Snyder County. We have two daughters, Janelle, 12 and Danielle, 7, who help us with our 50 dairy cows. This recipe is a favorite of our family.

PINK ARCTIC FREEZE

Two 3-ounce packages cream cheese
2 tablespoons sugar
1-pound can (2 cups) whole cranberry sauce
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
9-ounce can (1 cup) crushed pineapple, drained

Soften cream cheese; blend in mayonnaise and sugar. Add nuts, fruits, whipped cream; add to mixture and mix well. Pour into 8½ by 4½ -inch loaf pan or comparable size mold. Freeze firm 6 hours or overnight. Before serving, let stand at room temperature 15 minutes. Slice, turn out on lettuce if desired. Makes 8-10 servings.

My family operates a 40-cow dairy farm in eastern New York on the Hudson River. Much of my time is spent as the Greene County dairy princess, promoting dairy products to the public.

I enjoy doing school programs, hosting special events, and writing newspaper articles, teaching people about the importance of dairy products to their diet. The dairy industry affects the lives of so many people that educating the public is crucial to the future. Enjoy June Dairy Month!

CREAMY HASH BROWN CASSEROLE

32-ounce package frozen Southern-style hash brown potatoes, thawed
1 pound American cheese, cubed
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup, undiluted
2 cups sour cream
¾ cup butter, melted, divided
3 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 cups cornflakes, slightly crushed

In a large bowl, combine hash browns, cheese, soup, sour cream, ½ cup butter, and onion. Spread into a greased 13x9x2-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with paprika. Combine cornflakes and remaining butter. Sprinkle on top. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 50-60 minutes or until heated through.

EASY BUTTERSCOTCH PUDDING

1½ quarts milk
1 cup molasses
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup flour
½ cup butter
1 tablespoon vanilla
5 eggs

In heavy kettle, bring milk and butter to boiling. Beat together remaining ingredients and stir into hot milk. Continue stirring until pudding is thick.

Pour into serving dishes. Chill.

This is our favorite pudding. It's quick and simple.

P-NUT BUTTER PIE

Crust:
25 vanilla wafers
½ cup unsalted peanuts, chopped
¼ cup butter (melted)

Mix all together, then press into a 10-inch pie pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Cool.

Filling:

One 8-ounce package of cream cheese
One cup peanut butter

Beat until light and fluffy, then add 1 cup sugar. Beat until well mixed, then add one cup heavy cream, whipped with one teaspoon vanilla, until forms peak. Fold into peanut butter mixture. Pour into baked shell. Chill for 2 hours. Serve with fudge sauce.

Fudge sauce:

2 ounces semisweet chocolate
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons vanilla

Cook over low heat until it thickens.

PEACHES AND CREAM PIE

2 packages (four serving size) instant vanilla pudding
1½ cups milk, divided.
¾ cup pureed peaches (fresh or canned)
1 baked 9-inch pie crust
½ teaspoon almond extract
2½ cups whipped cream

Prepare one package pie filling as directions indicate, using ½ cup milk and pureed peaches. Pour into pie crust. Refrigerate.

Prepare remaining package of pudding mix as package indicates, using remaining 1 cup milk. Stir in almond extract. Let stand five minutes, stirring twice. Gently fold in 1½ cups of whipped cream. Spoon over peach layer. Refrigerate three hours before serving.

To serve, arrange sliced fresh peaches and remaining cream on top.

We live on a 93-acre dairy farm in Bedford County. We have 58 cows and about 50 replacement heifers.

We have three girls and a boy: Annie, 5; Joyce, 4; Rebekah, 2; and Adam, 7 months. We really enjoy life on the farm! We also enjoy Lancaster Farming.

CHOCOLATY DOUBLE CRUNCHERS

½ cup butter, softened
½ cup sugar
½ cup packed brown sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup quick cooking oats
1 cups crushed cornflakes
½ cup flaked coconut

Filling:

6-ounces cream cheese, softened
1½ cups confectioners' sugar
2 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips, melted

In a mixing bowl, cream butter and sugars. Add egg and vanilla; mix well. Combine flour, baking soda, and salt. Add to creamed mixture and mix well. Add oats, cornflakes, and coconut. Shape into 1-inch balls and place 2-inches apart on greased baking sheets. Flatten with glass dipped in flour. Bake at 350 degrees for 8-10 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool for filling: beat cream cheese and sugar until smooth. Add the chocolate; mix well. Spread about 1 tablespoon on half of the cookies and top each with another cookie. Store in refrigerator. Yield: 2 dozen.

We live on a dairy farm in the Ephrata area. We also have a lime and fertilizer business and are partnership with my husband's parents and his brother. We have three boys, Daryl, 10; Brian, 6; and Anthony, 3. I enjoy cooking for my family.

FAST FRUIT COBBLER

1 cup flour
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups canned, sliced peaches, drained
½ cup butter, melted

Combine flour, sugar, and baking powder in a two-quart baking dish. Stir in milk and vanilla to make a thin batter. Place fruit slices over the batter and drizzle the melted butter over the top. Do not stir. Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until nicely browned. Try cherries or berries instead of peaches. Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream.

CREAMY CARAMEL DIP

8 ounces cream cheese
¾ cup packed brown sugar
1 cup sour cream
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup cold milk
3.4 ounces instant vanilla pudding
Assorted fresh fruit

In mixing bowl beat cream cheese and brown sugar until smooth. Add sour cream, vanilla, milk, and pudding mix, beating well. Cover and chill for at least 1 hour. Serve as a dip for fruit. Delicious!

Our children really like this dip and I enjoy trying new recipes — especially those from the B section of Lancaster Farming.

West Snyder FFA

On Wednesday, April 30, the West Snyder FFA Cahpter participated in the north central regional parliamentary procedure and public speaking career development events. These events involved FFA chapters from Snyder, Union, Northumberland, Montour, Columbia, Centre, Clinton, Clearfield, Potter, Elk, Cameron, McKean, Bradford, Sullivan, Tioga, and Lycoming counties.

In the parliamentary procedure event, team members are given 20 minutes to demonstrate parliamentary abilities. The West Snyder team placed first and consisted of Michele Fetterolf, Rose Carper, Maria Trego, Joe Kramer, Jessica Catherman, Doug Boop, Jenna Straub, and Tami Weller. Shane Eia served as the team's alternate. The team qualified for the regional event by placing first in the five-county district contest and will advance to the state FFA contest in June at Penn State.

In the extemporaneous public speaking event, FFA members are assigned a topic and are given 30 minutes to prepare a four- to six-minute speech. Luke Zerby and Ben Boonie represented West Snyder FFA and placed first and third respectively. Both members will advance to the state event at Penn State in June. In the junior public speaking event, first-year FFA members in grades seventh through tenth prepare and deliver a four to six minute speech on an agricultural topic. Heidi Good, ninth grade, placed fourth with a speech titled "Water Pollution?" She qualified for the regional event by placing fourth in the district contest. In the General Public Speaking event, Maria Trego placed fourth with a speech on cloning. Both Heidi Good and Maria Trego will serve as alternates for state competition.

Members Win Regional, State Proficiency Awards

Ten FFA proficiency applications were submitted for regional competition from the West Snyder FFA Chapter and three members won the state competition.

Jodi Moist won first place in the north central region and first in the state in the proficiency area of beef entrepreneurship. Eric Baltincz won first place in the north central region and first in the state in the proficiency area of ag sales and service.

Luke Zerby won first in the north central region in sheep entrepreneurship and diversified livestock and first in the state in diversified livestock entrepreneurship. They will receive $100 and advance to national competition.

Other north central regional winners included Steven Opdyke, dairy placement; John Walter, poultry placement; and Liz Hollenbach, commercial vegetables. These regional winners will receive $25. Other applicants included Johsua Heeter and Luke Zerby, beef entrepreneurship and Jodi Moist, dairy placement.

John Deere Announces Leadership Gift

John Deere, through its corporate foundation, announced at the National FFA Foundation Sponsors' Board meeting that it would contributed $375,000 to the National FFA Organization's capital campaign for a new National FFA Center in Indianapolis.

FFA has now raised nearly $2 million, including more than $1.5 million pledged by Indianapolis sponsors The Lilly Endowment, DowElanco, and The Eli Lilly and Company Foundation on behalf of Elanco Animal Health.

The total goal for the campaign — which takes its theme, "I Believe in the Future," from the FFA Creed — is $8 million for the land, building, move, technology and other elements needed to make the center a reality, and for an endowment to help maintain the center into the future. The National FFA Foundation, Inc., expects to receive $5 million from corporate and foundation sponsors and $3 million from the sale of FFA's land in Virginia and contributions from FFA members, chapters, alumni, and staff, as well as other individuals.

John Deere's contribution includes $275,000 in outright funds and $100,000 as a challenge grant, to be realized if the organization can match it through other contributions. "The FFA is a quality organization that provides youth with excellent development skills," said Don Margenthaler, president of The John Deere Foundation. "We at Deere hope others will join us in supporting this effort."

John Deere is the longest standing sponsor of FFA programs, providing support for 54 years.

FFA chapters across the country also will have the opportunity to contribute to the campaign and leave a lasting mark on the new center by purchasing a brick engraved with the chapter's name. The Montello FFA Chapter from Wisconsin purchased the first brick. The 1996-1997 national FFA officer team, a group of six college students who take a year out of school to represent their fellow members, made a $1,000 contribution.

The new site is on five acres of land near 86th Street and Interstate 465 in Indianapolis.

Jessica Hess and Brandi Long make preparations for the upcoming Manor FFA Horse Show.

Penn Manor FFA

Penn Manor FFA is holding its fourth annual Benefit Horse Show at Columbia Riding Club on June 22 at 9 a.m.

There will be classes for youth and adults. The categories are western, English, and speed divisions. There will be western and English pleasure stake, a trail class, and many other fun activities.

Last year 180 people participated in the horse show and the club expects more this year.

The kitchen will be open so there will be plenty of food and drinks available. There will also be a bake sale where you can get lots of snacks.

The students involved on the horse show committee are Laura Trautman, Brandi Long, Jessica Hess, Emily Hubbs. Adviser is Carole Fay.

For more information, contact Laura Trautman at (717) 397-3996 or Carole Fay at (717) 872-9520.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questons but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

ANSWER — R. Cox of Quakertown wanted a good recipe for making homemade laundry soap. Here is one from Mrs. Elam Miller, Leola, which she used.

Homemade Flake Soap

Mix the following in stone crock in order given:
10 cups cold water
9 cups melted fat
½ cup amonia
3 tablespoons borax
1 can Banner lye, sprinkle lye in last. Let set 5 to 10 minutes, stir frequently for the first 1½ hour, after that every hour throughout the day. Let set in crock for a couple days. Put in tight containers so it won't dry out.

ANSWER — A Wysox reader writes that as a child of Pennsylvania Dutch heritage, she had been taken to someone to do "pow-wow" on her for an ailment of some kind. She was too young to remember what was involved. She wanted some background information on pow-wow. Thanks to Lester K. Burkholder, Fredericksburg, for sending the following information: Powwing is the English name given to the practice known in the German language as Braucherey. The word pow-wow is a direct translation from the Algonquian Indian language which means communication with the dream and spirit world. The word Braucherey is thought to originate from the ancient Hebrew word of Baruch that means to bless. This is not to be confused with a blessing from the almighty God where the Hebrew word of Brakah is always used.

The practice was brought into America from the old world by the early settlers. Brauchery (powowing) goes back to ancient sources and carries an occult mood. It is thought that most of these practices originated from ancient Egyptian practices of sorcery and were passed down through the generations. The practices used in powwowing are mystical and require faith in them to work.

ANSWER — L. Eugene Martin has information for John Boldridge on construction and use of a wood kiln using a dehumidifyer for the drying mechanism. Write to him at 575 Netzley Dr., Denver, PA 17517.

ANSWER — Bonnie Gibble of Ono needs information on how to stop her dog from chewing on his leg and taking off hair and flesh. He is now eating dirt, which he didn't do before. Could he be lacking something in his system? Vet is no help with lotions, which can stop it in one area but the dog will start eating at another place. Thanks to Ruth Erb, Beavertown, for answering. She read in health newsletters about dogs being helped by Proanthocyanidin (brand name Pycnogenol) an extract of grape seeds or a particular pine needle. It is a natural anti-inflammatory that does not cause stomach ulcers. Walmart sells Proanthocyanidin reasonably. Try giving your dog one a day. He should probably chew it up, if not, crush and sprinkle on his food. Try for two or three months at least. Ruth writes that she has taken it for years for a chronic muscle disease that is incurable. The only side effect in humans found thus far is a possible B vitamin depletion. Ruth takes extra B vitamines for this. If the therapy doesn't work, ask your vet about Chondroitan Complex. Vets prescribe it for animals with arthritis, but it is also an anti-inflammatory. Also, put a little olive oil on your dog's food.

ANSWER — Beth Schaffer, Telford, is restoring an antique wicker (reed) wheelchair and needed wheels. Thanks to David Hoffman, Bechtelsville, writes that he has a pair of wooden wheel chair wheels in good condition. Contact him at P.O. Box 477 Bechtelsville, PA 19505, and give your phone number. He will contact you.

ANSWER — Levi Stoltzfus, Quarryville, wanted to know where to send glass jars to have flowers hand-painted on them. Thanks to Mrs. Ray Peters who writes that her aunt has The Motto Shop and does painting on glass and wooden plaques. Contact Catherine Lehman at R.1, Box 563-L, Everett, PA 15537 or call (814) 847-2011. Also, Elva Hurst of Lititz has years of experience in painting. Contact her at (717) 626-6582.

ANSWER — Richard Millard, Warrington, wanted to buy wood handles, new or good used ones for a walk behind cultivator or harrow. Edward Clark, Frazer, suggests contacting Walter N. Hoover, 2215 Main St., Narvon, PA 17555 or call (717) 445-6012.

ANSWER — Anna Mary Nace, Spring Grove, is in need of a replacement drop over lower handle for a (396M) 6-quart Mirro aluminum pressure cooker. The patent numbers are 2399115 and 2485380. Thanks to Anna Mary Nace, Spring Grove, who suggests calling the company at 1-800-527-7727.

R. MICHAEL HULET
Professor of Poultry Science

About two years ago, an experiment was conducted at Penn State to study the comparative growth performance of two high yielding strains of broilers grown on two different diets.

A sudden dramatic increase in ambient temperature that "cooled" to 93 degrees at night interrupted the experiment.

The high temperatures at night, combined with the natural increase in humidity, within two days caused 25 percent mortality in the 7-week-old flock.

Most of the losses were the faster growing, heavier cockerels.

Many flocks throughout the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic states were affected by the same sudden heat wave.

Did we learn anything from this experience?

George Santayana said, "Those who cannot remember the past are bound to repeat it." Are you subject to repeat such a disaster this summer?

As a result of heat stress, it was determined that those producers who had the ability to use an evaporative cooling system, either tunnel or enclosed house fogging, were able to drastically reduce mortality rates.

Considering the experience, most of the houses built since then have been designed with an evaporative cooling system and most with a tunnel ventilation.

The function of the tunnel plus evaporative cooling system is to lower the ambient temperature by six to eight degrees.

That is usually sufficient to decrease, and in most instances eliminate, mortality on modern broilers.

High temperatures can have disasterous effects on flock performance.

With really high temperatures, some birds will dramatically increase water intake, while others will only eat and drink at night, when the temperature cools down.

The problem with the high temperature is that the only way for the chicken to dissipate heat is to essentially act like a small heat exchanger. They take the air into the lungs and air sacs and have an exchange of internal body heat with the air that was taken in through respiration.

Broilers are most efficient when grown after 28 days at temperatures between 65 and 68 degrees.

When the ambient outside temperature increases beyond 70 degrees and approaches the broilers' external body temperature (105-106 degrees), growth performance progressively declines.

At temperatures above 100 degrees, the ability of the bird to tolerate or withstand these temperatures (called thermotolerance) is overcome, which normally leads to death.

There are three primary ways to deal with this recurring problem:

1. Reduce the heat within the poultry house by providing evaporative cooling systems that are accompanied with higher rates of air velocity (400-450 feet per minute) that flow at head level over the flock;

2. Precondition the flock with high temperature (95 degrees) for 24 hours at five days of age, or withhold feed during the periods of high temperature (day) to prevent the heat of digestion from synergising with the ambient heat stress; and

3. Build a large composter or buy enough propane to incinerate all the mortality that you will be picking up during that unexpected early heat stress.

The second procedure of heat conditioning at five days of age reported by Yahav and Hurwitz (Poultry Science, 1996) reduced the mortality associated with a heat stress of 95 degrees without affecting market age performance or livability.

However, the greatest help in reducing mortality from heat stress can be realized by improving the evaporative ventilation system.

The ventilation system will not effectively reduce temperat during hot weather if its various components are not operating properly. Therefor, now is the time to check the fogging system, ventilation fans, air inlets, thermostats, alarms and generators.

Remember, now is the time to prepare for an acute heat stress that may have disastrous effects on flock performance. Proper preparation of equipment can reduce losses when a heat stress occurs.

Red Knob Farm Is Showcase Of Environmental Stewardship

PEACH BOTTOM (Lancaster Co.) — Land O'Lakes member Matt Young, general manager of Red Knob Farm, met with representatives of the Dairy Network Partnership (DNP) to discuss his farm management practices for environmental conservation.

Matt and David Young have initiated a major effort toward environmental stewardship on their southern Lancaster County farm. They have implemented many structures and practices aimed at preserving the health of neighboring waterways and, ultimately, the Chesapeake Bay.

Matt Young volunteered three hours this spring to discuss his philosophy of good stewardship toward the land and demonstrate his farm's use of such practices as no-till cropping, double-cropping, terraces, vegetative filter strips, streambank fencing, and barnyard/milkhouse runoff control. Runoff and waste management structures, including solids separators and sedimentation basins allow waste water to be recycled. In recent years, Young has observed evidence of reduced upstream runoff and erosion input into the Little Conowingo stream which transects his property.

The Youngs will be hosting a field day on Tuesday, June 17, at 10 a.m. to demonstrate their comprehensive environmental protection plan and to discuss innovations and advances they have experienced through the development of the system. The event will provide information on conservation project planning, design, and cost-share assistance.

Matt and David Young farm 0 southern Lancaster County acres and milk 420 Holstein cows at an average production of 70 pounds of milk per cow per day. Like the majority of Pennsylvania farms, Red Knob Farm is family owned and benefits from the Young families' contributions to the livestock and land care. Matt Young suggests that farm owners who live and work amidst their land are likely to be concerned about the health of their environment. Both the land and livestock are managed with the intent to minimize environmental impact.

A trout fisherman and rabbit hunter, Young has witnessed the detrimental effects of agricultural runoff and feels an obligation to care for natural resources. He described his purpose as two-fold? to be a good steward of the land and water and to comply with all laws and regulations.

Matt explained that taking care of resources requires more than simple law compliance, and that meeting minimal standards does not necessarily confer good stewardship. Young envisions the adoption of a "sportsman's ethic" among farmers that entails a desire to follow environmental protection laws for a greater purpose than only complying with a regulation. His goal is to completely eliminate pollution from his farm by achieving zero sediment and nutrient discharge. He hopes for widespread efforts among other farmers to reduce pollutant runoff and protect water quality.

The Youngs practice total no-till farming and attribute a great deal of their success in reducing erosion and nutrient runoff to this practice. Double-cropping of corn silage and rye provides consistent cover nearly year-round. Young stresses the importance of the rye cover crop, which is harvested as forage, as a necessity for preventing erosion of soils and the subsequent transportation of nutrients into the stream. Corn and rye take up high levels of nitrogen from the soil, thereby removing nutrients provided by the spreading of animal manure with each harvest and reducing the pollution potential. Approximately 450 lbs. of nitrogen are harvested from the Young fields with the corn and rye crops, which helps to containing the nutrients and preventing water contamination.

The notill method results in a highly aerated, earthworm populated soil of sod-like consistency containing fibrous root structure from the cover crop. This soil is basically erosion free, according to Young, who said that "if you don't move the soil, you don't move the contaminants." Like many farmers who have attempted the no-till method, the Youngs noticed a decrease in crop yields during the first three to five years of practice; however, yield steadily increased to levels that continue to surpass previous potentials. After about 18 years of no-till cropping, the Youngs remain a strong proponent of this conservation practice, which is an "excellent low-capital way to improve water quality."

Manure is managed by a comprehensive program, which involves the flushing of concrete feeding and milking areas into a solids separator. The filtered solids are removed and exported to a commercial fertilizer manufacturer. The remainder flows into a sediment basin, followed by a settling pond. All barnyard and driveway runoff is collected by drains and piped into the manure management system, where it follows the same sedimentation process.

The system capacity is sufficient to contain runoff water for up to six months. The water is then recycled into the flushing system and used to irrigate the fields during the dry months. A portion of the nitrogen and phosphorus are contained or exported with the separated solids, therefore the pollutant levels added to the fields at irrigation is reduced. The containment and recycling system effectively eliminates nutrient discharge into the stream from the barnyard runoff and greatly reduces the amount of fresh water needed to maintain cleanliness.

Young estimates that he has reduced fresh water usage from the 40,000 pounds per day necessary before recycling, to 7,500 pounds of fresh water used per day for flushing the milking parlor since the system was implemented three years ago.

In addition to the no-till and contour cropping methods, the Youngs prevent field runoff flow into the stream via the capture of nutrient and soil runoff by a grass filter strip which lines the perimeter of the property. The Conservation District is helping to install a terrace enclosing the system that will include grass waterways designed to corral all surface water and accidental fertilizer discharge. Collected water will be routed into reservoirs and piped back into the manure management system. Young hopes that the terrace system, when complete, will enable the containment of runoff caused by moderate rainfall.

At the stream site, streambank fencing helps to protect the Little Conowingo waterway ecosystem. The Youngs recently purchased and fenced an additional ¼ mile section of Little Conowingo stream adjacent to their farm in order to ensure its preservation. The approximately 6,000 yards of stream bank at Red Knob Farm was fenced through a cost share program. A stream bank stabilization project is under way by the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, which involves planting trees and shrubs in order to prevent erosion of the banks. A DNP Mini-Grant will provide assistance for the installation of stream crossings on the Little Conowingo and a small feeder run.

The ultimate goal of the Young farmers is complete prevention of waterway contamination. The DNP and Matt Young aim for widespread adoption of practices that protect the environment at the local level, thereby providing water quality improvement, which extends to the Chesapeake Bay. Through their commitment to environmental quality and implementation of pollutant control techniques, the families of Red Knob Farm are making a difference locally, and providing an example for farmers statewide and beyond.

Farmers and other interested parties are invited to learn about these practices and to see them in action at the Field Day on June 17, beginning at 10 a.m. at Red Knob Farm, located about two miles east of Wakefield on Balance Meeting Road. Matt Young will lead a tour and demonstration of his innovative water quality protection plan, including manure management, water collection and diversion, vegetative filter strips, stream fencing and cattle crossings. The discussion will include the installation and maintenance of each practice, and information about technical, planning, and and cost-share assistance. The field day is co-sponsored by the Dairy Network Partnership, Lancaster County Conservation District, Natural Resource Conservation Service, Penn State Cooperative Extension, and Pequea-Mill Creek Project.

Hauseman, Steinour Named Assistant Vice Presidents

READING (Berks Co.) — CoreStates Bank, N.A. announced Scott A. Hauseman, Sinking Springs, and Wayne A. Steinour, Gettysburg, have both been promoted to assistant vice president in for the Agri-Finance Department.

Lawrence F. Delp, president, CoreStates' Keystone Market, announced the promotions of both Hauseman and Steinour.

Scott A. Hauseman

Wayne A. Steinour

Hauseman is responsible for the portfolio of commercial production agricultural customers, including a cross section of family farms, partnerships and corporations involved in dairy, hog, poultry, mushroom and vegetable enterprises.

Prior to this new position, Hauseman was a banking officer for agrifinance and was employed by the former Meridian Bank since 1992 and Agway since 1985.

Hauseman received his bachelor's in agricultural business management from Penn State in 1985.

Hauseman serves on the Conrad Weiser Vocational Agriculture Advisory Board, the Berks Cooperative Extertion Board, and the Berks County Farm-City Council. He is a member of St. John's Lutheran Church and the Penn State Nittany Lion Club.

Steinour is responsible for the development and ongoing maintenance of the CoreStates agrifinance commercial loan portfolio in Adams, Franklin, York, and northern Maryland counties.

He was previously a branch manager and was employed by the former Meridian Bank since 1989 and the former Hill Financial Savings Association since 1984.

Steinour received his bachelor's in business administration/ management from Shippensburg University. He also completed course work at the Northeast School of Agricultural Lending at Cornell University, the Institute of Financial Education, and Penn State College of Agriculture.

Steinour serves on the York County Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee, he is a member of the Adams County Farm Bureau, and the Adams County Beef Producers Association. Steinour is also a committee member for the Adams County 4-H Youth Exchange. He is involved with First Baptist Church in Gettysburg where he is a deacon.

Heavy-Duty Baler Offers Two Sizes

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The new Model 585 New Holland three-tier square baler is designed for custom operators, commercial hay producers and large-acreage livestock operations.

It is available with either 16-inch x 22-inch or 15-inch x 22-inch chamber cross section. The new heavy-duty baler features an in-line pickup and feeder design to save more leaves in large windrows.

The 92-inch 585 pickup is the widest in the industry, noted New Holland Product Manager Bob Hatz. He points out this wide Super-Sweep pickup with closely spaced tines gathers uneven or large double windrows and unraked swaths with less loss and allows baling at higher ground speeds. The long bale chamber with 4-way bale tension forms high-density, uniform bales that are sized right for automatic bale wagon handling and shipment in commercial hay marketing.

The new three-tier New Holland Model 585 baler is available in either 16-inch x 22-inch or 15-inch x 22-inch bale chamber size. Wide pickup and in-line and feeder design save more leaves from large windrows. Swing-tongue design allows offset or in-line operation. Independent power allows high-capacity baling no matter what towing vehicle is used.

The new baler is powered by a Deutz air-cooled diesel engine for independent power to allow high-capacity baling no matter what towing vehicle is used.

Farm Credit Promotes Hudish

YORK (York Co.) — York Farm Credit, ACA, has announced the promotion of David A. Hudish to the position of vice president — credit and chief credit officer.

"Dave has had a steady history of increased responsibility in the credit management area over his fifteen-year career with Farm Credit," said Jay Rush, president of York Farm Credit. "He has demonstrated the skills and knowledge on numerous occasions that I fell are key for the position.

Hudish brings many qualifications to the position, including a bachelor's degree in agricultural mechanization from Penn State, as well as many years of agricultural credit experience, most recently as assistant vice president — credit, servicing larger commercial agricultural loans for York Farm Credit.

He is a native of Clearfield County, Pennsylvania, where he grew up on a farm, which he and his brother still maintain.

Case Launches New Tractors

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Case Corporation recently introduced the all-new Case IH MX Series Maxxum® tractors, featuring superior power and PTO-torque rise, quieter operation, and fewer maintenance requirements, as well as expanded versatility for virtually every agricultural task from row-crop farming to livestock production.

"From the ground up, the MX Series are all-new tractors designed and manufactured to carry on the proud tradition of the Maxxum heritage," said Case Corporation's Russ Green, director, agricultural marketing. "From heavy-duty feedlot chores to high-acreage row-crop farming, the versatile Maxxum has become a mainstay to livestock and general agricultural operations. The MX Series will continue to do what the Maxxum line has done from the first — radically change what farmers expect from a tractor in this horsepower category."

The MX Series tractors — which include the MX100 (85 PTO hp), MX110 (95 PTO hp), MX120 (105 PTO hp) and MX135 (115 PTO hp) — were unveiled at the company's Desert Vantage Point, meetings attended by nearly 3,000 Case IH equipment dealers, customers, and competitive equipment owners.

"These new tractors feature improvements in every area farmers have asked for — more horsepower and PTO-torque rise, increased hydraulic and hitch performance, greater visibility, fewer service requirements and a more rugged, durable frame, to name a few," said Green. "We chose to unveil the MX Series at the Phoenix event because farmers and dealers played such a large part in the creation of the new tractors. All product development at Case is customer driven, and that's especially true with the MX Series."

The new line of Case IH MX Series Maxuum® tractors feature an all-new sleek design and offers farmers superior power, performance, reliability, serviceability, and operator comfort. Making up this new family of tractors are the MX100 (85 PTO hp), MX110 (95 PTO hp), MX120 (105 PTO hp), and MX135 (115 PTO hp).

Each tractor in the MX Series is available in a high-clearance version and can be equipped with 54-inch rear tires for maximum crop clearance. A factory-installed, integral-mounted loader with all-new optional joystick control, the L300, is also available for each model. Both the high-clearance and L300 options benefit from the tractors' new, front axle and tapered cast-iron frame that provides extra strength for spray tanks and loader work.

According to Case's Larry Lanie, marketing specialist, tractors, farmers can get more done in a day's time due to an up to five-horsepower increase over previous Maxxum tractors. Additionally, each six-cylinder engine is EPA certified, has five-hole injector nozzles and an in-line fuel injection pump for added power and performance.

The extra horsepower, Lanie said, is complemented by a new flare-tipped viscous fan, which optimizes coolant-temperature control.

Power is further increased by a PTO-torgue rise of up to 44 percent on models in the MX Series, providing non-stop performance in tough PTO applications. And despite more size and power, the new engines are quieter and virtually vibration free because they are iso-mounted.

Improved hydraulics and hitch functions make MX Series tractors better performers during both loader applications and row-crop farming.

For loader tasks, Lanie said, hydraulic-pump capacity is 47 percent greater for faster cycle times, and hydraulic pressure is increased 7.2 percent to lift heavier loads more quickly. When fitted with the L300, the MX Series tractors have a lift capacity of up to 3,850 pounds and a breakout force of up to 6,300 pounds.

Improvements to the transmission and structural integrity of the MX Series mean greater reliability and durability for operators.

Auto-Bagger Is Portable

Feedmobile's Auto-Bagger is a portable, accurate bagger that can be used to bag any ingredients, including grain, feed, compost, sand, and minerals.

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) Feedmobile has introduced a compost and chicken litter Auto-Bagger.

The Auto-Bagger is a portable, accurate bagger that can be used to bag any ingredients, including grain, feed, compost, sand, and minerals.

The Auto-Bagger will bag chicken litter for reuse as feed or fertilizer.

Farm Credit Welcomes New Employee

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA welcomes Peg Rotello to its Coudersport branch office as a part-time customer service representative.

Rotello has been working for Northeastern Farm Credit in a temporary capacity since March. Before joining Northeastern, she was county executive director for the Potter County Farm Service Agency, USDA in Coudersport, where she had been employed for 26 years.

Executive Vice President Bobby R. Jones comments on Rotello, "Peg is a wonderful addition to our Coudersport staff. With all her experience in working with those in the agricultural industry, she is a natural in this position."

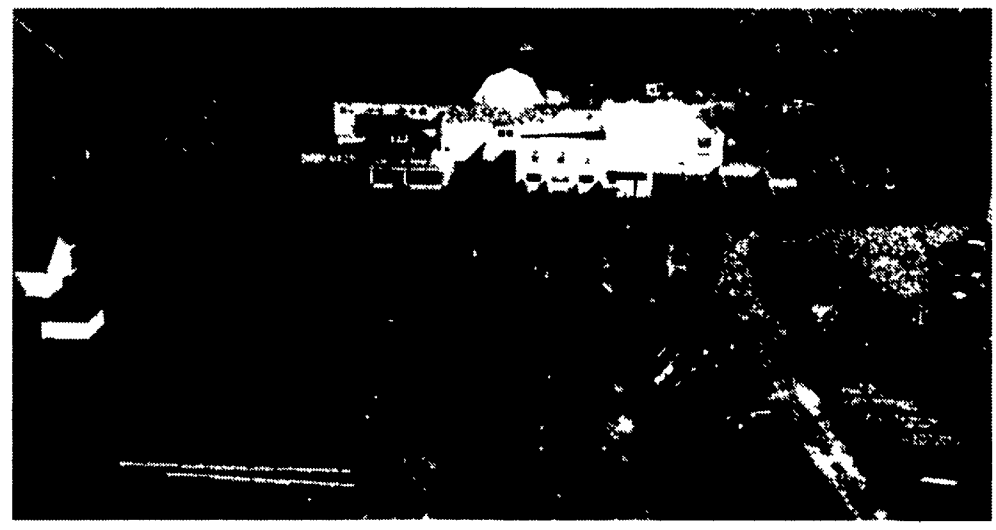
Expectations placed upon todays Eastern farmers are increasingly difficult to meet. As the agribusiness community here faces encroachment from rapid urbanization, we are forced to deal with issues of major consequence which only a generation ago were given little serious consideration. Technical, environmental, economic, labor, transportation and social issues are just a few of the real and potentially frustrating matters to be dealt with.

The people at Binkley & Hurst Bros., Inc. are committed to doing our very best to help you meet the challenges and opportunities of day-to-day farm operation. We know that one of the key considerations in selecting an equipment dealer is the ability of that organization to solve problems associated with production agriculture. By maintaining close ties with our farm clientele and communicating expectations and needs to manufacturers, we become an integral link in the flow of information between designer/manufacturer and purchaser/user.



We take very seriously our role in fulfilling your expectations of in-the-field experience, technical knowledge, product availability, and parts and service support for your operation. Farm Bureau Seeks End Of 'Death Taxes'

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (Farm Bureau) President Guy F. Donaldson, announced a campaign to "kill the death tax."

Farm Bureau is asking Pennsylvania's farm families to write to their members of Congress urging repeal of the federal estate tax. In July, Donaldson will join state Farm Bureau presidents from across the nation to deliver these letters directly to Pennsylvania's members of Congress in Washington, D.C.

"Farming is a family business. In order for that bond to continue, we must kill the death taxes now. Tomorrow's farmers should not be penalized because their parents die," said Donaldson.

The federal estate tax is also known as a "death tax" because it is levied against assets following a death. High death taxes can force surviving family members to sell part or all of their farms in order to pay estate taxes. Often farmland sold to pay taxes is developed for another purpose and leaves agriculture forever.

Farmers, agribusiness owners, and rural landowners should mail the letters they've written to their congressional representative and their two senators to PFB President, Guy Donaldson, P.O. Box 8736, Camp Hill, PA 17001-8736.

Audit Reveals Few Problems In Federally Inspected Slaughter Plants

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The infrequent problems found in federally inspected livestock slaughter plants through a recent study can be easily corrected, according to Dr. Temple Grandin, the study's conductor.

Grandin, owner of Grandin Livestock Handling Systems, Inc., presented for the first time her survey results of stunning and handling in federally inspected beef, veal, pork and sheep slaughter plants at the Livestock Conservation Institute's 81st Annual Meeting.

Grandin found the condition of more than 99 percent of cows and bulls was either excellent or acceptable, but there were some concerns with cull sow condition. While 64 percent of pork and sheep plants were either excellent or acceptable for correct electric stunner placement, stunning practices in all species could use improvement, she said. She recommends that plants emphasize better gun maintenance and improved gun operation.

Grandin recommends HACCP-type programs using objective, measurable criteria be used in slaughter plants to insure animal welfare. All plants surveyed had either excellent or acceptable handling in the yards, and in the stunning chute area, 77 percent were rated the same. Her recommendations focused on this area, including the crowd pen, lead-up chute, stunning box, or restrainer and bleed area.

"The problems were due to easily correctable faults in equipment and lack of proper supervision of employees," Grandin said. Simple equipment changes and improvements such as non-slip flooring eliminating distractions and better using stunners will enable most plants to achieve a higher level of animal welfare, according to Grandin. At this level, plants will help preserve meat quality and see the economic benefits of such practices, she said. In most plants, estimated equipment improvements and repairs would cost less than $1,000.

USDA requested the study to get "recommendations for alternative systems and approaches that insure humane handling." USDA's Agricultural Research Service commissioned the study that examined 24 federally inspected plants, both large and small, in 10 different states.

Potato Diversion Program Under Way

YORK (York Co.) — USDA Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman announced a nationwide Potato Diversion Program (PDP) for 1996 crop potatoes.

The objective of PDP is to encourage the domestic consumption of all types and varieties of 1996 crop fresh Irsih potatoes by diverting them from normal channels of trade and commerce.

PDP payments will be issued to producers who divert potatoes that they produced by donating them to charitable institutions for human consumption or using them for livestock feed.

Two sign-up dates are included in this program. The first is May 29 through June 11, 1997 for potatoes donated to charitable institutions while the second is May 29 thorugh July 28, 1997 for potatoes used for livestock feed. Potatoes must be inspected before disposition.

Interested York County potato growers should contact the York County Farm Service Agency (FSA) located at 120 Pleasant Acres Rd. in York, (717) 755-2801.

Your Source For Quality Grain Handling Equipment

A premium quality galvanized auger designed for low maintenance operation.

Mayrath introduces the all new "InLine Drive" series of portable grain augers. Mayrath has combined operational efficiency with long term dependability providing you with a high quality, GALVANIZED auger at a very affordable price. The revolutionary "InLine Drive" system minimizes the number of moving parts... greatly reducing costly downtime and maintenance in the future.
The unique "InLineDrive" design features an internally mounted gearbox inside of an expanded, bell shaped tube housing. Auger flighting is positioned to allow a high volume of unrestriced grain flow around the internal gearbox. A new intake design utilizes double flighting and a cupped intake guard to offer a high capacity, complete cleanout operation. A specially engineered hopper bolts directly to top of the intake guard, further enhancing the augers capacity.

Mayrath InLine Drive

DIAMETER	CAPACITY	LENGTHS

A BETTER WAY TO MOW

The New Holland Model 1465 Haybine® mower-conditioner features a new header with a five-bat reel for more uniform crop flow. You get a cleaner cut and less scalping in a proven design. And the "1465" can be ordered with a mechanical tongue shift or hydraulic tongue shift. Other great features include:

- A torsion-bar roll-pressure system
- Chevron-design rolls for thorough, gentle conditioning and fast drydown
- 100% bolted knife assemblies

When performance, reliability and durability count, you can count on the "1465".

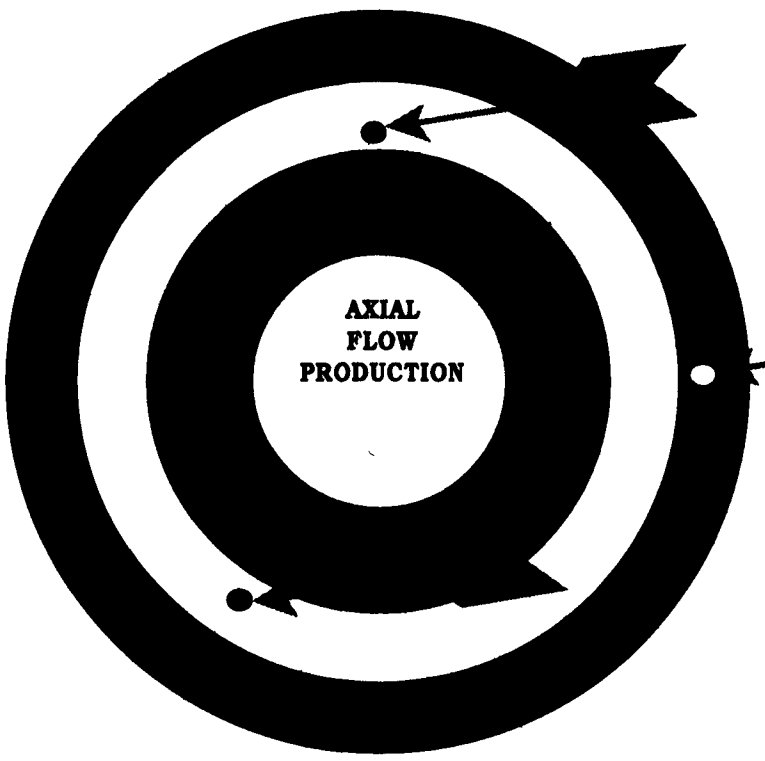
HOOBER is YOUR HEADQUARTERS for

AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES



THE TARGET OTHERS SHOOT AT ... BUT CAN'T HIT!

It doesn't matter how you define AXIAL FLOW PRODUCTIVITY:

1) How many ACRES you harvest per day?
2) How many BUSHELS you harvest per hour?
3) How Many HOURS per year to harvest all your crops?

A 2100 SERIES AXIAL FLOW COMBINE PUTS MORE QUALITY GRAIN IN THE BIN AND LEAVES LESS IN THE FIELD per HOUR, per DAY, or per YEAR than ANY COMPETITORS COMBINE!

CASE IH

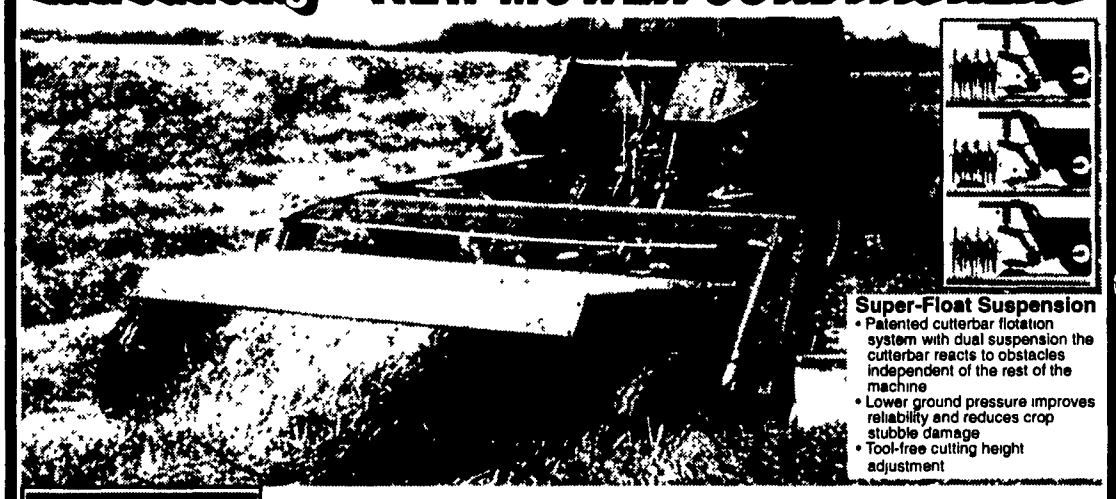
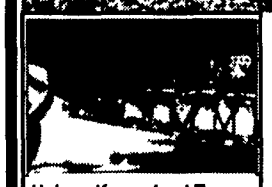
Introducing - NEW MOWER CONDITIONERS



Super-Float Suspension
- Patented cutterbar flotation system with dual suspension the cutterbar reacts to obstacles independent of the rest of the machine
- Lower ground pressure improves reliability and reduces crop stubble damage
- Tool-free cutting height adjustment



Unique Kverneland Taarup "Y-Tine" Conditioner
- Optimized to work with disc cutterbar
- The two speed rotor (optional lower 3rd speed) and three position dimpled concave plate gently and uniformly condition any crop not as harsh as a flail conditioner
- High speed plug-free design produces uniform fluffy windrows

See our extensive family of hay tools which includes disc mowers, rakes, tedders, a complete range of forage harvesting equipment, and bale wrappers at your nearest dealer.

On Their New

CHORE-TIME® CAGE SYSTEM

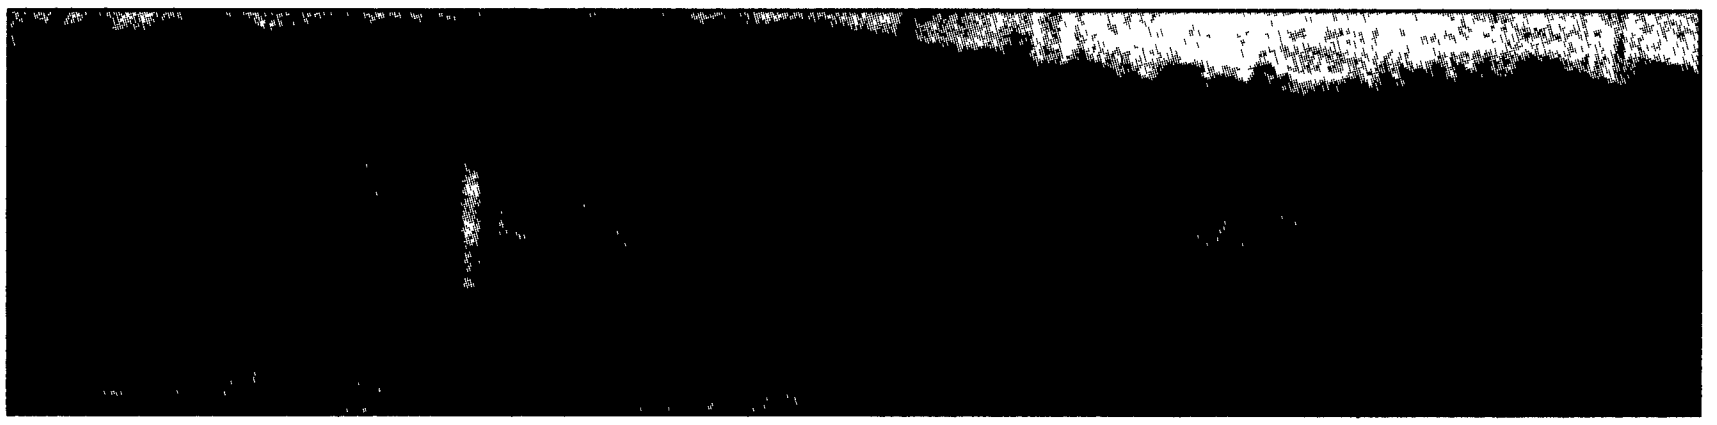
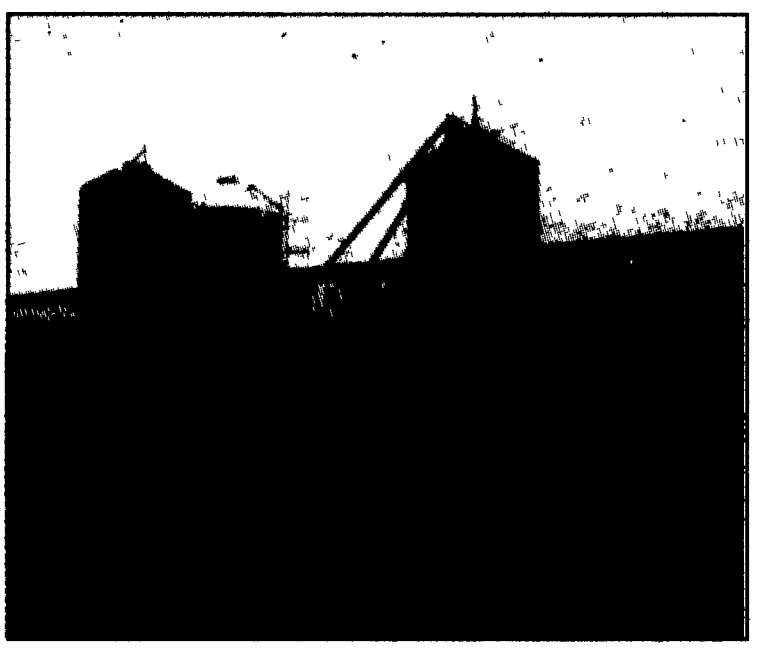
Installed At Eggs Unlimited, Manheim, PA

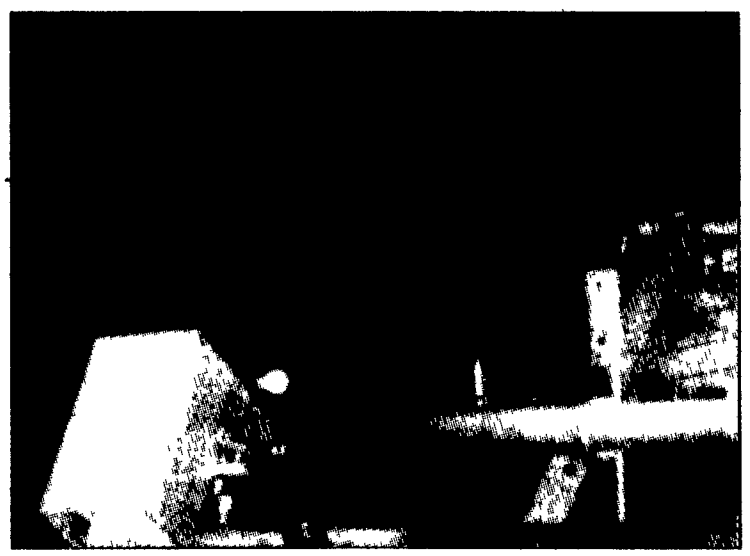


Existing 54'x608' building remodeled from 82,944 layers to 123,552 layers. New posts, gridways and walkways installed by King Construction. New lights and all new inside wiring in conduit by C.M. High, Inc.

Chore-Time Duracage with 2x4 step rails, and ChoreTime UltraFlo Feeding System. America's most popular cage system!



Existing bins re-used and one new Chore-Time Next Generation bin added to make a weigh bin system. Feed is transferred to bin installed on new Chore-Time Electronic Weighmatic bin scale.



Northeast Temperature Compensated Inlets. New 18 inch inlets installed with control rod on wall below inlets. Since the control rod is "inside" the building where temperature is constant it does not expand and contract. This reduces adjustment.

NOTHING WORKS LIKE A SILO

Sollenberger Silos Corp.

"HI-MOISTURE SHELLED CORN"

You know the advantages of hi-moisture shelled corn versus dry corn for animal feeding. So now consider the many advantages of POURED CONCRETE to store and protect your valuable grain.

"Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel."

"Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-fab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement."

"PROTECT YOUR CORN FROM THE HEAT."

These farmers from Virginia "switched" to our poured concrete silo to store their shelled corn and said: "Even during the hottest summer in our memory, the shelled corn from our poured concrete silo has kept its bright yellow color and has not heated. We have the best hi-moisture corn ever." (Cave View Farm, Inc., Weyers Cave, VA.)

MEMBER: International Silo Assn. - PA Forage & Grassland Council - American Soc. of Agric. Engrs. - Cro Storage Institute.

76 Cow Total Ventilation System - Denver, PA
Lapp's Barn Equipment can install a high-performance/high efficiency tunnel ventilation system in your barn. A tunnel ventilation system will give you an even air flow throughout your barn of 2-5 mph This gives you the advantage of better controlling temperature to give your cows more comfort which means more milk!! Also, a tunnel ventilation system eliminates circulating fans, provides summer and winter ventilation and controls fly problems! An optional unit can even automate your ventilation so you will never even have to worry about it when you're not there, so you can concentrate on other things!
At Lapp's, we sell high quality ventilation systems manufactured by Acme Engineering, Acme products feature such things as:
- Galvanized Construction
- Wide Cambered Propeller
- Rivited Blades
- Unique Captured Bearings
- Vertical Support Frame
- Screens Pre-cut
- Totally Enclosed Motors
- Optional Discharge Diffuser Cone
- Optional Belt Tightener

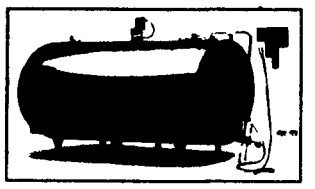
MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ 08 kW for 12,000 Lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total opertating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$2,300

Contact your Mueller distributor for further comparisons.

Due to the loss of rented pasture, we are forced to reduce the size of our herd. A.I. bred cows, out of popular A.I. sires - Infinity, Heavy Hitter, E.Z., Stamina, Deliverance 80U. These cows were all top selling lots from New York and Penna. sales.
Our loss will be your gain.
Delivery available.

IN ALUMINUM BODIES EBY BUILDS IT

M H Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value

Eby products have superior standard features And we offer customer options for virtually any application Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

SOMATIC CELL COUNT A PROBLEM?

By; Frank Lampley

Some dairymen say they have found the solution. It looks very promising. Cost? If you do it yourself the cost may be zero.

There is a new product on the market called FORMULA M. FORMULA M was developed for cows that were a problem to get pregnant. Every dairymen knows that giving more milk drains the cow of vitamins, minerals and proteins. The better milkers usually being drained the most. Nature has provided a defense against further depleting the cows body of much needed vitamins, minerals and proteins that would result from another pregnancy and another lactation. She simply aborts during the first few weeks of the pregnancy.

One theory is that the process of producing large volumes of milk can so deplete the cows body of certain nutrients that her own enzymes start to digest her body tissue; this being done to make more nutrients available for milk production. Some cells of those partially digested body tissues apparently find their way into the milk, thus increasing the somatic cell count. The same thing can happen whenever infection or disease are present in the body. The infection or disease can cause the breakdown of some of the tissues and it would appear that some of those tissue cells find their way into the milk. When digesting her own body tissues, she may also absorb the fetus.

As I said, this is only a theory. Somatic cell as defined by the Webster's dictionary means "of the body". That would appear to support the above theory; body cells in the milk. We could discuss several other theories, but I would like to turn the discussion to what we know for sure:

1) When cows are fed FORMULA M, many of them have improved appetites.
2) The energy level goes up.
3) Digestion is improved.
4) They give more milk. My best estimate from dairymen's reports is 5 pounds a day more milk per cow (.60 to .70 cents per day per cow).
5) Less illness and less infection due to a healthier animal.
6) When they are bred, they usually catch the first time, and FORMULA M is all NATURAL.

All of the above could give you around a dollar a day per cow. Since the cost of FORMULA M is only 8 cents a day per cow, any additional benefit such as lower somatic cell count would be free.

I have been marketing FORMULA M for the reasons listed above, but now the dairymen who use FORMULA M are telling me that the somatic cell count goes down when using FORMULA M. Sometimes as much as half what it was. FORMULA M could mean survival for a lot of Dairymen.

FORMULA M is a powder and it comes in a 5 gallon plastic bucket. Feed according to the directions on the label (only ½ ounce per cow per day). You can put FORMULA M in the TMR, you can put it in your grain ration or if you prefer you can top dress it. All you need to do to get FORMULA M is call one of the numbers below. We ship the same day by UPS. Make the check payable to Frank Lampley and give it to the driver when he delivers.

A 5 gallon bucket is enough for about 40 cows for one month and the cost is only $92.00 (I pay freight). FORMULA M is completely free from drugs and made by the same people who make Vitamix.
